ANZUS Call For Southeast Asia Defense Action

WASHINGTON (AP)— The United States, Australia, and New Zealand called Wednesday for "immediate action" to establish a collective defense arrangement in Communist-threatened Southeast Asia.

The three governments jointly issued this call after a meeting of Secretary of State Dulles, Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and New Zealand Ambassador Leslie K. Munro.

The State Department said "continuing consultations" will go on among the three governments to help speed action in bringing about the anti-Communist alliance Dulles has been urging the last three months.

More Eager Than Britain

The statement, approved by the three nations, appeared to put Australia and New Zealand on record as more eager than Great Britain for swift action to block the Communist advance in Southeast Asia.

A statement issued after President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill ended their five-day conference Tuesday said merely that the two governments would "press forward with plans for collective defense."

Nothing was said about "immediate action to bring about the early establishment of collective defense in Southeast Asia," as the American-Australian - New Zealand announcement phrased it Wednesday.

Dulles, Munro and Casey met for 2 hours and 20 minutes in Dulles' office to review "current developments" affecting their nations which are bound together in a formal alliance.

AG INCOME IS LOWEST IN 13 YEARS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Official reports showed Wednesday that farm incomes hit a 13-year low at mid-June, registering a drop of three per cent in 30 days —the greatest decline since the Eisenhower administration took office.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson immediately issued a formal statement declaring that the price drop "does not indicate a general weakening in the farm price structure."

The Agriculture Department's report on farm prices came as the House moved toward a showdown vote in the controversy over President Eisenhower's flexible price support program as opposed to high, rigid support.

The Agriculture Department's price survey showed that the parity ratio—which shows the relationship between farm income and farmers' living and operating expenses—fell to 88 per cent at mid-month. This was the lowest level since early 1941.

Parity is a calculated "fair" price to farmers, designed to keep their incomes in reasonable relationship to a historical period when agriculture was relatively prosperous.

Commodities hardest hit in the latest decline were cattle, hogs, wheat and commercial vegetables.

State Farm Land Value Dips 7 Pct.

In line with the national report from Washington came word from College of Agriculture economists in Lincoln that the value of farm land—one of the items affected by farm income—had fallen off seven per cent in Nebraska during the last year.

While every state in the nation showed some decline in farm land value, Nebraska is among those which suffered the greatest decline. Economist L. B. Snyder pointed out that the parity ratio is below that of a year ago, because a three per cent increase in costs offset a small recovery in farm prices. He concluded that "recovery of farm prices and land values does not appear likely in the immediate future."

Big 6 Signed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers of America held signed contracts Wednesday with the "Big Six" of the nation's basic steel industry—accounting for nearly 400,000 of the union's 600,000 basic steel employees.

U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, set the pattern Tuesday by signing a contract which gives its 190,000 USW employees a five-cent hourly pay boost and improved pensions and insurance.

John K. Selleck, who has been chancellor of the University of Nebraska for nearly a year, turns over the reins of office Thursday to the new chancellor, Dr. Clifford M. Hardin. "It's been a very fine experience, I've enjoyed the job," Dr. Selleck said. "I've been pleased at the co-operation of the entire university family during the past year. I'll be very happy though, to return to my other university assignments." (Selleck is general business manager and comptroller.) Dr. Hardin spent Wednesday visiting university offices and said that he'll be spending the summer on the campus "getting acquainted with the problems and programs." Chancellor Hardin added, "I'm approaching this job humbly and with great enthusiasm. I'm very happy that Mr. Selleck will be around, I know he'll be a great help."

MIGHTY RAMPAGE OF RIO MAY TAKE LIVES OF 500

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP)—The bodies of 38 victims of the rampaging Rio Grande were taken Wednesday from the flood-swept ruins of the border city of Piedras Negras, Mexico.

Rescue officials say there may be hundreds more dead. The exact total may never be known.

This much was confirmed:

The bodies of 38 had been found and laid out for burial. Large numbers of sick and injured were making their way toward makeshift hospitals. One temporary medical shelter reported 65 injured with more coming every minute. At least 15,000 were homeless with up to 7,000 refugees huddling in the hills with no shelter, water or food. About 80 per cent of the homes in the city of 35,000 were flooded, with half of those destroyed.

200-500 Dead

"From what I hear there may be anywhere from 200 to 500 dead," said H. G. Walker, U. S. public health official here to help in the rescue work and rehabilitation.

"No one will ever know," he said. "There are five and six kids in every Mexican family and they take care of their own. If they find a drowned kid, they bury him pronto. So who knows how many are dead. No one will ever know for sure."

Walker said sanitary conditions in Piedras Negras were "horrible." He said the water system was never adequate, "and now there is nothing at all—for drinking or any other purpose.

At least 15,000 residents of Piedras Negras were driven from their homes and from 6,000 to 7,000 were still living in the hills around the city without water, food or shelter. He said 80 per cent of the city's homes were flooded, with 40 per cent of them destroyed. Many of the homes were of adobe with thatch roofs.

The new death count made a total of at least 55 dead in the wild Rio Grande flood — mightiest in history — and in the downpours and flash floods inland that started the usually sluggish river on a rampage.

No casualties were reported at Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, 100 miles down stream, after the crest passed there Wednesday but about 7,000 homeless refugees huddled in the high hills south of the Mexican city Wednesday night.

Besides the confirmed dead at Pideras Negras there were 16 dead and 2 missing from a flash flood at Ozona, 100 miles inland, and another person drowned in the Pecos River nearer the Rio Grande. Six more were missing near Pandale, west of Ozona.

A hundred miles downstream from here, flood waters isolated Laredo, the nation's biggest inland border port, and a raging creek sliced the town in half.

The Southwesern border havoc resulted from week end cloudbursts that roared down arroyos and surged through the Pecos and Devil's Rivers into the Rio Grande.

STOCK MARKET RETREATS FROM RECENT HIGHS

NEW YORK (AP)—Some stocks lost $1 to $2 or so Wednesday as the stock market retreated from its recent highs.

Selling was never urgent and volume totaled 1,950,000 shares, compared with 2,580,000 Tuesday. However, there were some good-sized losses among recent market favorites as profit-taking came to the fore.

Nearly all sections of the list were lower, with the oils particularly hard hit.

Among the bigger losers were Du Pont, down $3.50 at $134; Standard Oil (New Jersey) down $1.12 at $86.12; Union Pacific, off $1.50 at $134.50; and Union Carbide down $1.37 at $86.

$3 Billion Aid Plan Gets OK

House Asks No Help To 'Locarno' Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House approved a $3,368,608,000 foreign aid program Wednesday but recommended that help be denied any nation in Southeast Asia which enters into a "Locarno-type" non-aggression treaty with the Communists.

President Eisenhower got about 97 per cent of the money he asked for to buttress free nations against the threat of Red aggression during the fiscal year beginning Thursday.

The house cut only 109 million dollars out of the program before passing the bill on a 260-125 roll-call vote and sending it to the Senate.

Nebraska Republican representatives Robert Harrison and Roman Hruska voted with the minority. The state's other two congressmen, Carl Curtis and A. L. Miller did not vote but were paired against the bill.

It voted 390-0, however, to attach an amendment declaring it to be "the sense of Congress" that not one penny of an 800 million dollar fund authorized for the defense of Southeast Asia be used "on behalf of governments which are committed by treaty to maintain Communist rule over any defined territory of Asia."

Answer Of Congress

House members said they wanted the amendment to be the answer of Congress to last week's proposal by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that Southeast Asian countries negotiate a series of nonaggression pacts with Red China similar to the European Locarno treaties of the 1920's.

The amendment would not be binding upon the President, merely advisory.

As approved by the House, $986,500,000 in military and economic aid would go to American allies in Europe, $1,768,900,000 to the Far East and Pacific, $599,100,000 to Africa and India, 47 million to Latin America and $165,500,000 for supplementary programs.

The bill is an authorization measure, setting a ceiling for the program. The money has to be supplied in a separate appropriation bill, which will give congressional opponents of foreign aid another chance to whittle down the funds.

That Should Get Certain Senator Going, Says HST

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry Truman was ready with a quip about the news Wednesday.

The incident, as reported by Robert E. Adams acting administrator of Research Hospital:

"This morning when portions of the morning paper were read to him, he listened with intent interest and when he heard about the convention of Baptist ministers in Moscow offering a prayer for his recovery, be observed good-naturedly:

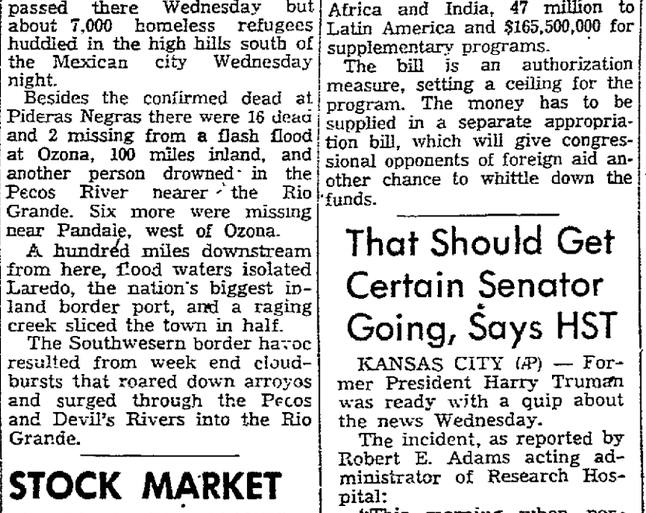

"'That should get a certain senator going again.'"

The senator was not mentioned by name.

No Appeal Plans

NEW YORK (INS) — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer said he has "no plans" to appeal to President Eisenhower to restore his security clearance which was refused him by the Atomic Energy Commission in a 4 to 1 ruling Tuesday.

The noted physicist who has been called the "father" of the atomic bomb emphasized that he will stay at his blackboard at the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., and intends to remain in the United States.

Rigid Restrictions On Water Ordered

5-12 P.M. SPRINKLING ONLY BECOMES EFFECTIVE FRIDAY

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Additional water use restrictions, completely prohibiting lawn sprinkling from 12 midnight to 5 p.m. for all persons, have been agreed upon by the city's Advisory Water Use Committee and will go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

This new order will be in addition to restrictions already in force calling for watering on even numbered sides of the street on even numbered calendar days and on odd numbered sides of the street on odd numbered calendar days.

Thus, persons will be allowed to water on alternate days only between the hours of 5 p.m. and 12 midnight only.

This action was taken on the heels of three consecutive days of consumption in excess of the available supply of water. The city's daily supply capacity is nearly 32 million gallons while more than 34 million gallons were used Monday, 33 million gallons Tuesday and a predicted 33 or 34 million gallons Wednesday.

Reservoirs Hit

This means that in the three day period, some 6 to 7 million gallons of water had to be taken from the city's reservoirs. Total reservoir capacity of the city at this time is about 30 million gallons, including the new 5 million gallon reservoir at 51st Street which is currently being used to more than three-fourths of its capacity.

And besides average conditions over each 24 hour period, demand has been excessively high at peak periods. On Wednesday, the city's A Street plant was pumping at the rate of 50 million gallons per day at 4 p.m.

This lowered the reservoirs at that time to just a little more than half full. With pumping at even a higher rate Tuesday evening, the reservoirs were depleted to a low at one point of just more than six feet.

Fifteen feet is the full mark on the reservoirs.

City officials expressed the hope that during the day time sprinkling ban, reservoirs could be filled to capacity in order to take care of the big evening demand for sprinkling.

If this new order fails to produce the desired results, Mayor Clark Jeary said, then consideration will have to be given to something else, possibly some kind of restriction on air conditioning.

Jeary stated that air conditioning bans have been avoided because the alternate day sprinkling is considered by experts in the field to be sufficient to keep grass alive. If air conditioning can be continued and still have sufficient water for sprinkling, that is what the city wants to do, Jeary said.

Dr. Franklin D. Keim, professor of agronomy at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and member of the Advisory Use Board, told other board members that while top soil becomes very dry and grass loses its color it will still live without water. Nothing short of a real drought will kill out blue grass, he said.

Woman Killed On Way To Fremont

BRADDYVILLE, Ia. (AP)—Betty Ferguson, 49, of Kansas City, Mo., was killed Wednesday when her station wagon went out of control and careened off Highway 71 about three miles north of here.

Sheriff Ed Hipsley said the car rolled sideways down a bank, then flipped end over end several times. Mrs. Ferguson was alone in the car.

The sheriff said Mrs. Ferguson was en route from Kansas City to Fremont, Neb., to visit a sister when the accident occurred.

Senate's Action Victory For Ike

GOP And Demo Proposals For Income Levy Slashes Are Rejected By 49-46 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate defeated both Republican and Democratic plans for an income tax cut Wednesday and thus produced a big victory for the Eisenhower administration, which says the budget can't stand any more such reductions now.

The votes were 49-46 in both instances but weren't identical except for the total.

Defeat for the Republican plan came at the hands of 47 Democrats, Sen. Langer (R-ND) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), against a solid lineup of 46 GOP senators.

The Democrats' plan fell before a combination of 45 Republicans and four Democrats—Byrd (Va), Holland (Fla), Robertson (Va), and Johnson (Colo). Supporting it were 43 Democrats, plus Langer, Morse and Young (R-ND).

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was the only absent senator.

Sens. Butler and Bowring, Nebraska Republicans, voted on the losing side as the Republican plan was rejected. They voted with the majority when the Democrats' proposal met defeat.

BUSY AFTERNOON

Briefly, here is what the opposing sides maneuvered over in a long and busy session:

The Democratic plan. Offered by Sen. George (D-Ga), it would boost all personal exemptions from $600 to $700, but the tax benefit on each $100 of additional exemption would be limited to $25. Thus, a man and wife with one child could get a reduction of as much as $75 a year.

The Republican plan. Chairman Milliken (R-Colo) of the Senate Finance Committee came up with it only Wednesday, in 11th hour strategy to block the George plan. With some exceptions, it would allow an extra $100 exemption for a man, and also his wife, filing a joint return but would not increase the exemption for dependents. The effect would be a $40 reduction to a couple, since the exemption increase would apply only to the lowest taxable income bracket, which carries a 20 per cent rate.

Millikin's Proposal

Also, to meet Democratic criticism that the Republican plan to give tax relief on dividend income was unduly favorable to the wealthy, Millikin proposed to cut down this relief. As it passed the House this provision would eliminate taxes on the first $50 of dividend income, and the taxpayer would rise to $100 and the credit to 10 per cent.

Millikin's late offer was to knock out the second year step and leave the dividend relief at $50 and 5 per cent credit.

Anti-Reds Open Talk On Peace

Guatemala Leaders To Weld Coalition

SAN SALVADOR, El. Salvador, (AP) — The rival anti-Communist rulers of Guatemala flew here late Wednesday and opened their peace parley in an optimistic atmosphere with El Salvador's President Oscar Osorio acting as mediator.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas of the rebel field force that began the open fight on Guatemalan Communists and Col. Elfego Monzon of the Guatemala City military junta arrived in separate planes.

After their initial two-hour session behind closed doors, President Osorio, a lieutenant colonel, told reporters:

"I feel very optimistic. I believe they will find a formula. At least that is my desire.

Initial Move

El Salvador made the initial move to settle the Guatemalan conflict by offering its good offices. A cease fire ended the fighting Tuesday.

The sponsors of the parley here hoped it would lead to a coalition of anti-Communist forces to wipe out the Red beachhead set up in Central America under the regime of the deposed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Reds Threaten Ruling Party

GUATEMALA (AP)—The anti-Communist ruling junta rushed troops Wednesday to Escuintla, a hotbed of communism 30 miles south of Guatemala City, where a top Red leader was reported plotting an uprising among farm workers.

Other Communist and leftist chiefs still at large also were reported bent on stirring up troubles.

Guatemala City was calm and joyous Wednesday with the 12-day shooting conflict halted under a cease-fire.

U. S. Jazz

For the first time in weeks the radios were playing American jazz—even the former Communist station. The main cloud on the horizon appeared to be the threatened trouble at Escuintla, which long has been regarded as a center of Communist subversion.

The junta continued its roundup of Communists and pro-Communists who were a mainstay of the regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. He resigned as president Sunday night under army pressure.

Near-Deadline Filings Boost Primary Totals

Bar Association Judiciary Proposal May Be Lacking 10,000 Signatures

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The "merry-go-round" of politicians rushing into the office of the Secretary of State to file for state office continued unabated Wednesday. Thursday at 5 p.m. is the deadline on filings and a number additional called for blanks to make last minute filings.

Biggest surprise as the deadline approached was the apparent failure of the Nebraska Bar Association members to put in sufficient work to get the required 60,000 signatures on a petition to submit a constitutional amendment changing the method of electing the judiciary.

George Turner, secretary of the association, was pessimistic Wednesday night. He said that apparently the bulk of petitions from outstate arrived Wednesday and that they were not enough to meet requirements even though hard drives were being made in Lincoln and Omaha.

Lacked Leg Work

"Lawyers of the state were just not willing to put in the leg work necessary to make a petition campaign a success," one worker asserted.

Turner said that although no count has been made he estimates that the total signers were about 10,000 short Wednesday night with late reports to be made from Lincoln and Omaha. The required number of counties with more than 5 per cent of the voters signing have been received but indications were that workers quit circulating petitions when the minimum quota was reached.

Four additional candidates paid $50 to enter the race to serve the 62 days of the short term in the U. S. Senate, which probably will not even be in session. One Democrat and two Republicans added their names to the growing list of candidates.

The Democrat was Mable Gillespie, Omaha, former member of the Legislature.

Two Lincoln and one Omaha Republican completed their filings. Chris C. Beck, tire and battery dealer in the automotive business for 47 years, and Joseph Alexis, former university professor, were the Lincoln filings. John S. Sampson, attorney, filed from Omaha.

Ray Chase, Crawford, was the second Democratic filing for state auditor.

Two filings were received for the non-partisan regents of the University of Nebraska. They were "Blue" Howell, former football great of Omaha in the second district and Don Pierce, Alliance farmer and real estate broker, for the short term in the 6th district.

Three filings were received for the newly created state board of education. They were: Harold C. Prichard, former state senator, of Falls City, in the first district, and John D. Moth, Mullen and William S. Padley, Gothenburg, both in the sixth district.

Six additional candidates filed for seats in the state Legislature. They were: L. W. Bartzat, Lincoln, 20th; Robert Lyman, Springview, 28th; Theodore Martell, Newman Grove, 15th; Ben W. Crain, Omaha, eighth; Francis J. Cooney, Omaha, seventh, and Earl Stiner, Jr., Omaha, fourth district.

Don Thompson, McCook cattleman, has paid his filing fee for the Legislature in the 33rd district but has not completed his filing. Merrill J. Hewitt, Omaha, has done the same in the ninth district.

Harry Knudsen, former Omaha commissioner, paid his fee to file as a Republican candidate for state treasurer.

Dulles Hails Red Setback In Guatemala

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles Wednesday night hailed the overthrow of the pro-Communist government in Guatemala as a "new and glorious" victory over Red encroachments. But he warned that "Communism is still a menace everywhere."

In a 15-minute address prepared for nationwide radio-television broadcast, Dulles pledged that the United States would not only oppose Communism but would help "alleviate conditions in Guatemala and elsewhere" which might breed Communism.

Dulles said the capture by Communism of any American state would have established a "new and perilous front" endangering the entire free world.

But he said the situation in Guatemala "is being cured by the Guatemalans themselves"—thereby averting "at least one grave danger" and setting an example "which promises security for the future."

Dulles laid the blame for the leftist bent of the overthrown Guatemalan government directly on the Kremlin. He said Communists seized in the Guatemalan revolution 10 years ago and in the last few years, "openly connived" with Guatemalan officials.

ANZUS Call For Southeast Asia Defense Action

WASHINGTON (AP)— The United States, Australia, and New Zealand called Wednesday for "immediate action" to establish a collective defense arrangement in Communist-threatened Southeast Asia.

The three governments jointly issued this call after a meeting of Secretary of State Dulles, Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and New Zealand Ambassador Leslie K. Munro.

The State Department said "continuing consultations" will go on among the three governments to help speed action in bringing about the anti-Communist alliance Dulles has been urging the last three months.

More Eager Than Britain

The statement, approved by the three nations, appeared to put Australia and New Zealand on record as more eager than Great Britain for swift action to block the Communist advance in Southeast Asia.

A statement issued after President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill ended their five-day conference Tuesday said merely that the two governments would "press forward with plans for collective defense."

Nothing was said about "immediate action to bring about the early establishment of collective defense in Southeast Asia," as the American-Australian - New Zealand announcement phrased it Wednesday.

Dulles, Munro and Casey met for 2 hours and 20 minutes in Dulles' office to review "current developments" affecting their nations which are bound together in a formal alliance.

AG INCOME IS LOWEST IN 13 YEARS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Official reports showed Wednesday that farm incomes hit a 13-year low at mid-June, registering a drop of three per cent in 30 days —the greatest decline since the Eisenhower administration took office.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson immediately issued a formal statement declaring that the price drop "does not indicate a general weakening in the farm price structure."

The Agriculture Department's report on farm prices came as the House moved toward a showdown vote in the controversy over President Eisenhower's flexible price support program as opposed to high, rigid support.

The Agriculture Department's price survey showed that the parity ratio—which shows the relationship between farm income and farmers' living and operating expenses—fell to 88 per cent at mid-month. This was the lowest level since early 1941.

Parity is a calculated "fair" price to farmers, designed to keep their incomes in reasonable relationship to a historical period when agriculture was relatively prosperous.

Commodities hardest hit in the latest decline were cattle, hogs, wheat and commercial vegetables.

State Farm Land Value Dips 7 Pct.

In line with the national report from Washington came word from College of Agriculture economists in Lincoln that the value of farm land—one of the items affected by farm income—had fallen off seven per cent in Nebraska during the last year.

While every state in the nation showed some decline in farm land value, Nebraska is among those which suffered the greatest decline. Economist L. B. Snyder pointed out that the parity ratio is below that of a year ago, because a three per cent increase in costs offset a small recovery in farm prices. He concluded that "recovery of farm prices and land values does not appear likely in the immediate future."

Big 6 Signed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers of America held signed contracts Wednesday with the "Big Six" of the nation's basic steel industry—accounting for nearly 400,000 of the union's 600,000 basic steel employees.

U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 producer, set the pattern Tuesday by signing a contract which gives its 190,000 USW employees a five-cent hourly pay boost and improved pensions and insurance.

"It's been a very fine experience, I've enjoyed the job," Dr. Selleck said. "I've been pleased at the co-operation of the entire university family during the past year. MIGHTY RAMPAGE OF RIO MAY TAKE LIVES OF 500

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP)— The bodies of 38 victims of the rampaging Rio Grande were taken Wednesday from the flood-swept ruins of the border city of Piedras Negras, Mexico.

Rescue officials say there may be hundreds more dead. The exact total may never be known.

This much was confirmed:

The bodies of 38 had been found and laid out for burial. Large numbers of sick and injured were making their way toward makeshift hospitals. One temporary medical shelter reported 65 injured with more coming every minute. At least 15,000 were homeless with up to 7,000 refugees huddling in the hills with no shelter, water or food. About 80 per cent of the homes in the city of 35,000 were flooded, with half of those destroyed.

200-500 Dead

"From what I hear there may be anywhere from 200 to 500 dead," said H. G. Walker, U. S. public health official here to help in the rescue work and rehabilitation.

"No one will ever know," he said. "There are five and six kids in every Mexican family and they take care of their own. If they find a drowned kid, they bury him pronto. So who knows how many are dead. No one will ever know for sure."

Walker said sanitary conditions in Piedras Negras were "horrible." He said the water system was never adequate, "and now there is nothing at all—for drinking or any other purpose.

At least 15,000 residents of Piedras Negras were driven from their homes and from 6,000 to 7,000 were still living in the hills around the city without water, food or shelter. He said 80 per cent of the city's homes were flooded, with 40 per cent of them destroyed. Many of the homes were of adobe with thatch roofs.

The new death count made a total of at least 55 dead in the wild Rio Grande flood — mightiest in history — and in the downpours and flash floods inland that started the usually sluggish river on a rampage.

No casualties were reported at Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, 100 miles down stream, after the crest passed there Wednesday but about 7,000 homeless refugees huddled in the high hills south of the Mexican city Wednesday night.

Besides the confirmed dead at Pideras Negras there were 16 dead and 2 missing from a flash flood at Ozona, 100 miles inland, and another person drowned in the Pecos River nearer the Rio Grande. Six more were missing near Pandale, west of Ozona.

A hundred miles downstream from here, flood waters isolated Laredo, the nation's biggest inland border port, and a raging creek sliced the town in half.

The Southwesern border havoc resulted from week end cloudbursts that roared down arroyos and surged through the Pecos and Devil's Rivers into the Rio Grande.

STOCK MARKET RETREATS FROM RECENT HIGHS

NEW YORK (AP)—Some stocks lost $1 to $2 or so Wednesday as the stock market retreated from its recent highs.

Selling was never urgent and volume totaled 1,950,000 shares, compared with 2,580,000 Tuesday. However, there were some good-sized losses among recent market favorites as profit-taking came to the fore.

Nearly all sections of the list were lower, with the oils particularly hard hit.

Among the bigger losers were Du Pont, down $3.50 at $134 Standard Oil (New Jersey,) down $1.12 at $86.12; Union Pacific, off $1.50 at $134.50; and Union Carbide down $1.37 at $86.

$3 Billion Aid Plan Gets OK

House Asks No Help To 'Locarno' Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House approved a $3,368,608,000 foreign aid program Wednesday but recommended that help be denied any nation in Southeast Asia which enters into a "Locarno-type" non-aggression treaty with the Communists.

President Eisenhower got about 97 per cent of the money he asked for to buttress free nations against the threat of Red aggression during the fiscal year beginning Thursday.

The house cut only 109 million dollars out of the program before passing the bill on a 260-125 roll-call vote and sending it to the Senate.

Nebraska Republican representatives Robert Harrison and Roman Hruska voted with the minority. The state's other two congressmen, Carl Curtis and A. L. Miller did not vote but were paired against the bill.

It voted 390-0, however, to attach an amendment declaring it to be "the sense of Congress" that not one penny of an 800 million dollar fund authorized for the defense of Southeast Asia be used "on behalf of governments which are committed by treaty to maintain Communist rule over any defined territory of Asia."

Answer Of Congress

House members said they wanted the amendment to be the answer of Congress to last week's proposal by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that Southeast Asian countries negotiate a series of nonaggression pacts with Red China similar to the European Locarno treaties of the 1920's.

The amendment would not be binding upon the President, merely advisory.

As approved by the House, $986,500,000 in military and economic aid would go to American allies in Europe, $1,768,900,000 to the Far East and Pacific, $599,100,000 to Africa and India, 47 million to Latin America and $165,500,000 for supplementary programs.

The bill is an authorization measure, setting a ceiling for the program. The money has to be supplied in a separate appropriation bill, which will give congressional opponents of foreign aid another chance to whittle down the funds.

That Should Get Certain Senator Going, Says HST

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry Truman was ready with a quip about the news Wednesday.

The incident, as reported by Robert E. Adams acting administrator of Research Hospital:

"This morning when portions of the morning paper were read to him, he listened with intent interest and when he heard about the convention of Baptist ministers in Moscow offering a prayer for his recovery, be observed good-naturedly:

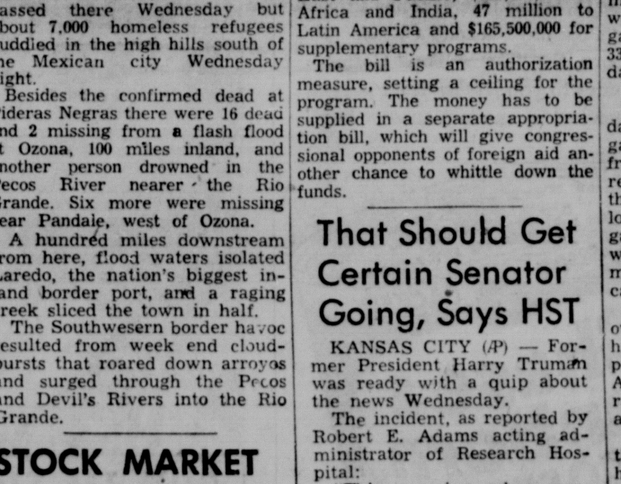

"'That should get a certain senator going again.'"

The senator was not mentioned by name.

No Appeal Plans

NEW YORK (INS) — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer said he has "no plans" to appeal to President Eisenhower to restore his security clearance which was refused him by the Atomic Energy Commission in a 4 to 1 ruling Tuesday.

The noted physicist who has been called the "father" of the atomic bomb emphasized that he will stay at his blackboard at the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., and intends to remain in the United States.

Rigid Restrictions On Water Ordered

5-12 P.M. SPRINKLING ONLY BECOMES EFFECTIVE FRIDAY

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Additional water use restrictions, completely prohibiting lawn sprinkling from 12 midnight to 5 p.m. for all persons, have been agreed upon by the city's Advisory Water Use Committee and will go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

This new order will be in addition to restrictions already in force calling for watering on even numbered sides of the street on even numbered calendar days and on odd numbered sides of the street on odd numbered calendar days.

Thus, persons will be allowed to water on alternate days only between the hours of 5 p.m. and 12 midnight only.

This action was taken on the heels of three consecutive days of consumption in excess of the available supply of water. The city's daily supply capacity is nearly 32 million gallons while more than 34 million gallons were used Monday, 33 million gallons Tuesday and a predicted 33 or 34 million gallons Wednesday.

Reservoirs Hit

This means that in the three day period, some 6 to 7 million gallons of water had to be taken from the city's reservoirs. Total reservoir capacity of the city at this time is about 30 million gallons, including the new 5 million gallon reservoir at 51st Street which is currently being used to more than three-fourths of its capacity.

And besides average conditions over each 24 hour period, demand has been excessively high at peak periods. On Wednesday, the city's A Street plant was pumping at the rate of 50 million gallons per day at 4 p.m.

This lowered the reservoirs at that time to just a little more than half full. With pumping at even a higher rate Tuesday evening, the reservoirs were depleted to a low at one point of just more than six feet.

Fifteen feet is the full mark on the reservoirs.

City officials expressed the hope that during the day time sprinkling ban, reservoirs could be filled to capacity in order to take care of the big evening demand for sprinkling.

If this new order fails to produce the desired results, Mayor Clark Jeary said, then consideration will have to be given to something else, possibly some kind of restriction on air conditioning.

Jeary stated that air conditioning bans have been avoided because the alternate day sprinkling is considered by experts in the field to be sufficient to keep grass alive. If air conditioning can be continued and still have sufficient water for sprinkling, that is what the city wants to do, Jeary said.

Dr. Franklin D. Keim, professor of agronomy at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and member of the Advisory Use Board, told other board members that while top soil becomes very dry and grass loses its color it will still live without water. Nothing short of a real drought will kill out blue grass, he said.

Woman Killed On Way To Fremont

BRADDYVILLE, Ia. (AP)—Betty Ferguson, 49, of Kansas City, Mo., was killed Wednesday when her station wagon went out of control and careened off Highway 71 about three miles north of here.

Sheriff Ed Hipsley said the car rolled sideways down a bank, then flipped end over end several times. Mrs. Ferguson was alone in the car.

The sheriff said Mrs. Ferguson was en route from Kansas City to Fremont, Neb., to visit a sister when the accident occurred.

Senate's Action Victory For Ike

GOP And Demo Proposals For Income Levy Slashes Are Rejected By 49-46 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate defeated both Republican and Democratic plans for an income tax cut Wednesday and thus produced a big victory for the Eisenhower administration, which says the budget can't stand any more such reductions now.

The votes were 49-46 in both instances but weren't identical except for the total.

Defeat for the Republican plan came at the hands of 47 Democrats, Sen. Langer (R-ND) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore), against a solid lineup of 46 GOP senators.

The Democrats' plan fell before a combination of 45 Republicans and four Democrats—Byrd (Va), Holland (Fla), Robertson (Va), and Johnson (Colo). Supporting it were 43 Democrats, plus Langer, Morse and Young (R-ND).

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was the only absent senator.

Sens. Butler and Bowring, Nebraska Republicans, voted on the losing side as the Republican plan was rejected. They voted with the majority when the Democrats' proposal met defeat.

BUSY AFTERNOON

Briefly, here is what the opposing sides maneuvered over in a long and busy session:

The Democratic plan. Offered by Sen. George (D-Ga), it would boost all personal exemptions from $600 to $700, but the tax benefit on each $100 of additional exemption would be limited to $25. Thus, a man and wife with one child could get a reduction of as much as $75 a year.

The Republican plan. Chairman Milliken (R-Colo) of the Senate Finance Committee came up with it only Wednesday, in 11th hour strategy to block the George plan. With some exceptions, it would allow an extra $100 exemption for a man, and also his wife, filing a joint return but would not increase the exemption for dependents. The effect would be a $40 reduction to a couple, since the exemption increase would apply only to the lowest taxable income bracket, which carries a 20 per cent rate.

Millikin's Proposal

Also, to meet Democratic criticism that the Republican plan to give tax relief on dividend income was unduly favorable to the wealthy, Millikin proposed to cut down this relief. As it passed the House this provision would eliminate taxes on the first $50 of dividend income, and the taxpayer would rise to $100 and the credit to 10 per cent.

Millikin's late offer was to knock out the second year step and leave the dividend relief at $50 and 5 per cent credit.

Near-Deadline Filings Boost Primary Totals

Bar Association Judiciary Proposal May Be Lacking 10,000 Signatures

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The "merry-go-round" of politicians rushing into the office of the Secretary of State to file for state office continued unabated Wednesday. Thursday at 5 p.m. is the deadline on filings and a number additional called for blanks to make last minute filings.

Biggest surprise as the deadline approached was the apparent failure of the Nebraska Bar Association members to put in sufficient work to get the required 60,000 signatures on a petition to submit a constitutional amendment changing the method of electing the judiciary.

George Turner, secretary of the association, was pessimistic Wednesday night. He said that apparently the bulk of petitions from outstate arrived Wednesday and that they were not enough to meet requirements even though hard drives were being made in Lincoln and Omaha.

Lacked Leg Work

"Lawyers of the state were just not willing to put in the leg work necessary to make a petition campaign a success," one worker asserted.

Turner said that although no count has been made he estimates that the total signers were about 10,000 short Wednesday night with late reports to be made from Lincoln and Omaha. The required number of counties with more than 5 per cent of the voters signing have been received but indications were that workers quit circulating petitions when the minimum quota was reached

Four additional candidates paid $50 to enter the race to serve the 62 days of the short term in the U. S. Senate, which probably will not even be in session. One Democrat and two Republicans added their names to the growing list of candidates.

The Democrat was Mable Gillespie, Omaha, former member of the Legislature.

Two Lincoln and one Omaha Republican completed their filings. Chris C. Beck, tire and battery dealer in the automotive business for 47 years, and Joseph Alexis, former university professor, were the Lincoln filings. John S. Sampson, attorney, filed from Omaha.

Ray Chase, Crawford, was the second Democratic filing for state auditor.

Two filings were received for the non-partisan regents of the University of Nebraska. They were "Blue" Howell, former football great of Omaha in the second district and Don Pierce, Alliance farmer and real estate broker, for the short term in the 6th district.

Three filings were received for the newly created state board of education. They were: Harold C. Prichard, former state senator, of Falls City, in the first district, and John D. Moth, Mullen and William S. Padley, Gothenburg, both in the sixth district.

Six additional candidates filed for seats in the state Legislature. They were: L. W. Bartzat, Lincoln, 20th; Robert Lyman, Springview, 28th; Theodore Martell, Newman Grove, 15th; Ben W. Crain, Omaha, eighth; Francis J. Cooney, Omaha, seventh, and Earl Stiner, Jr., Omaha, fourth district.

Don Thompson, McCook cattleman, has paid his filing fee for the Legislature in the 33rd district but has not completed his filing. Merrill J. Hewitt, Omaha, has done the same in the ninth district.

Harry Knudsen, former Omaha commissioner, paid his fee to file as a Republican candidate for state treasurer.

Anti-Reds Open Talk On Peace

Guatemala Leaders To Weld Coalition

SAN SALVADOR, El. Salvador, (AP) — The rival anti-Communist rulers of Guatemala flew here late Wednesday and opened their peace parley in an optimistic atmosphere with El Salvador's President Oscar Osorio acting as mediator.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas of the rebel field force that began the open fight on Guatemalan Communists and Col. Elfego Monzon of the Guatemala City military junta arrived in separate planes.

After their initial two-hour session behind closed doors, President Osorio, a lieutenant colonel, told reporters:

"I feel very optimistic. I believe they will find a formula. At least that is my desire.

Initial Move

El Salvador made the initial move to settle the Guatemalan conflict by offering its good offices. A cease fire ended the fighting Tuesday.

The sponsors of the parley here hoped it would lead to a coalition of anti-Communist forces to wipe out the Red beachhead set up in Central America under the regime of the deposed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Reds Threaten Ruling Party

GUATEMALA (AP)—The anti-Communist ruling junta rushed troops Wednesday to Escuintla, a hotbed of communism 30 miles south of Guatemala City, where a top Red leader was reported plotting an uprising among farm workers.

Other Communist and leftist chiefs still at large also were reported bent on stirring up troubles.

Guatemala City was calm and joyous Wednesday with the 12-day shooting conflict halted under a cease-fire.

U. S. Jazz

For the first time in weeks the radios were playing American jazz—even the former Communist station. The main cloud on the horizon appeared to be the threatened trouble at Escuintla, which long has been regarded as a center of Communist subversion.

The junta continued its roundup of Communists and pro-Communists who were a mainstay of the regime of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. He resigned as president Sunday night under army pressure.

Dulles Hails Red Setback In Guatemala

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles Wednesday night hailed the overthrow of the pro-Communist government in Guatemala as a "new and glorious" victory over Red encroachments. But he warned that "Communism is still a menace everywhere."

In a 15-minute address prepared for nationwide radio-television broadcast, Dulles pledged that the United States would not only oppose Communism but would help "alleviate conditions in Guatemala and elsewhere" which might breed Communism.

Dulles said the capture by Communism of any American state would have established a "new and perilous front" endangering the entire free world.

But he said the situation in Guatemala "'is being cured by the Guatemalans themselves"—thereby averting "at least one grave danger" and setting an example "which promises security for the future."

Dulles laid the blame for the leftist bent of the overthrown Guatemalan government directly on the Kremlin. He said Communists seized in the Guatemalan revolution 10 years ago and, in the last few years, "openly connived" with Guatemalan officials.

Ike Ready To Hear Any Oppenheimer Appeal

President Hopes For Peaceful Existence With Russians, But 'I Will Not Be Party To Any Treaty That Makes Anybody Slave'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that if Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer wants to appeal to him from the 4-1 Atomic Energy Commission decision that bars him from atomic secrets, he will be heard.

The President added, however, that the commission was made up of men he trusted and that he had sent them last December what he described as a very disturbing report on the famed scientist they have now held to be a security risk.

Eisenhower made his Oppenheimer comments at a fast-moving news conference, his first in two weeks.

Wide Range

The conference ranged from the matter of peaceful coexistence with the Russians to the question of whether Vice President Nixon has been "hurting the Democrats feelings" and thus impeding a bipartisan foreign policy.

On getting along with the Russians, Eisenhower said the hope of the world would be that kind of existence. But he said, and he thumped his desk for emphasis, this does not mean appeasement.

He authorized for direct quotation: "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave; now, that is all there is to it."

On Nixon and the Democrats, Eisenhower said his vice president is an admirable man, a great American who normally talks pretty much the language of the administration.

The President seemed in fine fettle, pink and healthy. The lines in his face deepened from time to time in concentration, but his only apparent annoyance came when he was asked:

"Do you feel, sir, that the country is safer and more secure now that Dr. Oppenheimer no longer is working for us?"

Eisenhower, spacing his words, told the questioner that he had better go and ask the Atomic Energy Commission. They, he said, were responsible for this and they had a very delicate and tough job to do.

Another questioner wanted to know whether the President considered the Oppenheimer case closed, or whether he would consider a plea if Oppenheimer turned to him.

Well, the President replied, he believed that any citizen that believes himself abused had a right to appeal and if Oppenheimer wanted to make an appeal, of course he would be listened to.

In the second Nixon exchange, a reporter said Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) "had sort of warned that if any more speeches came out like that of Nixon's, that hurt the Democrats' feelings very deeply, that there might not be any bipartisan foreign policy."

"Would you consider asking Mr. Nixon to apologize?"

Eisenhower replied, that if Dick Nixon ever finds any reason for apologizing for his own actions, he will do it without any advice from the President.

On other matters the President said:

Farm Bill—There are terrible defects in the rigid, high price supports provided by the present law and they are damaging to the farmers. He had put his case for a flexible system as strongly as he knew how, and had no immediate plans for doing more.

Guatemala—He heard Wednesday morning that Communists and their supporters were leaving Guatemala. It has given him great satisfaction and if he tried to conceal that fact, he would be deceitful.

Republican Prospects—He has always believed that the American people wanted a well-thought-out comprehensive program, foreign and domestic. The administration has laid its program before Congress and while no one ever has thought it would be enacted in every detail, he believed the forthcoming results are going to be favorably considered by the voters.

Truman Put On 'Fair' List

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS)—Former President Harry S Truman made further gains Wednesday in his fight back to health and the improvement in his condition brought an announcement from the hospital that he has been removed from the "serious" list.

Robert E. Adams, administrator of Kansas City's Research Hospital, told a news conference that the 70-year-old ex-President's case is "very encouraging."

After conferring with Dr. Wallace Graham—Truman's personal physician—Adams said:

"Mr. Truman is now listed in fair condition. He still suffers intermittent nausea. No antibiotics have been administered for the past 36 hours and as far as we know, no more will be administered."

Truman underwent emergency surgery for removal of his gall bladder and appendix June 20.

Adams said the enteritis condition — inflammation of the lower intestinal tract — has "progressively improved."

Carpenter Has Truck Trouble

SCOTTSBLUFF (AP)—State Sen. Terry Carpenter's campaign for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator from Nebraska was cut short at Imperial day by truck trouble.

The drive shaft on a pickup truck which pulls Carpenter's campaign trailer was broken and had to be brought back to Scottsbluff for repairs.

The young Kearney County farm woman was under the impression that the period for filing ended on June 30 rather than having one more day. She was accompanied on her visit to the Capitol by her two young daughters.

Mrs. Foote was a 1948 graduate of Leland Stanford University where she majored in political science and economics. She is the third woman to seek a Legislative seat, the other two filing in the 20th district in Lincoln, Mrs. Bertha R. Smith and Ada E. Shafer.

"We keep talking about better government, so I thought we ought to be doing something about it," she declared in pointing out that only one candidate had previously filed when two can be nominated. She said she did not believe a public office should go uncontested.

Mrs Foote has been active in women's groups and community work. The other candidate is Norris V. Swan, Hastings businessman. Sen. Richard Marvel who had held the office since 1951 has announced that he will not be a candidate.

York College Fate Set Behind Doors

YORK, Neb. (AP)—The board of trustees of York College, meeting to determine the fate of the 64-year-old college, Wednesday conducted its sessions behind closed doors.

Dr. A. V. Howland, president of the college, said a statement would be prepared following the meeting, but he did not say when the statement would be ready. This meeting of the board was scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday.

Russ Claim First Atomic Power Station

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union claimed victory Wednesday in the international race to harness the power of the atom for industrial uses. A Moscow broadcast said the Russians have opened a small atomic-engine power station.

It gave no hint as to the location of the station, but said Soviet authorities and engineers are planning the construction of other such plants with capacities from 50,000 to 100,000 kilowatts.

Both the United States and Britain have started work on atomic plants to generate electricity for industry but neither is scheduled for completion for several years. Several other nations, including France and Canada, have announced plans for similar projects.

The Moscow broadcast quoted a statement from the Soviet Council of Ministers as saying the new Russian installation, with a capacity of 5,000 kilowatts, went into operation Sunday producing electrical current for both industry and agriculture.

In New York, electrical industry spokesmen said a 5,000-kilowatt plant is small by U. S. standards. They estimated the output of such a station would fill the electricity needs of only about 5,000 average American households, or light about 385 displays like the huge torch atop the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor.

U. S. Electrical companies now are building equipment for America's first industrial power plant, to be located at Shippingport, Pa., on the Ohio River.

A spokesman for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in New York said this 85-million dollar station will have a capacity of 60,000 kilowatts — 12 times the capacity claimed for the Russian plant—but still is considered largely an experimental model.

Mrs. Aldrich 'Same'

Mrs. Bess Streeter Aldrich, 73, well-known author from Lincoln is reported to be in serious condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Her condition has remained unchanged for the past two weeks, hospital officials said.

Mother, 22, Gets Suspended Sentence For Embezzlement

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Mary Alice Gerhardt, 22-year-old mother of two, Wednesday was given a four year suspended sentence and placed on probation in connection with a $22,000 embezzlement of a North Platte bank.

Mrs. Gerhardt stood motionless before Federal District Judge John W. Delehant during most of hour-long proceedings which preceded sentencing.

Her parent, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thomson who farm 10 miles northeast of North Platte, were in the court room, Mrs. Thomsen occasionally wiping away tears.

Nolo Contendre

Mrs Gerhardt, through her attorney, George B. Dent Jr., pleaded nolo contendre (no contest) to each of three counts of misappropriation of funds of the First National Bank of North Platte where she had been employed as a bookkeeper.

Dent told the court that the only reason Mrs. Gerhardt had given him for taking the funds was that "she wanted nice things and wanted them in a hurry."

He said that the Gerhardt's had sold their home, car and most of their personal possessions in order to make restitution. The Thomsens had also raised $7,000 to help pay back the money taken, he said.

Judge Delehant in suspending sentence said he was taking it to consideration Mrs. Gerhardt's two children, one of whom was born after her arrest on the bank funds charge.

$350 For 'Lost Gas Tax' Audit Approved

The Lancaster County Board has approved payment of $350 to Ross Martin, Lincoln accountant who audited the state treasurer's books for the county attorney in connection with the investigation of gas tax distribution.

Martin's figures showed that Lancaster County may have lost $130,000 because the state treasurer allegedly did not use current population and vehicle registration figures in determining the gas tax distribution between 1951 and 1953.

Passengers Ask $70,000 For Accident Injuries

Two personal injury suits totalling $70,000 damages have been filed in Lancaster District Court against Edward D. Roller of Bennet and Robert H. Fricke of Ashland.

John Meyers and Ferne Buckingham, plaintiffs in separate suits, each ask $35,000 from the defendants for injuries suffered in a two-car accident on March 11 3 8 miles west of Ashland.

Plaintiffs were allegedly passengers in the car driven by Roller which was in collision with the Fricke car.

Mabel Fossler Files $5 Million Claim Against Nebraska

Mabel Fossler of 2434 Q has filed a petition in Lancaster District Court seeking $5 million damages against the State of Nebraska.

The petition seeks action on her claim to property on No. 10th across from the University of Nebraska stadium.

Miss Fossler charges incorrect laying out of the original plat of Lincoln by the state and "slander for calling plaintiff's land 'no man's land'."

A $5 million claim filed by Miss Fossler with the State Sundry Claims Board is pending action by the 1955 Legislature. A $1 million claim against the City of Lincoln has been rejected by the city council.

The bill, which also redefines and broadens the definition of sabotage, is part of the legislative program sent to Congress by Atty. Gen. Brownell for dealing with Communists and subversives.

Ike Ready To Hear Any Oppenheimer Appeal

President Hopes For Peaceful Existence With Russians, But 'I Will Not Be Party To Any Treaty That Makes Anybody Slave'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that if Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer wants to appeal to him from the 4-1 Atomic Energy Commission decision that bars him from atomic secrets, he will be heard.

The President added, however, that the commission was made up of men he trusted and that he had sent them last December what he described as a very disturbing report on the famed scientist they have now held to be a security risk.

Eisenhower made his Oppenheimer comments at a fast-moving news conference, his first in two weeks.

Wide Range

The conference ranged from the matter of peaceful coexistence with the Russians to the question of whether Vice President Nixon has been "hurting the Democrats' feelings" and thus imperiling a bipartisan foreign policy.

On getting along with the Russians, Eisenhower said the hope of the world would be that kind of existence. But he said, and he thumped his desk for emphasis, this does not mean appeasement.

He authorized for direct quotation: "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave; now, that is all there is to it."

On Nixon and the Democrats, Eisenhower said his vice president is an admirable man, a great American who normally talks pretty much the language of the administration.

The President seemed in fine fettle, pink and healthy. The lines in his face deepened from time to time in concentration, but his only apparent annoyance came when he was asked:

"Do you feel, sir, that the country is safer and more secure now that Dr. Oppenheimer no longer is working for us?"

Eisenhower, spacing his words, told the questioner that he had better go and ask the Atomic Energy Commission. They, he said, were responsible for this and they had a very delicate and tough job to do.

Another questioner wanted to know whether the President considered the Oppenheimer case closed, or whether he would consider a plea if Oppenheimer turned to him.

Well, the President replied, he believed that any citizen that believes himself abused had a right to appeal and if Oppenheimer wanted to make an appeal, of course he would be listened to.

In the second Nixon exchange, a reporter said Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) "had sort of warned that if any more speeches came out like that of Nixon's, that hurt the Democrats' feelings very deeply, that there might not be any bipartisan foreign policy."

"Would you consider asking Mr. Nixon to apologize?"

Eisenhower replied, that if Dick Nixon ever finds any reason for apologizing for his own actions, he will do it without any advice from the President.

On other matters the President said:

Farm Bill—There are terrible defects in the rigid, high price supports provided by the present law and they are damaging to the farmers. He had put his case for a flexible system as strongly as he knew how, and had no immediate plans for doing more.

Guatemala—He heard Wednesday morning that Communists and their supporters were leaving Guatemala. It has given him great satisfaction and if he tried to conceal that fact, he would be deceitful.

Republican Prospects—He has always believed that the American people wanted a well-thought-out comprehensive program, foreign and domestic. The administration has laid its program before Congress and while no one ever has thought it would be enacted in every detail, he believed the forthcoming results are going to be favorably considered by the voters.

Truman Put On 'Fair' List

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS)—Former President Harry S. Truman made further gains Wednesday in his fight back to health and the improvement in his condition brought an announcement from the hospital that he has been removed from the "serious" list.

Robert E. Adams, administrator of Kansas City's Research Hospital, told a news conference that the 70-year-old ex-President's case is "very encouraging."

After conferring with Dr. Wallace Graham—Truman's personal physician—Adams said:

"Mr. Truman is now listed in fair condition. He still suffers intermittent nausea. No antibiotics have been administered for the past 36 hours and as far as we know, no more will be administered."

Truman underwent emergency surgery for removal of his gall bladder and appendix June 20.

Mental Patient Killed After Gun Battle; 8 Wounded

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —A mental patient was killed by police in his shabby living room Wednesday after a 24 hour gun battle in which his accurate rifle and shotgun fire wounded eight policemen and his wife.

The end came when an armored car roared across the back yard to his West Side bungalow and three heavily armed officers leaped through the back door for the second time.

Howard Ellis, 64, was riddled with submachine gun and pistol bullets as he fired at the trio, then managed one last, harmless round into the ceiling as he fell dead.

Two Armored Cars

The berserk man had held off more than 50 policemen using every bit of firepower they could muster. There were two armored cars on the scene. The dirty white, one-story house was splintered by thousand of rounds of ammunition and filled with tear gas.

The officers had won their entry through the back door a half hour earlier but had to retreat after running out of ammunition. The second time the flushed bluecoats—Inspector Russell Carmichael, Sgt. Thomas Harlowe and Patrolman W. D. Sullivan—signalled through a window it was all over.

At General Hospital Ellis' wife, Janie, was told her husband was dead.

Wife Accepts His Death

"It just had to be that way," she said softly. She was in fair condition in a ward with gunshot wounds in the left thigh and hand.

She told police that Ellis, a Central State Hospital mental patient on leave had gone berserk about 11 a.m.

He returned home Wednesday and began beating one of the five Welfare Department wards for whom the Ellises cared. Mrs. Ellis said he became enraged when she threatened to call the hospital and have him recommitted.

Fled To Neighbors

Mrs. Ellis fled to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Donna Yates, and called the hospital and police. She returned home as Ellis emerged from their chicken house, a shotgun and .22 rifle in hand.

Mrs. Ellis said she fled but two shots hit her, in the left thigh and left hand.

Patrolman John Yates said he and Lt. Paul Pearsey, 60, arrived and found Ellis crouching behind a utility pole outside the house. Ellis fired two blasts from a shotgun, wounding Pearsey seriously in the chest, head, arm and hand.

Rescued Comrade

From the house, Ellis began a steady stream of gunfire. Police reinforcements arrived and four officers were picked off, three as they rescued a wounded comrade.

Patrolman Dora Ward, 27, fell wounded on the sidewalk, exposed completely to Ellis' fire. Officers Edward Clouse, 30, Victor Osborne, 29, and Patrick Gaughan, 30, all were hit as they brought Ward to shelter.

One Is Critical

All four were reported in fair condition at General Hospital.

Patrolman Paul White, 39, was reported in critical condition with chest and neck wounds, and another officer, Merlin Lyon, 38, was in serious condition with a wound in the right side.

Another patrolman, Myron Rance, 39, hit by shotgun pellets and shattered glass in the face, and former Detective George Wood, 29, overcome by heat, were in fair condition.

For men the small aid can be worn with the original Maico Secreteer insert. With the remarkable tiny Maico instrument the tell-tale signs of a hearing aid are gone. Why advertise your hearing loss? Maico users do not. You will also hear sounds more naturaly with a new way of wearing. Unlike ordinary hearing aids, you don't have to "get used to it." Mental Patient Killed After Gun Battle; 8 Wounded

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —A mental patient was killed by police in his shabby living room Wednesday after a 24 hour gun battle in which his accurate rifle and shotgun fire wounded eight policemen and his wife.

The end came when an armored car roared across the back yard to his West Side bungalow and three heavily armed officers leaped through the back door for the second time.

Howard Ellis, 64, was riddled with submachine gun and pistol bullets as he fired at the trio, then managed one last, harmless round into the ceiling as he fell dead.

Two Armored Cars

The berserk man had held off more than 50 policemen using every bit of firepower they could muster. There were two armored cars on the scene. The dirty white, one-story house was splintered by thousand of rounds of ammunition and filled with tear gas.

The officers had won their entry through the back door a half hour earlier but had to retreat after running out of ammunition. The second time the flushed bluecoats—Inspector Russell Carmichael, Sgt. Thomas Harlowe and Patrolman W. D. Sullivan—signalled through a window it was all over.

At General Hospital Ellis' wife, Janie, was told her husband was dead.

Wife Accepts His Death

"It just had to be that way," she said softly. She was in fair condition in a ward with gunshot wounds in the left thigh and hand.

She told police that Ellis, a Central State Hospital mental patient on leave had gone berserk about 11 a.m.

He returned home Wednesday and began beating one of the five Welfare Department wards for whom the Ellises cared. Mrs. Ellis said he became enraged when she threatened to call the hospital and have him recommitted.

Fled To Neighbors

Mrs. Ellis fled to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Donna Yates, and called the hospital and police. She returned home as Ellis emerged from their chicken house, a shotgun and .22 rifle in hand.

Mrs. Ellis said she fled but two shots hit her, in the left thigh and left hand.

Patrolman John Yates said he and Lt. Paul Pearsey, 60, arrived and found Ellis crouching behind a utility pole outside the house. Ellis fired two blasts from a shotgun, wounding Pearsey seriously in the chest, head, arm and hand.

Rescued Comrade

From the house, Ellis began a steady stream of gunfire. Police reinforcements arrived and four officers were picked off, three as they rescued a wounded comrade.

Patrolman Dora Ward, 27, fell wounded on the sidewalk, exposed completely to Ellis' fire. Officers Edward Clouse, 30, Victor Osborne, 29, and Patrick Gaughan, 30, all were hit as they brought Ward to shelter.

Those Neighbors To The South

Probably in no other area of the world is there more unity among the American people than in connection with developments in the South and Central American republics. We might wish for more understanding. We might hope for greater stability. But whether it be Guatemala, some other Central or South American government, there is a natural feeling here that there is no place for Communism here in the western hemisphere for an outcropping of the Communist program for world aggression.

The swift changes in the battle for Guatemala give assurance that the worst is over, but there can be no relaxation nor freedom from apprehension until a measure of stability replaces the unrest which frequently asserts itself.

There has been an increasing understanding in the attitude of the United States toward the neighboring republics. Successively the Platt amendment was repealed, then Teddy Roosevelt's corollary to the Monroe Doctrine was abandoned, and Woodrow Wilson's unilateral doctrine of non-recognition was junked. We pulled Marines out of Nicaragua and Haiti, Marines ostensibly there to preserve order. On the more constructive side there have been successful conferences with these neighbors for mutual defense and assistance.

Yet looking back, it seems that we have ignored the obvious and probably the most essential step to improve the ties binding the peoples of the western hemisphere. We have not aided these Latin Americans in steps to promote, increase, or even hold their economies. In the five years between 1945 and 1950 out of 25 billions in grants and credits to foreign countries, only 13 per cent went to Latin America, while direct capital investments from the United States was less than a billion.

Probably there is no tonic for hemisphere solidarity, for mutual defense and for democratic integrity than a sound economic foundation in Latin America.

But today we are united in our attitude which suggests there is hope for the future.

Form, Not Substance

The new wheat has begun to flow into Nebraska's bins and elevators. The golden flood marks the beginning of the 1954 agricultural production season. As the summer moves on, the flow of wheat will cease and there will be inpourings of oats, barley and other small grains, finally soybeans, corn and other late-year harvests. When it is all in and matched against the market prices, Nebraska will finally know how prosperous was 1954. So far, so good. The crops must be raised first and the start is reassuring.

In Nebraska first interest is always in producing the crop. The economics of agriculture take second place and the politics runs third. But sooner or later, whatever the abundance of foodstuff raised, the conditions of the market and of the federal farm program must be considered.

At this time the political debate is the Department of Agriculture's proposed methods for dealing with surplus production. Secretary Benson would like to supply flexible price supports and other austerities to discourage production, reduce the federal investment in surplus food stuffs and probably, too, to give the great urban populations a bargain in food prices.

Against his method are the proponents of high fixed price supports. These people look at the finest food production program the world ever has known. They do not want it broken down nor the operators of it impoverished.

There are mixed feelings in agriculture itself over the two methods.

But as one views the first fruits of another great annual harvest, a few things become clear. The debate is over form and not substance. Methods are only a means to an end and the end is the target of intention. Before the verdict is brought in on the Benson program, its intention should be clearly identified and weighed.

No method is any good that tends to destroy the producer or the production apparatus. Whether fixed or flexible price supports are adopted, there is one thing that has to be stipulated to protect the nation against hardship. The method, whatever it is, must assure agriculture a solvency return.

That one guarantee is the thing that has not yet appeared convincingly enough in Mr. Benson's program. If he would add it as a firm clause in his projected program, he would calm most of the fears and doubts in this great food-producing region.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Over much of that vast region called the Great North American Plains, there is a whale of a lot of truth that it never rains but that it pours. Here was Texas, a huge state, sections of it struggling painfully against four years of drought. And the news columns told of a deluge ranging up to as high as 22 inches, just short of two feet of water on every square foot where that torrential downpour occurred.

★

When this was written, the news columns reported that dry canyons had been turned into raging torrents, costing the lives of those in their paths, and a historic flood was moving down the Rio Grande. It promised an acid test for Falcon Dam on the Rio Grande, with a reservoir capacity in excess of 4,000,000 acre-feet, a capacity untested because the prolonged drought had left less than 500,000 acre-feet in the reservoir. Engineers were confident that the big dam would strut its stuff, impound much if not all of the flood water, and leave the Rio Grande in the lush rich valley below a tamed river. It made us think of the storm, centered chiefly in Kansas in 1951, which caused so much flood damage to Kansas City. That storm had a great deal of drama. It had started off the coast of California, slowly gathering force. It jumped the intervening mountain ranges and sat down in the Kaw Valley. April had been a dry month there, May more nearly normal, June brought daily rains and showers. And then in early July that cloud opened up and over a 6,000-square-mile area from 12 to as high as 22 inches of water fell in a 48-hour period.

A Genuine Test For Falcon

Kansas City reeled under the impact of the flood which descended upon it, fed chiefly by the waters of Kansas streams but further aggravated by the flooded tributaries feeding into the Missouri in various other areas.

★

There is some consolation in these matters of storms which experts describe as "storms of a century." The Pick-Sloan plan for mainsteam development on the Missouri has been subjected to a lot of criticism, much of it misinformed and confused. Ft. Peck, with its 135-mile lake, has a storage capacity on the upper Missouri in excess of 9,000,000 acre-feet, more than double Falcon. Ft. Randall in North Dakota, a huge dam, has a capacity of 22,000,000 acre-feet, more than five times that of Falcon. Oahe, in South Dakota, with a majority of the work yet to be finshed, when completed will take care of an approximate 21,000,000 acre-feet. That is five times the storage capacity provided by the Rio Grande dam. And Garrison, another huge structure, not in magnitude matching either Randall or Oahe, nevertheless exceeds Falcon in storage capacity. Then there is Gavins Point, more in the nature of a regulating installation, but nevertheless contributing its share. All in all, these great dams on the upper Missouri will take care of an approximate 50,000,000 acre-feet of water, a flood control program of a magnitude beckoning to man's imagination.

Big Muddy Protection Upstream

There were those black nights in 1952 when men battled desperately in Omaha and Council Bluffs to plug the levy against a pounding flood that originated just as dramatically in the run-off of melting snows in the northern Great Plains, a runoff intensified by the fact that earth frozen to the depth of six feet covered by a thick ice sheet lay underneath a snow blanket ranging in depth from 20 to 80 inches, an unusually wet snow blanket with an inch of snow water for every six inches of snow. There is a measure of security in those great dams which will serve to stabilize the flow of an unruly steram in good season and bad. Chances are that the deep snows of the mountains and the torrential downpours of spring and summer in the upper Great North American Plains will find themselves imprisoned, and instead of wreaking destruction downstream, will be made to serve usefully.

What Cost Reduction?

The Senate this week opened debate on the administration's tax bill — a measure aimed at lightening the load on the taxpayers.

Everyone is for tax relief and the Senate, as well as the administration, feels the pressure of an election year. There is a greater danger of an unrealistic slash in federal revenue than there is of overburdening the taxpayers. It will be a false economy and an ultimate disappointment if the debate does not weigh all of the facts and shape a revenue law that guarantees soundness in federal financing.

It was not the most encouraging news a week ago to learn that the Federal Reserve had decreased the requirement of member bank reserves. This came at a time when banking said it already had enough loan capital to handle the demand, plus a safe margin. The release of some nine billion in lending power was significantly accompanied by an announcement that the Treasury will soon go into the market for $10 billion for immediate cash needs.

If the Treasury is operating off a cash basis or near to that point there are implications that government management is not making the best of its opportunities. It costs money to borrow. It costs more that way than to levy taxes sufficiently to operate with a sound cash reserve. The debaters might probe that. There is not much point in achieving a tax reduction that in the long run will cost the taxpayer more than he saves.

Makeshift Poll

Professional poll-takers probe public reaction with an elaborate organization and a large force of computers. We offer here a simpler one, albeit easier for the reader to interpret. Recently a Wynantskill, N. Y. luncheon club held an auction to raise money for a good cause. Among the donations to be sold was Sen. McCarthy's new book, "McCarthyism—The Fight For America"—a hockey stick, and a baseball autographed by members of the New York Giants baseball team. The baseball sold for $7.25, the hockey stick for $1.50 and McCarthy's book for $1.25.

THE LINCOLN STAR

Loyalty To Friends Hurt Truman's Health

KANSAS CITY—It was Harry Truman's determination never to let down a friend, even a controversial friend, that contributed in part to his illness.

His doctors don't advertise it, but for some time the ex-President has been somewhat under the weather. To them his sudden seizure in the wings of the "Call Me Madam" performance was not entirely a surprise. They had tried to get him to curtail his activities, and strongly advised that he cancel a date he had made with his old friend, James Petrillo, head of the Musicians Union, to attend the Musicians' Annual convention in Milwaukee.

Months ago Petrillo had invited Truman to be the union's guest of honor and to play a little piano-trumpet duet together. It was an event calculated to make musical headlines, and both Truman and the head of the Musicians Union were looking forward to it.

However, when Truman's doctors told him he would have to curtail his activities until cooler weather, he reluctantly sent Petrillo his regrets. The show, he said, was off.

But a few days later, Truman overruled his doctors and sent a telegram to Petrillo that he would be on deck. The show, he said, "must go on."

Asked for explanation, Harry Truman had a simple answer: "As long as I live I will never forget what Jimmy Petrillo and his men did for me in the 1948 election. He was one of those who did not let me down. And I can't let a good friend like him down now."

K.C.'S MOST-LOVED MAN

Sentiment has changed a lot around Kansas City regarding Harry Truman. There was a time, about two years ago, when the little K.C. haberdasher who became president of the United States was criticized and scoffed at up and down the streets of the city that sent him to Washington . . . but not today. Today, he is the most-loved man in Kansas City . . . Some people thought he could never settle down in the ol' home town after the glamor of Washington, after a private yacht on the Potomac, a retinue of servants and bodyguards. But he has settled down as comfortably as in an old shoe . . . Some of Truman's friends raised a little money to hire a bodyguard for his days as ex-President, but Harry hasn't needed him, doesn't want him . . . And if anyone around Kansas City ever thought of touching a hair of Harry Truman's head, no police could ever protect him . . . HST once confided to Garrett Smalley of the Kansas City News Press the reason why he didn't have air cooling in the White House. "I don't mind air cooling," he said, "but if I had it in here people would stay too long." . . . It was Mrs. Truman who overruled her husband's old-fashioned views on air cooling the other day and insisted that the hospital move him from Kansas City's 100-degree heat in an ordinary room, into an air-cooled room.

LOYALTY CAUSED TROUBLES

When I was in Kansas City last January interviewing the former President for television he told me something that illustrates his ideas about gratitude and friends. Perhaps also it shows some comparisons with the McCarthy committee.

It's not exactly a secret that for a long time President Truman had no great regard for me, but, it was not known how far he sometimes carried that "lack of affection." Once, however, he almost turned thumbs down on Clayton Fritchey for a position on the White House staff because Fritchey knew me.

I had known Fritchey first when he was on the Cleveland Press, later as editor of the New Orleans Item, later as public-relations adviser to the secretary of defense. But when Fritchey came up for appointment as a White House secretary, Howard McGrath, then attorney general, warned the President that Fritchey and I were friends.

So Harry Truman asked Fritchey how well he knew me. "Of course Pearson is a friend of mine," Clayton replied. "But that isn't going to interfere with my work. You have your friends too, some of whom I may not approve of, but I'm not going to ask you to give up your friends."

Truman's loyalty to friends of course was what caused him more trouble than anything else in the White House. Clayton got the job.

NOTABLE MEMORY

Last January, about three years later, I was in Harry Truman's office in Kansas City. It is lined with books, chiefly history books. He had been reading the works of previous presidents, even as he did while in the White House, and was dictating his own memoirs. Every day, he said, he dictated a chapter or so of his book, then had a staff of research men, who had been looking over his records, pull it to pieces, check it backward and forward, to make sure every detail jibed.

The ex-President seemed relaxed, happy, very much at home. He didn't seem to miss the glamor, the excitement of Washington at all—which is rare for a man who has spent a third of a century in politics.

Neither Mr. Truman nor I mentioned any of the unpleasantness that had sometimes marked our lives in Washington. But after the TV interview was over, he made a remark which indicates how long his memory is and also indicates some contrasts with the methods of the McCarthy committee.

"You don't remember it," he said, "but a long time ago you wrote a story about me. You said a new committee had been formed to investigate military preparedness and efficiency. You said that a new chairman named Truman was in charge of that committee and that he made it a point to check on the war effort without upsetting the government, that he took things up with the executive branch of the government to see if things couldn't be straightened out privately before he resorted to publicity.

"That was what I was trying to do," continued Truman. "I used to go down to see Roosevelt and tell him about a situation, and he would take out a pencil and make a note of it. And a week or so later he would report that the situation was straightened out or sometimes he'd say 'We haven't been able to straighten it out, go ahead and investigate.

Nixon Puts Foreign Policy Into Campaign

WASHINGTON — While President Eisenhower was striving last week end to rally all of Congress behind an Anglo-American salvage policy in Indo-China, Vice President Nixon was forcing foreign policy into the fall campaign.

The vice president told a Republican fund-raising dinner in Senator McCarthy's state of Wisconsin that "The Acheson policy was directly responsible for the loss of China. And if China had not been lost, there would have been no war in Korea and there would be no war in Indo-China today."

A check of the circumstances of the speech, the reactions to it of the Republican political management, and related matters, show that the speech was not an isolated and accidental development by the considered party line.

The vice president's Wisconsin engagement was of long standing and he delivered a carefully prepared, written speech, copies of which were handed to the Republican National Committee for distribution. Mr. Nixon usually prefers to speak off the cuff from a few notes.

Officials of the national committee have telephoned him their congratulations and have assured him the response was "terrific." Barbed criticisms of the speech which appeared in eastern newspapers did not appear to bother this headquarters for Republican doctrine.

The idea was frankly expressed that "sure, there is three or four more years mileage on Acheson; after all, the Democrats ran for 20 years against Hoover." Nothing along this line, it was said, would be considered too "old hat" for use in 1954, and it was contended that the political logic of the situation still put Acheson on the firing line.

The vice president also included in his address the charge that "over 2,400 security risks" have been removed from the federal employment. This figure has been thoroughly discredited, and the White House has backed away from it.

He held up the spectre of the "ADA left-wingers" taking over in 1956 if Republicans lose the Congress in 1954. His examples of this dread alternative were James Roosevelt and Rep. Robert Condon of California, Democratic congressional candidates repudiated by Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell.

☆ ☆ ☆

This kind of thing is called here "McCarthy in a white shirt." The President has said the Republican party should not use McCarthy in the campaign.

However, the chairman of the House Republican congressional campaign, Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, had something to say about that last week-end. Communism, asserted Mr. Simpson, will definitely be an election issue and Sen. McCarthy "will prove to be an asset to the Republican party . . . We can elect more Republicans if we use McCarthy."

Mr. Simpson's counterpart on the GOP Senate Campaign Committee is Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois. Dirksen made it clear during the Army-McCarthy hearings that he is firmly on the side of the Sen. from Wisconsin.

These are the people who will be busy at the grass roots as soon as Congress adjourns. The President himself will be leaving for Denver for a long holiday, perhaps six to eight weeks, during which he will make some carefully selected appearances.

Democrats regard the Nixon speech as an attempt to forestall them from using the issue of "Who lost Indo-China?" In the manner that Republicans have used the "Who Lost China?" question. They are preparing to meet the kind of campaign indicated by the speech and they have little belief that the President can or will deflect its course.

From the point of view of foreign policy, it was noted also that the vice president's speech emphasized every point of difference between the eminent British visitors and the White House. Churchill's complaint has long been that the Acheson-Truman policy was too tough on Communism.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Buttons and Bows—One-Two Punch

By Allen Edee

Buttons and Bows are B. R. Dunn's one-two punch on the hunt.

The two liver and white Springer Spaniels are companionable one-year-old sisters who hunt together as well as they play.

Bows will fan out far ahead of hunter Dunn of 3502 P in her exuberance while the slower more methodical Buttons keeps close to her master.

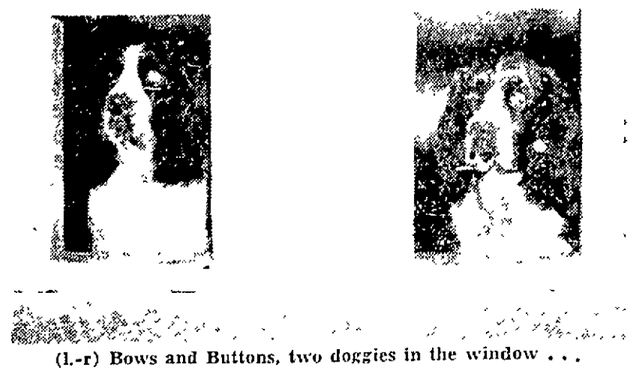

The two make a grand hunting team until it is time for the retrieve. Then it is no Alphonse and Gaston act. The first one to the bird is the one who proudly brings the game to Dunn.

The winner of the race for the retrieve is usually Bows, whose habitual hunting way ahead of the hunter allows her first shot at the game. And if Buttons should get the game before Bows reaches it, the latter sometimes grabs it out of Button's mouth and races toward Dunn with an innocent satisfied air.

One thing the dogs will not do is to bring back the game together.

Buttons and Bows have been hunting together since they first went out with Dunn. The dogs had no training prior to their first hunt, but performed through their natural ability.

Dunn recalls that Bows retrieved the first pigeon on that hunt. The second bird Dunn went after really frustrated Buttons. The hunter failed to hit the bird.

Dunn, who is secretary of the board of Wyuka Cemetery, keeps his dogs penned in his back yard except when he himself is home.

When 5 p.m. nears, Dunn can see his impatient spaniels waiting for him. The two wild ones leap with joy at the sight of Dunn. And for 15 minutes after the master opens the pen the dogs excitedly jump on him and lap at his heels.

The dogs are also ready to go for a daily 7 a.m. walk. After a brisk workout in the morning, the two dogs curl up in their converted chicken coop that provides a perfect home for the dogs.

At night, two lined boxes are available for sleeping quarters for the dogs. But both dogs will not leave each other even in their sleep. They both sleep in the same box.

Buttons and Bows are two of a large litter of 11. Dunn picked the females because "they are easier to train and handle."

Dunn believes that male dogs are too headstrong. "You want dogs to do what you tell them to do," he said.

Wise Men And Fools

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We have always heard that wise people change their minds, but a fool never. So we may all have to change our minds some. Mr. Churchill has seen some grim realities that we have not. His nation was once the ruler of the seas, if not the world. It was the "capital of capitalism." The Bank of England and the Family of Rothchild furnished the money for everything. The colonies of England formed an empire on which the sun never set. And the House of Lords ruled almost everything. The House of Commons was not much for a long time, but the world moves.

Churchill believed in the British Empire. At one time he said he was not called to office to disband the empire, but time marches on. He was called upon to give up British India, and we urged it. But now we object to France's giving up her colonies. Churchill has given up ruling and would much prefer to get along with people. We are very much in the place England used to be—we have the best part of the world, not because we made it so, but because we got here first.

We exterminated the Indians and buffalo, then shut out other countries, allowing no more to come, erecting tariff walls to keep them from selling to us. We want no cheap foreign goods or cheap foreign labor. We are the only capitalist nation left, and rather think we should rule the world as England did. Possibly Churchill has seen the light. His country was nearly bombed to death. England had to go hungry. We have never had anything like that, so about all we worry about is what to do with surpluses, what to do with McCarthy, what to do with public power—and how to get into office and stay there. Most of us have to worry about the almighty dollar and haven't much time to think of anything else. But will we travel the same road that England followed?

We haven't a House of Lords, but if we find we can put only rich men in our Senate—those who are worth a million or more—could we expect them to legislate or plan any different than to conclude what is good for General Motors is good for all? Maybe we should change our minds, too. Maybe China needs French possessions more than we do. And if we win a war, we lose.

Stuck In A Bush

If a lot of defunct motorists had been inside a rose bush looking out in the first place, they would not now be under the daisies looking up, according to an organization called Motor Vehicle Research, Inc., of South Lee, N.H.

The organization, which devotes a considerable time to finding out why folks get hurt when they abandon shoeleather for tire treads, didn't put it in exactly those words. What it really said was that automobile accident injuries might be reduced to zero if multiflora rose bushes were planted along the highways where motorists are inclined to take off across the country instead of sticking to the macadam.

The multiflora roses, it seems, grow as much as 10 feet high in thickly netted hedges. Just testing, the research people hit one of those hedges in a car at 30 miles and hour, and got stopped in 11 feet. Nobody got hurt. It was one of the few times on record when anybody has hit anything at 30 miles an hour and smelled roses before they smelled ether.

Entirely aside from the shock-absorbing properties of the rose bushes, there is a great deal of merit on the psychological side for the hedge-planting proposal. The safest bit of driving I have ever done was on a winding gravel road beside the Klamath River in northern California, when the blackberries were ripe along the roadside. After one stop, which included involvement with the berry thorns while attempting to gather some berries, I would rather have matched radiators face to face with a logging truck than run off that road. Besides, the scratches kept me alert.

There is something about the certainty of running into a thorn patch that is far more discouraging than the idea of enfolding a telephone pole.

"I'll bet they could carry the idea a little farther with a great deal of success, too, by fastening roofing tacks along the center lanes of all streets and highways. It would be a sure dissuader for the oncoming motorist who drives with his fenders over on your side of the highway. If it didn't cure him the first time, it would the second.

☆ ☆ ☆

Getting back to this multiflora hedge business, however, I'm not so sure it would be a first-class idea, after all. Plant roses along the roads, and the first thing you know the motor car people would be developing a thornproof finish on their cars so forgetful husbands who suddenly remember an anniversary on their way home could just swerve off the highway, plow through a hedge, and arrive home with a car full of roses.

It would take delicate timing, though. Imagine hitting the hedge before getting up enough speed to go through it. It would be awfully hard to make an indignant wife believe you didn't get home all night because you were stuck in the middle of a rose bush.

The only thing harder would be getting out of the rose bush in order to go home and explain.

Those Neighbors To The South

Probably in no other area of the world is there more unity among the American people than in connection with developments in the South and Central American republics. We might wish for more understanding. We might hope for greater stability. But whether it be Guatemala, some other Central or South American government, there is a natural feeling here that there is no place for Communism here in the western hemisphere for an outcropping of the Communist program for world aggression.

The swift changes in the battle for Guatemala give assurance that the worst is over, but there can be no relaxation nor freedom from apprehension until a measure of stability replaces the unrest which frequently asserts itself.

There has been an increasing understanding in the attitude of the United States toward the neighboring republics. Successively the Platt amendment was repealed, then Teddy Roosevelt's corollary to the Monroe Doctrine was abandoned, and Woodrow Wilson's unilateral doctrine of non-recognition was junked. We pulled Marines out of Nicaragua and Haiti, Marines ostensibly there to preserve order. On the more constructive side there have been successful conferences with these neighbors for mutual defense and assistance.

Yet looking back, it seems that we have ignored the obvious and probably the most essential step to improve the ties binding the peoples of the western hemisphere. We have not aided these Latin Americans in steps to promote, increase, or even hold their economies. In the five years between 1945 and 1950 out of 25 billions in grants and credits to foreign countries, only 1.8 per cent went to Latin America, while direct capital investments from the United States was less than a billion.

Probably there is no tonic for hemisphere solidarity, for mutual defense and for democratic integrity than a sound economic foundation in Latin America.

But today we are united in our attitude which suggests there is hope for the future.

Form, Not Substance

The new wheat has begun to flow into Nebraska's bins and elevators. The golden flood marks the beginning of the 1954 agricultural production season. As the summer moves on, the flow of wheat will cease and there will be inpourings of oats, barley and other small grains, finally soybeans, corn and other late-year harvests. When it is all in and matched against the market prices, Nebraska will finally know how prosperous was 1954. So far, so good. The crops must be raised first and the start is reassuring.

In Nebraska first interest is always in producing the crop. The economics of agriculture take second place and the politics runs third. But sooner or later, whatever the abundance of foodstuff raised, the conditions of the market and of the federal farm program must be considered.

At this time the political debate is the Department of Agriculture's proposed methods for dealing with surplus production. Secretary Benson would like to supply flexible price supports and other austerities to discourage production, reduce the federal investment in surplus food stuffs and probably, too, to give the great urban populations a bargain in food prices.

Against his method are the proponents of high fixed price supports. These people look at the finest food production program the world ever has known. They do not want it broken down nor the operators of it impoverished.

There are mixed feelings in agriculture itself over the two methods.

But as one views the first fruits of another great annual harvest, a few things become clear. The debate is over form and not substance. Methods are only a means to an end and the end is the target of intention. Before the verdict is brought in on the Benson program, its intention should be clearly identified and weighed.

No method is any good that tends to destroy the producer or the production apparatus. Whether fixed or flexible price supports are adopted, there is one thing that has to be stipulated to protect the nation against hardship. The method, whatever it is, must assure agriculture a solvency return.

That one guarantee is the thing that has not yet appeared convincingly enough in Mr. Benson's program. If he would add it as a firm clause in his projected program, he would calm most of the fears and doubts in this great food-producing region.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Over much of that vast region called the Great North American Plains, there is a whale of a lot of truth that it never rains but that it pours. Here was Texas, a huge state, sections of it struggling painfully against four years of drought. And the news columns told of a deluge ranging up to as high as 22 inches, just short of two feet of water on every square foot where that torrential downpour occurred.

★

When this was written, the news columns reported that dry canyons had been turned into raging torrents, costing the lives of those in their paths, and a historic flood was moving down the Rio Grande. It promised an acid test for Falcon Dam on the Rio Grande, with a reservoir capacity in excess of 4,000,000 acre-feet, a capacity untested because the prolonged drought had left less than 500,000 acre-feet in the reservoir. Engineers were confident that the big dam would strut its stuff, impound much if not all of the flood water, and leave the Rio Grande in the lush rich valley below a tamed river. It made us think of the storm, centered chiefly in Kansas in 1951, which caused so much flood damage to Kansas City. That storm had a great deal of drama. It had started off the coast of California, slowly gathering force. It jumped the intervening mountain ranges and sat down in the Kaw Valley. April had been a dry month there, May more nearly normal, June brought daily rains and showers. And then in early July that cloud opened up and over a 6,000-square-mile area from 12 to as high as 22 inches of water fell in a 48-hour period.

A Genuine Test For Falcon

Kansas City reeled under the impact of the flood which descended upon it, fed chiefly by the waters of Kansas streams but further aggravated by the flooded tributaries feeding into the Missouri in various other areas.

★

There is some consolation in these matters of storms which experts describe as "storms of a century." The Pick-Sloan plan for mainsteam development on the Missouri has been subjected to a lot of criticism, much of it misinformed and confused. Ft. Peck, with its 135-mile lake, has a storage capacity on the upper Missouri in excess of 9,000,000 acre-feet, more than double Falcon. Ft. Randall in North Dakota, a huge dam, has a capacity of 22,000,000 acre-feet, more than five times that of Falcon. Oahe, in South Dakota, with a majority of the work yet to be finshed, when completed will take care of an approximate 21,000,000 acre-feet. That is five times the storage capacity provided by the Rio Grande dam. And Garrison, another huge structure, not in magnitude matching either Randall or Oahe, nevertheless exceeds Falcon in storage capacity. Then there is Gavins Point, more in the nature of a regulating installation, but nevertheless contributing its share. All in all, these great dams on the upper Missouri will take care of an approximate 50,000,000 acre-feet of water, a flood control program of a magnitude beckoning to man's imagination.

Big Muddy Protection Upstream

There were those black nights in 1952 when men battled desperately in Omaha and Council Bluffs to plug the levy against a pounding flood that originated just as dramatically in the run-off of melting snows in the northern Great Plains, a runoff intensified by the fact that earth frozen to the depth of six feet covered by a thick ice sheet lay underneath a snow blanket ranging in depth from 20 to 80 inches, an unusually wet snow blanket with an inch of snow water for every six inches of snow. There is a measure of security in those great dams which will serve to stabilize the flow of an unruly steram in good season and bad. Chances are that the deep snows of the mountains and the torrential downpours of spring and summer in the upper Great North American Plains will find themselves imprisoned, and instead of wreaking destruction downstream, will be made to serve usefuily.

What Cost Reduction?

The Senate this week opened debate on the administration's tax bill — a measure aimed at lightening the load on the taxpayers.

Everyone is for tax relief and the Senate, as well as the administration, feels the pressure of an election year. There is a greater danger of an unrealistic slash in federal revenue than there is of overburdening the taxpayers. It will be a false economy and an ultimate disappointment if the debate does not weigh all of the facts and shape a revenue law that guarantees soundness in federal financing.

It was not the most encouraging news a week ago to learn that the Federal Reserve had decreased the requirement of member bank reserves. This came at a time when banking said it already had enough loan capital to handle the demand, plus a safe margin. The release of some nine billion in lending power was significantly accompanied by an announcement that the Treasury will soon go into the market for $10 billion for immediate cash needs.

If the Treasury is operating off a cash basis or near to that point there are implications that government management is not making the best of its opportunities. It costs money to borrow. It costs more that way than to levy taxes sufficiently to operate with a sound cash reserve. The debaters might probe that. There is not much point in achieving a tax reduction that in the long run will cost the taxpayer more than he saves.

Makeshift Poll

Professional poll-takers probe public reaction with an elaborate organization and a large force of computers. We offer here a simpler one, albeit easier for the reader to interpret. Recently a Wynantskill, N. Y. luncheon club held an auction to raise money for a good cause. Among the donations to be sold was Sen. McCarthy's new book, "McCarthyism—The Fight For America"—a hockey stick, and a baseball autographed by members of the New York Giants baseball team. The baseball sold for $7.25, the hockey stick for $1.50 and McCarthy's book for $1.25.

K.C.'S MOST-LOVED MAN

Sentiment has changed a lot around Kansas City regarding Harry Truman. There was a time, about two years ago, when the little K.C. haberdasher who became president of the United States was criticized and scoffed at up and down the streets of the city that sent him to Washington . . . but not today. Today, he is the most-loved man in Kansas City . . Some people thought he could never settle down in the ol' home town after the glamor of Washington, after a private yacht on the Potomac, a retinue of servants and bodyguards. But he has settled down as comfortably as in an old shoe . . . Some of Truman's friends raised a little money to hire a bodyguard for his days as ex-President, but Harry hasn't needed him, doesn't want him . . . And if anyone around Kansas City ever thought of touching a hair of Harry Truman's head, no police could ever protect him . . . HST once confided to Garrett Smalley of the Kansas City News Press the reason why he didn't have air cooling in the White House. "I don't mind air cooling," he said, "but if I had it in here people would stay too long." . . . It was Mrs. Truman who overruled her husband's old-fashioned views on air cooling the other day and insisted that the hospital move him from Kansas City's 100-degree heat in an ordinary room, into an air-cooled room.

LOYALTY CAUSED TROUBLES

When I was in Kansas City last January interviewing the former President for television he told me something that illustrates his ideas about gratitude and friends. Perhaps also it shows some comparisons with the McCarthy committee.

It's not exactly a secret that for a long time President Truman had no great regard for me, but, it was not known how far he sometimes carried that "lack of affection." Once, however, he almost turned thumbs down on Clayton Fritchey for a position on the White House staff because Fritchey knew me.

I had known Fritchey first when he was on the Cleveland Press, later as editor of the New Orleans Item, later as public-relations adviser to the secretary of defense. But when Fritchey came up for appointment as a White House secretary, Howard McGrath, then attorney general, warned the President that Fritchey and I were friends.

So Harry Truman asked Fritchey how well he knew me. "Of course Pearson is a friend of mine," Clayton replied. "But that isn't going to interfere with my work. You have your friends too, some of whom I may not approve of, but I'm not going to ask you to give up your friends."

Truman's loyalty to friends of course was what caused him more trouble than anything else in the White House. Clayton got the job.

NOTABLE MEMORY

Last January, about three years later, I was in Harry Truman's office in Kansas City. It is lined with books, chiefly history books. He had been reading the works of previous presidents, even as he did while in the White House, and was dictating his own memoirs. Every day, he said, he dictated a chapter or so of his book, then had a staff of research men, who had been looking over his records, pull it to pieces, check it backward and forward, to make sure every detail jibed.

The ex-President seemed relaxed, happy, very much at home. He didn't seem to miss the glamor, the excitement of Washington at all—which is rare for a man who has spent a third of a century in politics.

Neither Mr. Truman nor I mentioned any of the unpleasantness that had sometimes marked our lives in Washington. But after the TV interview was over, he made a remark which indicates how long his memory is and also indicates some contrasts with the methods of the McCarthy committee.

"You don't remember it," he said, "but a long time ago you wrote a story about me. You said a new committee had been formed to investigate military preparedness and efficiency. You said that a new chairman named Truman was in charge of that committee and that he made it a point to check on the war effort without upsetting the government, that he took things up with the executive branch of the government to see if things couldn't be straightened out privately before he resorted to publicity.

"That was what I was trying to do," continued Truman. "I used to go down to see Roosevelt and tell him about a situation, and he would take out a pencil and make a note of it. And a week or so later he would report that the situation was straightened out or sometimes he'd say 'We haven't been able to straighten it out, go ahead and investigate.

Nixon Puts Foreign Policy Into Campaign

WASHINGTON — While President Eisenhower was striving last week end to rally all of Congress behind an Anglo-American salvage policy in Indo-China, Vice President Nixon was forcing foreign policy into the fall campaign.

The vice president told a Republican fund-raising dinner in Senator McCarthy's state of Wisconsin that "The Acheson policy was directly responsible for the loss of China. And if China had not been lost, there would have been no war in Korea and there would be no war in Indo-China today."

A check of the circumstances of the speech, the reactions to it of the Republican political management, and related matters, show that the speech was not an isolated and accidental development by the considered party line.

The vice president's Wisconsin engagement was of long standing and he delivered a carefully prepared, written speech, copies of which were handed to the Republican National Committee for distribution. Mr. Nixon usually prefers to speak off the cuff from a few notes.

Officials of the national committee have telephoned him their congratulations and have assured him the response was "terrific." Barbed criticisms of the speech which appeared in eastern newspapers did not appear to bother this headquarters for Republican doctrine.

The idea was frankly expressed that "sure, there is three or four more years mileage on Acheson; after all, the Democrats ran for 20 years against Hoover." Nothing along this line, it was said, would be considered too "old hat" for use in 1954, and it was contended that the political logic of the situation still put Acheson on the firing line.

The vice president also included in his address the charge that "over 2,400 security risks" have been removed from the federal employment. This figure has been thoroughly discredited, and the White House has backed away from it.

He held up the spectre of the "ADA left-wingers" taking over in 1956 if Republicans lose the Congress in 1954. His examples of this dread alternative were James Roosevelt and Rep. Robert Condon of California, Democratic congressional candidates repudiated by Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell.

☆ ☆ ☆

This kind of thing is called here "McCarthy in a white shirt." The President has said the Republican party should not use McCarthy in the campaign.

However, the chairman of the House Republican congressional campaign, Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, had something to say about that last week-end. Communism, asserted Mr. Simpson, will definitely be an election issue and Sen. McCarthy "will prove to be an asset to the Republican party . . . We can elect more Republicans if we use McCarthy."

Mr. Simpson's counterpart on the GOP Senate Campaign Committee is Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois. Dirksen made it clear during the Army-McCarthy hearings that he is firmly on the side of the Sen. from Wisconsin.

These are the people who will be busy at the grass roots as soon as Congress adjourns. The President himself will be leaving for Denver for a long holiday, perhaps six to eight weeks, during which he will make some carefully selected appearances.

Democrats regard the Nixon speech as an attempt to forestall them from using the issue of "Who lost Indo-China?" In the manner that Republicans have used the "Who Lost China?" question. They are preparing to meet the kind of campaign indicated by the speech and they have little belief that the President can or will deflect its course.

From the point of view of foreign policy, it was noted also that the vice president's speech emphasized every point of difference between the eminent British visitors and the White House. Churchill's complaint has long been that the Acheson-Truman policy was too tough on Communism.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Buttons and Bows—One-Two Punch

By Allen Edee

Buttons and Bows are B. R. Dunn's one-two punch on the hunt.

The two liver and white Springer Spaniels are companionable one-year-old sisters who hunt together as well as they play.

Bows will fan out far ahead of hunter Dunn of 3502 P in her exuberance while the slower more methodical Buttons keeps close to her master.

The two make a grand hunting team until it is time for the retrieve. Then it is no Alphonse and Gaston act. The first one to the bird is the one who proudly brings the game to Dunn.

The winner of the race for the retrieve is usually Bows, whose habitual hunting way ahead of the hunter allows her first shot at the game. And if Buttons should get the game before Bows reaches it, the latter sometimes grabs it out of Button's mouth and races toward Dunn with an innocent satisfied air.

One thing the dogs will not do is to bring back the game together.

Buttons and Bows have been hunting together since they first went out with Dunn. The dogs had no training prior to their first hunt, but performed through their natural ability.

Dunn recalls that Bows retrieved the first pigeon on that hunt. The second bird Dunn went after really frustrated Buttons. The hunter failed to hit the bird.

Dunn, who is secretary of the board of Wyuka Cemetery, keeps his dogs penned in his back yard except when he himself is home.

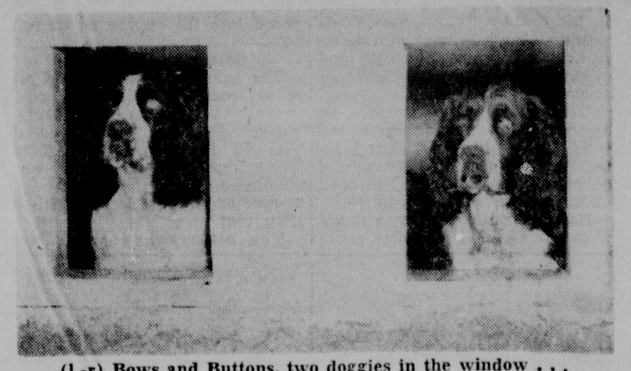

When 5 p.m. nears, Dunn can see his impatient spaniels waiting for him. The two wild ones leap with joy at the sight of Dunn. And for 15 minutes after the master opens the pen the dogs excitedly jump on him and lap at his heels.

The dogs are also ready to go for a daily 7 a.m. walk. After a brisk workout in the morning, the two dogs curl up in their converted chicken coop that provides a perfect home for the dogs.

At night, two lined boxes are available for sleeping quarters for the dogs. But both dogs will not leave each other even in their sleep. They both sleep in the same box.

Buttons and Bows are two of a large litter of 11. Dunn picked the females because "they are easier to train and handle."

Dunn believes that male dogs are too headstrong. "You want dogs to do what you tell them to do," he said.

Wise Men And Fools

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We have always heard that wise people change their minds, but a fool never. So we may all have to change our minds some. Mr. Churchill has seen some grim realities that we have not. His nation was once the ruler of the seas, if not the world. It was the "capital of capitalism." The Bank of England and the Family of Rothchild furnished the money for everything. The colonies of England formed an empire on which the sun never set. And the House of Lords ruled almost everything. The House of Commons was not much for a long time, but the world moves.

Churchill believed in the British Empire. At one time he said he was not called to office to disband the empire, but time marches on. He was called upon to give up British India, and we urged it. But now we object to France's giving up her colonies. Churchill has given up ruling and would much prefer to get along with people. We are very much in the place England used to be—we have the best part of the world, not because we made it so, but because we got here first.

We exterminated the Indians and buffalo, then shut out other countries, allowing no more to come, erecting tariff walls to keep them from selling to us. We want no cheap foreign goods or cheap foreign labor. We are the only capitalist nation left, and rather think we should rule the world as England did. Possibly Churchill has seen the light. His country was nearly bombed to death. England had to go hungry. We have never had anything like that, so about all we worry about is what to do with surpluses, what to do with McCarthy, what to do with public power—and how to get into office and stay there. Most of us have to worry about the almighty dollar and haven't much time to think of anything else. But will we travel the same road that England followed?

We haven't a House of Lords, but if we find we can put only rich men in our Senate—those who are worth a million or more—could we expect them to legislate or plan any different than to conclude what is good for General Motors is good for all? Maybe we should change our minds, too. Maybe China needs French possessions more than we do. And if we win a war, we lose.

Stuck In A Bush

If a lot of defunct motorists had been inside a rose bush looking out in the first place, they would not now be under the daisies looking up, according to an organization called Motor Vehicle Research, Inc., of South Lee, N.H.

The organization, which devotes a considerable time to finding out why folks get hurt when they abandon shoeleather for tire treads, didn't put it in exactly those words. What it really said was that automobile accident injuries might be reduced to zero if multiflora rose bushes were planted along the highways where motorists are inclined to take off across the country instead of sticking to the macadam

The multiflora roses, it seems, grow as much as 10 feet high in thickly netted hedges. Just testing, the research people hit one of those hedges in a car at 30 miles and hour, and got stopped in 11 feet. Nobody got hurt. It was one of the few times on record when anybody has hit anything at 30 miles an hour and smelled roses before they smelled ether.

☆ ☆ ☆

Entirely aside from the shock-absorbing properties of the rose bushes, there is a great deal of merit on the psychological side for the hedge-planting proposal. The safest bit of driving I have ever done was on a winding gravel road beside the Klamath River in northern California, when the blackberries were ripe along the roadside. After one stop, which included involvement with the berry thorns while attempting to gather some berries, I would rather have matched radiators face to face with a logging truck than run off that road. Besides, the scratches kept me alert.

There is something about the certainty of running into a thorn patch that is far more discouraging than the idea of enfolding a telephone pole.

"I'll bet they could carry the idea a little farther with a great deal of success, too, by fastening roofing tacks along the center lanes of all streets and highways. It would be a sure dissuader for the oncoming motorist who drives with his fenders over on your side of the highway. If it didn't cure him the first time, it would the second.

☆ ☆ ☆

Getting back to this multiflora hedge business, however, I'm not so sure it would be a first-class idea, after all. Plant roses along the roads, and the first thing you know the motor car people would be developing a thorn-proof finish on their cars so forgetful husbands who suddenly remember an anniversary on their way home could just swerve off the highway, plow through a hedge, and arrive home with a car full of roses.

It would take delicate timing, though. Imagine hitting the hedge before getting up enough speed to go through it. It would be awfully hard to make an indignant wife believe you didn't get home all night because you were stuck in the middle of a rose bush.

The only thing harder would be getting out of the rose bush in order to go home and explain.

Western Storage Space Seems Adequate

Harvesting Starts At David City

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

Pre-harvest indications that the wheat storage situation in the major wheat-producing sections of western Nebraska would be much better than elsewhere in the state seem about to be born out in fact.

In comparison with the "no room left" comments from elevator men in eastern Nebraska since the 1954 wheat harvest started, the word from western areas sounded much more hopeful Wednesday. At Imperial, for instance, an elevator manager said, "we have plenty of storage here, and maybe even an excess."

He estimated that at least 75 per cent of the wheat producers would have enough storage on their own farms to care for their new wheat if they desired to store it there. This change in the storage picture resulted partly from a local boom in storage construction and from an estimated greatly reduced wheat output in many counties.

Imperial Crop Down

The Imperial elevator man said he has estimated the Chase County production to be down 50 per cent from last year, because of a 27 per cent cut in acreage allotments, and an equal amount of the crop lost of winds.

The harvest in the Imperial area is not expected to get started before Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. But in Trenton just southeast of there, the Trenton Co-op Elevator has received the first wheat of the season. The early loads, testing fairly moist, came from Robert Hidy, Lydia George and Paul Roose. The storage at Trenton was also expected to be adequate.

At Cambridge the harvest was described as well under way, with the new wheat testing between 50 and 60 pounds on the average. The crop there, one elevator man said, will run about average this year, with widely varying conditions between fields. There was some elevator storage available there, but most of the new crop was being stored on the farms.

Some Shrivelled Wheat

In the eastern end of the state the line of harvest was swinging rapidly northward. Thursday it had reached the David City area where the first load was brought in by Mrs. Jake DeMuth from a bottomland farm north of town. The wheat tested well with 59½ pounds and 11½ per cent moisture. Robert Brubaugh, manager of the Farmer's Elevator there said there was a great deal of shrivelled wheat in the area.

Wilfred Medinger of the Farmers' Co-op Elevator at Hampton said the first load of wheat was brought there by Herbert Wall. This wheat tested 12 per cent moisture at 58 pounds. The crop around there was described as about average with some black rust cutting yields. Fields which were further along were doing well on yields.

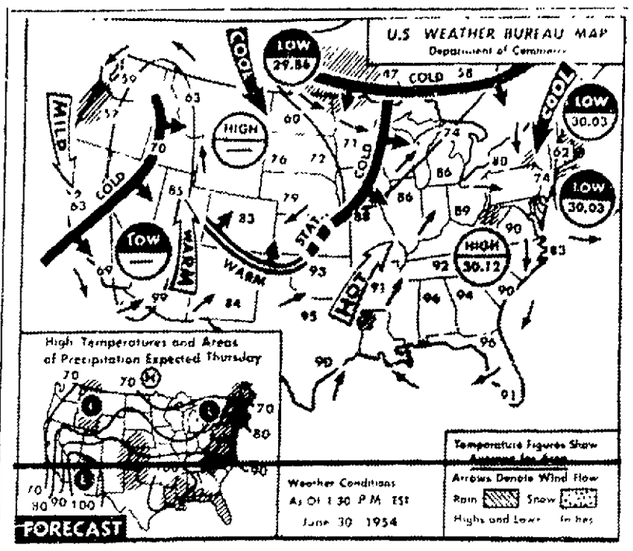

Custom combine crews and migratory harvest labor are beginning to move into south central Nebraska, but the demand for both machines and labor has been light so far.

More than enough combines and laborers are entering the state to meet the demand, the report said.

Hastings reported harvesting is scattered so far in that area, the Associated Press said.

Holdrege reported cutting in Phelps and Harlan Counties has begun and will be general by July 4.

McCook reported 47 combines passed through the port of entry there Monday.

Relief Short—Warmer Forecast

Showers are expected Thursday in northern Plateau region and New England states. Thunderstorms are likely over the southern Plains, lower Mississippi Valley and east Gulf Coast region with possibility of afternoon thunderstorms over the middle Atlantic states. It will be somewhat cooler in the Ohio and Tennessee Valley, the Lower Lakes region and the middle Atlantic states. Warmer weather is forecast for the northern and central Plains and cooler over the Columbia plateau. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Flood Damage Inventory Sent To Governor

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Richardson County commissioners have sent an inventory to Gov. Robert Crosby, listing $217,000 in damages to county bridges and roads from the June 17 flood.

The damage inventory was intended to refute the report of an inspection team which said that the flood in southeastern Nebraska did not constitute an "emergency."

The commissioners listed the cost of repairing steel bridges at $144,000; replacing wood brieges, $10,000; repairing bridges, $30,000, and repairing roads, $32 400.

County Engineer Ben Dale estimated that, in addition to the bridge loss and damage, floods washed gravel off about 103 miles of roads.

Tree Slows Baby's Second Story Fall

OMAHA (AP) — Nine-month-old Donald Brooks of Omaha tried a new version of falling out of a tree and was alive Wednesday because of it.

Donald fell from the tree onto a hard cinder drive after tumbling out of a second-story window. Doctors credited the branches of the tree with slowing his fall and probably saving him from more serious injury or death.

He ended up with a broken leg. Donald is the son of Mrs. Maxine Brooks.

Coonrad Answered On Tax Schedules

BROKEN BOW Neb. (AP) — Chairman L. G. Hatfield of the Custer County Board of Supervisors Wednesday declared it's not necessary that tax schedules be inspected for omitted property before equalization is over.

"The law provides that omitted property may be added to a schedule at any time plus a 50 per cent penalty, and that it also may be checked back for the past three years and brought up to date plus the 50 per cent penalty," he said.

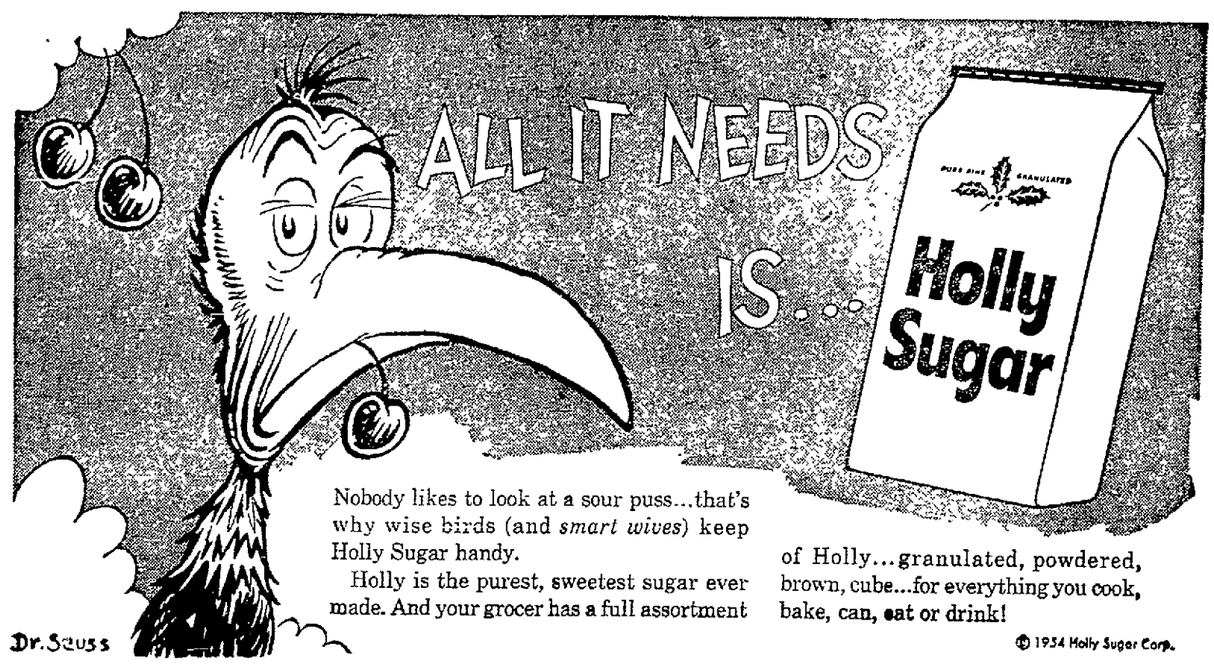

Hatfield's statement came in reply to criticism by State Liquor Commission Chairman Tal Coonrad, a former Custer County supervisor, who said he would "make an issue" of the board's refusal to let him examine personal property assessment returns of other taxpayers in the County.

Hatfield said it is the policy of the board not to require the county assessor to make the tax schedules public until after the final tabulations are completed.

"I wish to say that the tabulating of all the schedules in a county the size of Custer is a big job," Hatfield said in a statement. "It would cause much confusion in the office of the assessor if the public were also granted the privilege of going through the schedules during this limited period of time, since they must be completed and in the hands of the state auditor by July 1."

Western Storage Space Seems Adequate

Harvesting Starts At David City

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

Pre-harvest indications that the wheat storage situation in the major wheat-producing sections of western Nebraska would be much better than elsewhere in the state seem about to be born out in fact.

In comparison with the "no room left" comments from elevator men in eastern Nebraska since the 1954 wheat harvest started, the word from western areas sounded much more hopeful Wednesday. At Imperial, for instance, an elevator manager said, "we have plenty of storage here, and maybe even an excess."

He estimated that at least 75 per cent of the wheat producers would have enough storage on their own farms to care for their new wheat if they desired to store it there. This change in the storage picture resulted partly from a local boom in storage construction and from an estimated greatly reduced wheat output in many counties.

Imperial Crop Down

The Imperial elevator man said he has estimated the Chase County production to be down 50 per cent from last year, because of a 27 per cent cut in acreage allotments, and an equal amount of the crop lost of winds.

The harvest in the Imperial area is not expected to get started before Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. But in Trenton just southeast of there, the Trenton Co-op Elevator has received the first wheat of the season. The early loads, testing fairly moist, came from Robert Hidy, Lydia George and Paul Roose. The storage at Trenton was also expected to be adequate.

At Cambridge the harvest was described as well under way, with the new wheat testing between 50 and 60 pounds on the average. The crop there, one elevator man said, will run about average this year, with widely varying conditions between fields. There was some elevator storage available there, but most of the new crop was being stored on the farms.

Some Shrivelled Wheat

In the eastern end of the state the line of harvest was swinging rapidly northward. Thursday it had reached the David City area where the first load was brought in by Mrs. Jake DeMuth from a bottomland farm north of town. The wheat tested well with 59½ pounds and 11½ per cent moisture. Robert Brubaugh, manager of the Farmer's Elevator there said there was a great deal of shrivelled wheat in the area.

Wilfred Medinger of the Farmers' Co-op Elevator at Hampton said the first load of wheat was brought there by Herbert Wall. This wheat tested 12 per cent moisture at 58 pounds. The crop around there was described as about average with some black rust cutting yields. Fields which were further along were doing well on yields.

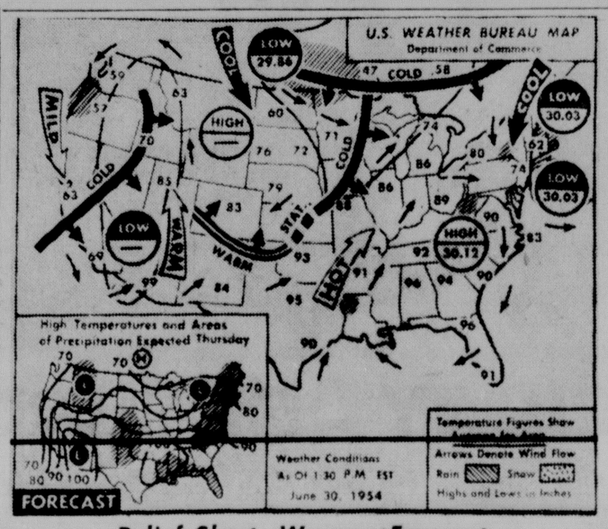

Custom combine crews and migratory harvest labor are beginning to move into south central Nebraska, but the demand for both machines and labor has been light so far.

More than enough combines and laborers are entering the state to meet the demand, the report said.

Hastings reported harvesting is scattered so far in that area, the Associated Press said.

Holdrege reported cutting in Phelps and Harlan Counties has begun and will be general by July 4.

McCook reported 47 combines passed through the port of entry there Monday.

Relief Short—Warmer Forecast

Showers are expected Thursday in northern Plateau region and New England states. Thunderstorms are likely over the southern Plains, lower Mississippi Valley and east Gulf Coast region with possibility of afternoon thunderstorms over the middle Atlantic states. It will be somewhat cooler in the Ohio and Tennessee Valley, the Lower Lakes region and the middle Atlantic states. Warmer weather is forecast for the northern and central Plains and cooler over the Columbia plateau. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Flood Damage Inventory Sent To Governor

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Richardson County commissioners have sent an inventory to Gov. Robert Crosby, listing $217,000 in damages to county bridges and roads from the June 17 flood.

The damage inventory was intended to refute the report of an inspection team which said that the flood in southeastern Nebraska did not constitute an "emergency."

The commissioners listed the cost of repairing steel bridges at $144,000; replacing wood briges, $10,000; repairing bridges, $30,000, and repairing roads, $32,400.

County Engineer Ben Dale estimated that, in addition to the bridge loss and damage, floods washed gravel off about 103 miles of roads.

Tree Slows Baby's Second Story Fall

OMAHA (AP) — Nine-month-old Donald Brooks of Omaha tried a new version of falling out of a tree and was alive Wednesday because of it.

Donald fell from the tree onto a hard cinder drive after tumbling out of a second-story window. Doctors credited the branches of the tree with slowing his fall and probably saving him from more serious injury or death.

He ended up with a broken leg. Donald is the son of Mrs. Maxine Brooks.

Tree Surgeon Dies From Fall Injuries

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Thursday for Everett B. Morrow, 41, Hastings tree surgeon who died as the result of a fall while trimming trees.

He is survived by his widow and four sons.

Coonrad Answered On Tax Schedules

BROKEN BOW Neb. (AP) — Chairman L. G. Hatfield of the Custer County Board of Supervisors Wednesday declared it's not necessary that tax schedules be inspected for omitted property before equalization is over.

"The law provides that omitted property may be added to a schedule at any time plus a 50 per cent penalty, and that it also may be checked back for the past three years and brought up to date plus the 50 per cent penalty," he said.

Hatfield's statement came in reply to criticism by State Liquor Commission Chairman Tal Coonrad, a former Custer County supervisor, who said he would "make an issue" of the board's refusal to let him examine personal property assessment returns of other taxpayers in the County.

Hatfield said it is the policy of the board not to require the county assessor to make the tax schedules public until after the final tabulations are completed.

"I wish to say that the tabulating of all the schedules in a county the size of Custer is a big job," Hatfield said in a statement. "It would cause much confusion in the office of the assessor if the public were also granted the privilege of going through the schedules during this limited period of time, since they must be completed and in the hands of the state auditor by July 1."

Eclipse Observers See 'Awe Inspiring Spectacle'

Clear Skies Most Areas Aided View

Thousands of Nebraskans were among the millions who watched an eclipse of the sun early Wednesday.

Starting at O'Neill, Neb., where approximately half of the town's residents and out-of-town visitors including scientists were on hill tops, the eclipse raced from northeast Nebraska across one third of the world to India.

For the sky watchers, it was a once in a lifetime chance to see the moon pass between the sun and the earth.

The eclipse, total in parts of five states, was partially visible through most of the United States except in the West.

Obeservers at O'Neill, where skies were clear for the viewers, said the eclipse was an "awe inspiring spectacle."

Magnificent Sunrise

First, they said, came a magnificent sunrise. Then as the moon blocked out the sun's rays completely at 5:07 a.m. for a little over a minute, an inky shadow swept across O'Neill from the southwest to the north.

An Associated Press dispatch from O'Neill said an eerie purple light was cast by the halo formed during the 70 seconds in which the eclipse was at its peak.

"You could see a pale purple haze coming from the south," one O'Neill observer said. "It moved faster toward us. And suddenly we were covered by it."

Nebraska observers, as well as those in other states, watched the sight through smoked glass and film negatives and also used specially equipped cameras to take pictures of the eclipse during its various phases.

Hundreds of Lincoln residents, many pajama-clad, were out at dawn on hills and high places at the edge of the city to get a glimpse of the sky.

Cloudy Here

However most of them were disappointed as a heavy cloud bank in the east obscured the rising sun. The clouds broke for only about two minutes giving the viewers a peek at the moon crossing in front of the sun. The eclipse was 96 per cent complete in the capital city.

Omaha's view, too, was blocked by partly clouuy skies. Later clouds broke up, but the eclipse had already passed.

Alton Blakeslee, Associated Press science reporter who watched the eclipse from a plane over Canada, wrote:

"Suddenly the red-yellow sun flickered out and a minute of rare and awesome beauty was born.

"A black, round moon was centered precisely on our life-giving sun. But there was a new light beautiful, eerie, pearly white glowing around the moinous rim of the moon shooting two irridescent streamers millions of miles into silent space."

Many Chartered Planes

Dozens watched the eclipse from chartered planes over Minneapolis and St. Paul, the only metropolitan area in the path of total eclipse. Observers in in planes said a definite shadow path was visible, with a pink hue lighting the horizon on both sides of the totality strip.

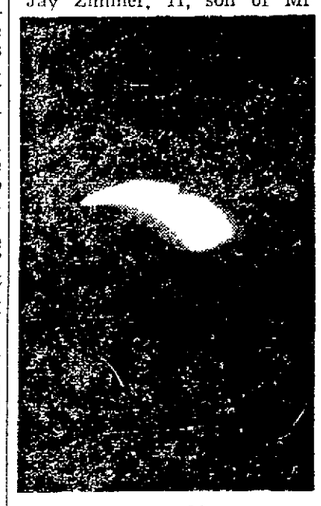

The scientists said observations made at various points along the path of total eclipse will provide more accurate measurements of the earth's surface, including the width of the Atlantic Ocean. The fleet shadow covered the 8,000 mile path in about three hours, starting in Nebraska at 5:07 a.m.

National networks televised the total eclipse in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Sun Rim Shows

The moon covers all but a rim of the sun during Wednesday morning's eclipse. The picture above, taken at 5:10 a.m. shows the sun at the peak of the eclipse as seen in Lincoln. A heavy cloud bank in the east here blocked the eclipse for the hundreds of persons who arose at dawn to witness the spectacle. The phenomonen was seen here for only about two minutes. (Star Photo.)

Bridge Hazards Between Hastings And G.I. Talked

Lincoln Star Special

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. — Elimination of the dangerous bridge hazard between Hastings and Grand Island on Highway 281 was discussed by members of the roads committees of the G. I. and Hastings Chambers of Commerce at a meeting in Grand Island.

The Hastings delegation flew to Grand Island, claiming that "the extremely narrow bridges present a safety hazard that we didn't want to encounter."

It was pointed out that with the completion of the Great Lakes Pipeline Terminal north of Hastings 200 additional gasoline trucks will be operating on Highway 281 with 100 each going to both cities.

It was agreed that the State Highway Commission be invited to a subsequent meeting to be held by the two groups.

Stamp Hobby Aids Postal Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—If more Americans collected stamps as a hobby, the Post Office Department might not end up with a deficit each year.

Rep. Robert Harrison (R-Neb) reported that the department's special division to aid stamp collectors has sold $15 million in stamps, or a 16 per cent increase in the last two years.

Harrison said that the money is all profit since collectors do not use the stamps for sending letters.

Doctor Gets Jail Term On Dope Charge

OMAHA (AP)—Dr. Charles Wells Neill, South Sioux City, Neb., convicted on 11 counts of issuing illegal narcotics prescriptions, Wednesday was sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison.

Federal Judge John W. Delehant sentenced Dr. Neill to identical concurrent prison terms on each of the 11 counts after overruling a motion for a new trial.

The 70-year-old physician was found guilty last Dec. 17 by a federal district court jury.

Two witnesses, described as known addicts, had testified they had gone to South Sioux City with federal agents and had acquired narcotics prescriptions from Dr. Neill.

Judge Delehant noted that Dr. Neill's attorney had offered evidence of his good reputation in the community and that there was no evidence to the contrary presented.

"I have the feeling that justice, even tempered with mercy, in this case requires some incarceration."

A notice of appeal was filed by Dr. Neill's attorney immediately after sentencing.

Judge Delehant set bail pending the action on the appeal at $4,000.

Dr. Neill did not immediately furnish the bond.

Kuykendall Claims Financial Interest In House Trailer

OMAHA (AP) — The famous house trailer in the Kuykendall murder case came back into the news here Wednesday.

Attorneys for Joseph Kuykendall, acquitted on a charge that he beat his wife to death in the trailer in Omaha a year ago, sought to prove in District Court that their client had a financial interest in the vehicle.

District Judge Jackson B. Chase took the case under advisement.

Kuykendall said he gave his wife-to-be, Ardath S. Pratt, three thousand dollars toward the trailer's purchase shortly before their marriage in March, 1953.

OSCEOLA, Neb. (AP)—Polk County commissioners and the hospital board have approved plans for the new county hospital here.

Dr. Charles W. Jeffrey, Rawlins, Wyo., and a former Osceola resident, made the hospital possible by offering to buy $200,000 worth of county bonds to finance the project.

Under the terms of Dr. Jeffrey's offer the money will not be repaid him and the property will go to the county on his death.

The hospital, to be called the Annie Jeffrey Memorial Hospital, will provide space for 22 patients, or up to 32 in an emergency.

A summer drink's like a good parade...

the longer the better!

One band doesn't make a holiday parade. One swallow doesn't make a summer drink, either.

No sir, when you're pining for real hot-weather refreshment, a puny little drink in a pygmy-size glass seems to tease more than please.

Make mine tall and satisfying . . . with a fine, full-flavored whiskey that holds its own amongst the lemons, mixers and melting ice.

In other words, Schenley. The reason I say Schenley is here in this hourglass. The glass itself means Nature's unhurried goodness. The big "S" stands for Schenley's skill. Together, they make Schenley the best-tasting whiskey in ages.

Do drop in on our "Summertime is Schenley time" celebration at your package store or bar . . . and have Schenley on hand for the Fourth.

Ag Prop Compromise At 80-85 Pct. Believed Near

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders were reported near agreement Wednesday on a one-year compromise plan which would keep farm price supports up to 80 or 85 per cent of parity.

That would split the difference between President Eisenhower's demand for a flexible system with a 75 per cent minimum, and many farm legislators' insistence on continuing rigid 90 per cent supports on basic crops.

Party lines were split as members prepared to vote Thursday on the basic conflict between flexible vs. rigid controls, but despite the reports of imminent compromise Democrats insisted 75 per cent of their membership would vote to continue basic crop supports at 90 per cent of parity.

Parity 'Fair' Price Level

Parity is a price level determined by farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to the cost of things they must buy.

The New York State Democratic delegation, composed largely of big-city members on whom both sides had been counting, announced it was backing high farm price supports.

The reported compromise plan would establish the policy of flexibility in the support program, but with a higher minimum floor, somewhere between 80 and 85 per cent of parity, and a 90 per cent maximum. Eisenhower has asked a range from 75 to 90 per cent.

CCC Hike Asked

As the House debated the bill and prepared to vote on its major provisions, there were these other farm developments:

1. The administration asked Congress to raise to 10 billion dollars the borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corp. to finance crop loans and purchases for the support program. The 1½ billion raise would be in addition to a 1 billion increase approved less than four months ago.

2. President Eisenhower, pleading anew for his farm program, told his news conference effects of the present program are damaging both the farmers and the country.

3. Congress completed action on a compromise measure for disposing of a billion dollars' worth of farm surpluses abroad during the next three years.

Teachers College Community Workshop Finishes Work

A workshop session on "Community Education at Work in Nebraska" ended a University of Nebraska Teachers College conference here.

The workshops and their speakers:

"Business Education: Its Special Contribution." Ray G. Price, professor of business education, University of Minnesota.

"Language Arts: Their Responsibility," Sue Arbuthnot, assistant professor, and Mary L. Mielenz associate professor, of the University of Nebraska.

"Mathematics: Its Function." Hazel Davis and Milton Beckman, both assistant professors at the university.

"Science: Its Contribution," Joe Zafforoni and James Rutledge, both assitant professors at the university.

"Social Studies: Their Unique Role." Charles Elmlinger, University instructor, and Edward Vozbut, supervisor of social studies, Teachers College High School.

"Guidance: Its Obligation." Warren R. Baller, professor of educational psychology and measurements at the university.

"Audio-Visual: Appropriate Teaching." Charles Ford.

Willard Beatty, former deputy director of fundamental education in UNESCO, discussed "International Experiments in Community Education."

Virginia Hufstedler, consultant for the Texas Education Agency at Austin, Tex., discussed pupil personnel services.

Speaker at a noon luncheon was Russell Holy, professor of school administration at the University of Kansas City, Mo.

Panhandle REA Line Approved

The Railway Commission Wednesday reported approval of the application of the Panhandle Rural Electric Membership Association of Alliance to build 348 miles of line in Arthur, Box Butte, Cherry, Garden, Grant, McPherson, Morrill, Sheridan and Sioux Counties.

The new line will raise the association's total mileage to more than 1,137 miles.

Southern Nebraska Public Power District of Grand Island received authority to build 55 miles of new line and convert 19 miles of existing line in Phelps, Merrick and Kearney Counties.

The McCook district received authority for 10 miles of additional line in Frontier County.

Renovation Of Old Bryant School Is Studied By Board

The Board of Education has discussed the possibility of renovating the old Bryant School building at 18th and Q for classroom use if demand for school space becomes critical.

Board officials have expressed concern over what might happen if more than the expected number of school children come into Lincoln with Air Force Base personnel.

Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins reported that he and the assistant superintendent in charge of maintenance had looked over the Bryant building and felt it could be put into use if necessary.

Erected in the 1880's, the school was remodeled in 1918 and abandoned for school purposes in 1929. It was later used for Lancaster County relief bureau headquarters and as a public cannery during World War II.

The building is now being used by the school maintenance department. The building is a two-story brick, 70 by 85 feet and has a lot area of 150 by 142 feet.

STAN DELAPLANE'S
POSTCARD

I left Paris on the Fleche d'Or from the Gare du Nord about 12:30 in the afternoon. And the only reason I mention it is to show you how easy it is to drop names.

Travel writers tend to tell you how to go to Europe. Nobody tells you what to do when you come home. A serious oversight.

There is nothing more infuriating than dropping names.

"And then we left the Gare du Nord on the Fleche d'Or.

Don't let the neighbor get a word in edgewise. You smile thoughtfully:

"Fleche d'Or. Rather difficult to translate—one gets used to thinking in French. It means rather like Golden Arrow."

Since this is exactly what it does mean, you score your point. Susie-down-the-street is a yokel. With dishwater hands. To toss her a few lines of culture is pearls to peasants. But we are a kindly sort.

☆ ☆ ☆

The question of what to do when you come home will all be covered in "Better Than Mink," a book which I intend to write on the subject.

Never say "when I was in Europe." The line is: "The last time I was on the Continent."

Air France is "Air Frawnce." And the Hotel George V will naturally be "George Sank." So will the hearts of your audience.

A British accent to the returning traveler is as necessary as the Donegal tweeds you pick up for an Irish song in Duke street.

You heighten the accent by asking the doorman to "press for the lift." Immediately after your friend asks him to "ring for the elevator."

Reverse the process on money. If she orders a quarter's worth of candy, you say:

"Two shillings worth of sweets? You'll be put to slimming."

This is double-barreled.

A study of the table in the Michelin Guide puts you out in front in the matter of wines.

Pick a fancy spot for this one. You study the wine card. The trick is you have already made up your mind. The odd years in the Forties were the good ones. Memorize '45, '47, '49. Beaujolais is always safe.

The wine waiter pulls the cork. He sniffs the cork.

You don't know what he's doing. But he doesn't either. He pours a little in your glass and drops back two paces for you to taste. Don't touch it. Motion him to fill the glasses.

"He can't tell a thing by smelling," you confide when he departs. "Probably been sniffing all sorts of chateau bottlings. You can't abuse your nose that way. But I know the vintage. It travels well."

At this, you pick up the glass and wave it under your nose. Take a small mouthful and chew it. Swallow.

"Really should rinse the mouth once with it first. I wish I could get you down to Nuits St. George sometime . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

It is necessary to remember that other people visit Europe. Half a million last year in fact. Be ready to top their offerings.

"Didn't you think the Carleton was wonderful?"

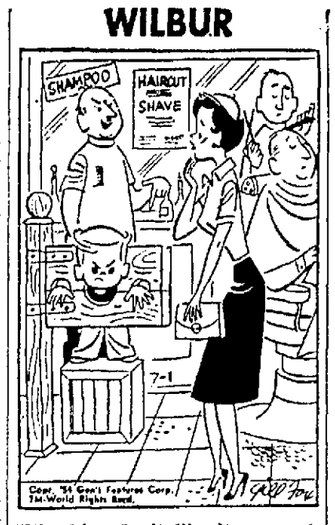

"In Cannes?" you say. "Simply can't stand those frightful tourist places. We always stay at a little pension in Antibes.

☆ ☆ ☆

In fact, you will find recounting these things more fun than it was doing them. Leave the homemade movies and the running commentary to the people without imagination.

(McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Extra U.S. Fund Allocation Needs State Matching—Ress

Unless Nebraska can match it, the extra $4,900,000 a year in federal aid road money allocated to the state "is not going to do us any good," State Engineer L. N. Ress said Wednesday.

Nebraska's share of the $875,000,000 voted by Congress for federal highway aid is $13,974,282 a year, Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced in Washington.

Nebraska's allocation under the old formula has been $9,000,000 a year, and the state has not been able even to match that sum, Ress pointed out.

Four Years' Available

"Four years' allocations are available to us right now. We're still working on our 1952 and 1953 allocations of both primary and secondary funds. We've got our 1954 and 1955 allocations, and here is 1956 now," he continued.

Altogether $27,000,000 in federal aid is waiting to be matched with Nebraska state and local funds.

The allocation announced by Secretary Weeks is for fiscal 1956, available in July, 1955.

Programming '52, '53

But programming and planning against it can begin a year before the money actually is available.

Yet because Nebraska has been unable to match funds as they became available, the state is still programming and planning against its 1952 and 1953 allocations, and hasn't started programming its 1954 and 1955 allocations.

"We most certainly should reenact the extra cent of gasoline tax voted by the last Legislature," Ress declared.

POSTCARD

I left Paris on the Fleche d'Or from the Gare du Nord about 12:30 in the afternoon. And the only reason I mention it is to show you how easy it is to drop names.

Travel writers tend to tell you how to go to Europe. Nobody tells you what to do when you come home. A serious oversight.

There is nothing more infuriating than dropping names.

"And then we left the Gare du Nord on the Fleche d'Or.

Don't let the neighbor get a word in edgewise. You smile thoughtfully:

"Fleche d'Or. Rather difficult to translate—one gets used to thinking in French. It means rather like Golden Arrow."

Since this is exactly what it does mean, you score your point. Susie-down-the-street is a yokel. With dishwater hands. To toss her a few lines of culture is pearls to peasants. But we are a kindly sort.

☆ ☆ ☆

The question of what to do when you come home will all be covered in "Better Than Mink," a book which I intend to write on the subject.

Never say "when I was in Europe." The line is: "The last time I was on the Continent."

Air France is "Air Frawnce." And the Hotel George V will naturally be "George Sank." So will the hearts of your audience.

A British accent to the returning traveler is as necessary as the Donegal tweeds you pick up for an Irish song in Duke street.

You heighten the accent by asking the doorman to "press for the lift." Immediately after your friend asks him to "ring for the elevator."

Reverse the process on money. If she orders a quarter's worth of candy, you say:

"Two shillings worth of sweets? You'll be put to slimming."

This is double-barreled.

☆ ☆ ☆

A study of the table in the Michelin Guide puts you out in front in the matter of wines.

Pick a fancy spot for this one.

You study the wine card. The trick is you have already made up your mind. The odd years in the Forties were the good ones. Memorize '45, '47, '49. Beaujolais is always safe.

The wine waiter pulls the cork. He sniffs the cork.

You don't know what he's doing. But he doesn't either. He pours a little in your glass and drops back two paces for you to taste. Don't touch it. Motion him to fill the glasses.

"He can't tell a thing by smelling," you confide when he departs. "Probably been sniffing all sorts of chateau bottlings. You can't abuse your nose that way. But I know the vintage. It travels well."

At this, you pick up the glass and wave it under your nose. Take a small mouthful and chew it. Swallow.

"Really should rinse the mouth once with it first. I wish I could get you down to Nuits St. George sometime . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

It is necessary to remember that other people visit Europe. Half a million last year in fact. Be ready to top their offerings.

"Didn't you think the Carleton was wonderful?"

"In Cannes?" you say. "Simply can't stand those frightful tourist places. We always stay at a little pension in Antibes.

☆ ☆ ☆

In fact, you will find recounting these things more fun than it was doing them. Leave the homemade movies and the running commentary to the people without imagination.

Extra U.S. Fund Allocation Needs State Matching—Ress

Unless Nebraska can match it, the extra $4,900,000 a year in federal aid road money allocated to the state "is not going to do us any good," State Engineer L. N. Ress said Wednesday.

Nebraska's share of the $875,000,000 voted by Congress for federal highway aid is $13,974,282 a year, Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced in Washington.

Nebraska's allocation under the old formula has been $9,000,000 a year, and the state has not been able even to match that sum, Ress pointed out.

Four Years' Available

"Four years' allocations are available to us right now. We're still working on our 1952 and 1953 allocations of both primary and secondary funds. We've got our 1954 and 1955 allocations, and here is 1956 now," he continued.

Altogether $27,000,000 in federal aid is waiting to be matched with Nebraska state and local funds.

The allocation announced by Secretary Weeks is for fiscal 1956, available in July, 1955.

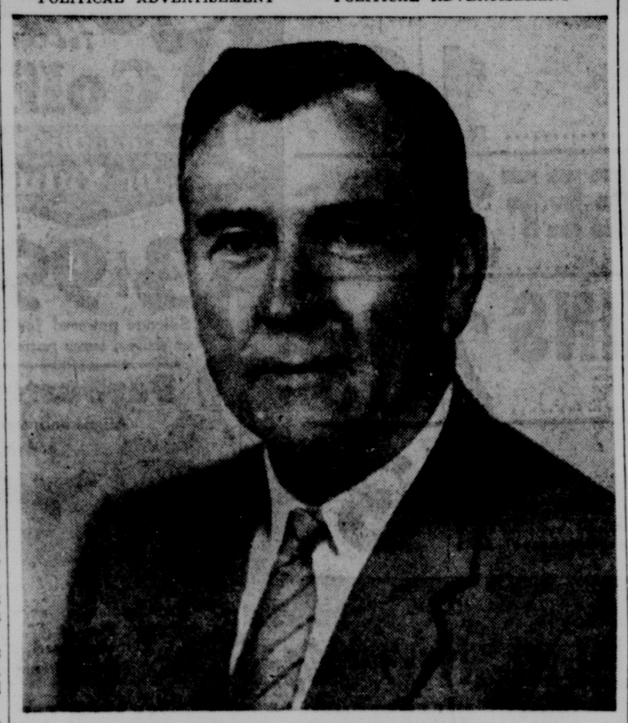

Programming '52, '53

But programming and planning against it can begin a year before the money actually is available.

Yet because Nebraska has been unable to match funds as they became available, the state is still programming and planning against its 1952 and 1953 allocations, and hasn't started programming its 1954 and 1955 allocations.

"We most certainly should reenact the extra cent of gasoline tax voted by the last Legislature," Ress declared.

Subcommittee Says 2 On M'Carthy's Staff Denied Clearance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two staff members of the McCarthy Investigations subcommittee have been refused clearance by the Defense Department to inspect secret material, senators on the subcommittee said Wednesday. Names of the two were not announced.

The subcommittee also announced receipt of a report from the Army on the case of former Maj. Irving Peress, New York City dentist, whom Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has called a "Fifth Amendment Communist." The report deals with Peress' promotion and honorable discharge last February.

Disciplinary Action Hinted

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who acted as chairman of the subcommittee in its televised Army-McCarthy hearings, said a letter from Army Secretary Stevens implied that some officers have been disciplined in connection with the handling of the Peress matter.

He said the secretary's letter indicated the promotion and discharge was "a mistake that grew out of the mechanics" of Army processing and that corrective steps have been taken to prevent a recurrence.

Mundt said both the report on the Peress case and a letter from Wilber M. Brucker, Defense Department general counsel, on the two staff employees, are being turned over to McCarthy. The latter stepped down from the subcommittee chairmanship during the hearings, and any further action would be up to the regular group, Mundt added.

The South Dakotan said he is advising McCarthy (presumably his office) that subcommittee members feel he should call the regular group together to examine the two matters.

Mundt said he did not know where McCarthy is or when he will return to the capital. The senator left on vacation immediately after the hearings.

Mundt called a session of the investigating senators Wednesday to receive the report on the staff members' status. He said the Defense Department declined to inform the senators of the "nature of the accusation" against the staff members.

Mundt agreed, however, with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) that the substance of the Brucker letter was that there was affirmative evidence that did not warrant the clearance of the two subcommittee employees.

McClellan, ranking Democrat on the subcommittee, said the department's decision, as he viewed it, "didn't relate to disloyalty." He got no impression, he added, that they were regarded as "pro-Communist." Mundt said he thought that what McClellan said was a "fair statement."

As far as he knows, Mundt added, the two staff members still have access to subcommittee files.

McClellan reiterated that "staff matters should be cleared up" before any more hearings are held. McCarthy frequently has reminded his colleagues that there are many matters awaiting public airing.

McClellan's position is supported by the other two Democrats on the subcommittee and Sen. Potter (R-Mich). They constitute a majority.

Mundt said the Defense Department had declined to give the subcommittee any indication of the nature of the information on which they based the decision to deny the two staff members security clearance, lest it disclose informants and investigative techniques.

He and other senators said the department advised that some of its information was from the FBI.

Mundt said he had never heard anything against one of the employes. When newsmen suggested this indicated he had heard something against the other one, he said that was correct.

House Group To Hear Richardson Bridge Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Executive hearings on the Richardson County bridge problem in Nebraska will be held by the House flood control subcommittee in about 10 days, the office of Rep. Carl Curtis said.

Earlier this year Rep. Curtis arranged to have a delegation from Falls City heard by the subcommittee on charges the Army Engineers did not live up to commitments in respect to bridge changes and improvements in flood control work in the county.

RICHARD JOHNSON

Johnson Files For County Commissioner

Richard O. Johnson, Lincoln attorney and a former mayor, has filed on the Republican ticket for Lancaster County Commissioner from the Third District.

In filing, Johnson pledged that if elected he would study the real estate valuation and assessment problem in the county.

"There appears to be much complaint concerning the 1954 actual and assessed valuations on real property," he explained.

'Big Business'

"County government is a big business and the taxpayers are entitled to know how their tax money is spent," he said, in pledging "to effect economy wherever possible without impairing efficiency in county government."

A 1922 graduate of the University law college, Johnson served as city attorney for Havelock from 1924 until its merger with Lincoln in 1930.

He served two terms, 1927-1930, in the Nebraska Legislature and on the Lincoln city council from 1937 to 1941, when he was elected mayor for one term.

Johnson is a member of the Scottish Rite, Shrine, Elks, OES and Trinity Methodist Church. Married, he has a daughter and resides at 1740 Pawnee.

Mundt called a session of the investigating senators Wednesday to receive the report on the staff members' status. He said the Defense Department declined to inform the senators of the "nature of the accusation" against the staff members.

Mundt agreed, however, with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) that the substance of the Brucker letter was that there was affirmative evidence that did not warrant the clearance of the two subcommittee employees.

McClellan, ranking Democrat on the subcommittee, said the department's decision, as he viewed it, "didn't relate to disloyalty." He got no impression, he added, that they were regarded as "pro-Communist." Mundt said he thought that what McClellan said was a "fair statement."

As far as he knows, Mundt added, the two staff members still have access to subcommittee files.

McClellan reiterated that "staff matters should be cleared up" before any more hearings are held. McCarthy frequently has reminded his colleagues that there are many matters awaiting public airing.

McClellan's position is supported by the other two Democrats on the subcommittee and Sen. Potter (R-Mich). They constitute a majority.

Mundt said the Defense Department had declined to give the subcommittee any indication of the nature of the information on which they based the decision to deny the two staff members security clearance, lest it disclose informants and investigative techniques.

He and other senators said the department advised that some of its information was from the FBI.

Mundt said he had never heard anything against one of the employes. When newsmen suggested this indicated he had heard something against the other one, he said that was correct.

House Group To Hear Richardson Bridge Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Executive hearings on the Richardson County bridge problem in Nebraska will be held by the House flood control subcommittee in about 10 days, the office of Rep. Carl Curtis said.

Earlier this year Rep. Curtis arranged to have a delegation from Falls City heard by the subcommittee on charges the Army Engineers did not live up to commitments in respect to bridge changes and improvements in flood control work in the county.

RICHARD JOHNSON

Johnson Files For County Commissioner

Richard O. Johnson, Lincoln attorney and a former mayor, has filed on the Republican ticket for Lancaster County Commissioner from the Third District.

In filing, Johnson pledged that if elected he would study the real estate valuation and assessment problem in the county.

"There appears to be much complaint concerning the 1954 actual and assessed valuations on real property," he explained.

'Big Business'

"County government is a big business and the taxpayers are entitled to know how their tax money is spent," he said, in pledging "to effect economy wherever possible without impairing efficiency in county government."

A 1922 graduate of the University law college, Johnson served as city attorney for Havelock from 1924 until its merger with Lincoln in 1930.

He served two terms, 1927-1930, in the Nebraska Legislature and on the Lincoln city council from 1937 7to 1941, when he was elected mayor for one term.

Johnson is a member of the Scottish Rite, Shrine, Elks, OES and Trinity Methodist Church. Married, he has a daughter and resides at 1740 Pawnee.

New Japanese Army, Navy, Air Force To Be Born

TOKYO (Thursday) (INS) — Japan today formally activates her new defense forces that in five years will give her once again a small but modern Army, Navy and Air Force.

In ceremonies throughout the day, newly formed ground, sea and air "self defense" forces will be born in Tokyo, formally ending the post-war experiment of nine years total disarmament.

The self-defense forces were created by special legislation this spring which abolished the old "national safety force."

The old national safety force had the mission of guarding Japan against internal revolt, but the new self-defense force is empowered to resist external aggression as well.

The present "national safety force" of 110,000 men is to be expanded to 140,000 men in the coming year as the ground self-defense force, and to be armed with American weapons under the mutual defense assistance agreement signed by the U.S. and Japan last March.

In addition the embryo Navy is to be equipped with U.S. destroyers, and an Air Force formed, equipped initally with jet trainers and propeller driven planes.

Partridge Speaker

Tokutaro Kimura, chief of the old national safety board, is now director-general of the defense board, a cabinet post equivalent to asecretary of defense.

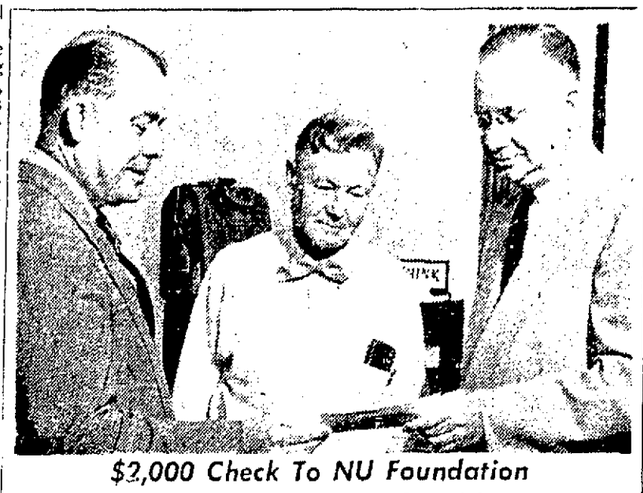

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the U.S Far East Air Forces will be a guest at the Air Force activation ceremony and is scheduled to speak.

Japan's Constitution, written by the U.S occupation regime in 1946, bans the formation of armed forces or the use of war as an instrument of national policy.

But the U.S. subsequently declared the war ban clause a mistake on the grounds that no nation can afford to be unarmed for defense in today's troubled times.

State Corn Has New Foe

The Nebraska corn crop is faced with another insect enemy, but one which can be controlled by fairly simple steps.

The Lancaster County Extension office announced that it has received numerous calls from farmers seeking means of controlling webworm infestations.

The pest is the same one which attacks alfalfa, and it is usually called garden webworm. County Agent Cyril Bish said the worm hampers the growth of the corn stalk, spinning webs over the plant.

The office said recommended control measures include spraying one and one-half to two pounds of toxaphene per acre, with as much water as is needed. Other sprays that are recommended in fighting the worm are solutions of DDT or chlordane or one-half pound of aldrin per acre.

Bish said he understood this disease has caused considerable concern in southwestern and southern counties, and is now invading Lancaster County.

Senate Unit Approves Swap Of Some 'A' Secrets

Power For Industry OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee approved a broad new bill permitting exchange of some nuclear secrets with Allied nations and opening peacetime atomic power to private industry.

The committee completed weeks of consideration with final action at a closed door meeting Wednesday. The vote was unanimous, although some members reportedly reserved the right to oppose portions of the measure on the floor. Rep. W Sterling Cole (R-NY), the chairman, said he would press for immediate congressional action on the measure, designed to carry out President Eisenhower's atomic program.

The measure was completed shortly after Moscow radio claimed Russia had completed and put in operation the world's first industrial power station using atomic energy, with a capacity of 5,000 kilowatts.

The first commercial American station, being built for the government near Pittsburgh, is due for completion in 1957.

In view of the Moscow announcement, Cole said that failure of Congress to act on the measure "would mean deliberately exposing ourselves to an inferior position in the world production of industrial power."

One section of the bill is designed to stimulate the development of civilian nuclear power by permitting private enterprise to operate atomic facilities, under a modified system of patent rights.

The measure also would authorize the President to furnish allies with information on the external characteristics of nuclear weapons, their performance and methods of building defenses against them. The present law bars exchange of this data.

This authority, described as the heart of the President's "new look" at European defenses, was discussed at length in last week's Eisenhower-Churchill talks.

The bill would grant broad authority for the President to use nuclear materials, under congressional scrutiny, for creating an international pool of atomic energy for building up underdeveloped countries

NE Rotary Club Fetes Cederdahl

The Northeast Lincoln Rotary Club celebrated its first anniversary Wednesday night with a dinner at Cotner Terrace and a program that honored its retiring President, R. J. Cederdahl.

Cederdahl who has recently returned from the International Rotary Convention rose to give a report on the convention only to have V. A. Colon, the program chairman, start the presentation of a skit that was a "take-off" on the program "This Is Your Life," with Cederdahl as the personality whose life's highlights were relived.

As a culmination to the program he was awarded a jeweled past president's badge in appreciation for the efforts he put forth in organizing and leading the club through its first year.

At the meeting a report was given on the club's activities for the past year. The Northeast Rotary set up two scholarships for Northeast students to attend Nebraska Wesleyan and participated in civic projects such as the Cancer Drive, the First Methodist Church fund raising drive and a teen age square dancing program.

Ceremony In California

MRS. ROBERT NEWMAN BUCKLEY

Candles burning in branched candelabra, and spreading arrangements of white garden flowers formed the chancel decor for the marriage ceremony of Miss Joanne Kathryn Norris of San Francisco, Calif., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Norris of Aberdeen, S. D., and Robert Newman Buckley, of San Francisco, son of Mrs. Lester M. Buckley of Lincoln, which was solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, June 19, at the First Methodist Church in Palo Alto, Calif. The Rev. George D. Goodwin read the lines of the service in the presence of members of the families and a small group of friends. Wilbur Melbye, organist, played the wedding music.

The matron of honor and the bride's only attendant was Mrs. R. B. Crawford of Menlo Park, Calif., sister of the bride. She chose a frock of pink Swiss organdy accented with bands of embroidery. The brief-sleeved, fitted bodice featured a deep V neckline and beneath the taffeta sash at the waistline was the extremely bouffant, dansease-length skirt. She wore a crown of frock-toned braided taffeta and carried a crescent of tiny red roses.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a waltz-length gown of white re-embroidered lace and chiffon. The bodice of lace encrusted with pearls and brilliants was contoured with a low, rounded neckline and cap sleeves. The full, gathered skirt of chiffon was completed with an inset cumberbund. A crown of orange blossoms held the bride's shoulder-length veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and roses

Lester M. Buckley Jr., of Lincoln, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Carter Norris of Oakland Calif., and Thomas S. Shea, also of Oakland, seated the guests.

After a wedding trip to Carmel, Ojai Valley and Yosemite National Park, Calif., the couple will reside in San Francisco. For traveling, Mrs. Buckley wore a black and white silk shantung dress and coat ensemble.

The bride attended Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S.D., and was graduated from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Mr. Buckley, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and the University of Nebraska College of Law is a member of Phi Delta Phi and Phi Delta Theta.

Has Church Ceremony

MRS. WENDELL DARNOLD

At a 2:30 o'clock ceremony solemnized on Sunday afternoon, June 27 at the Wymore Methodist Church, Miss Jolene Ruth Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie A. Anderson of Odell, became the bride of Wendell G. Darnold of New London, Conn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell R. Darnold of Lincoln. The Rev. R. H. Chenoweth read the lines of the service in the presence of two hundred guests.

As the candles were lighted by Miss Linda Anderson and Miss Merry Leitschuck of Odell, Warren Adee of Wymore, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Ivan Lasher of Wymore.

The maid of honor, Miss Marjorie Anderson of Odell, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marilyn Darnold, sister of the bridegroom of Lincoln, Miss Verna Knabe of Odell and Mrs. Alvin Hennerberg of Beatrice, were frocked identically, the honor attendant in pink and the maids in blue. Their frocks, fashioned of net over taffeta, featured basque bodices and full skirts and they carried bouquets of carnations. Miss Kathryn Callan of Odell was the flower girl and David Anderson, of Odell, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted lace bodice featured a portrait neckline and long, fitted sleeves and the lace motif was repeated in a pepium effect on the net skirt which ended in a chapel train. A half-hat of lace dotted with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a Bible marked with a corsage of red roses.

Bob James of Wymore served Mr. Darnold as best man and the ushers were David Turnbull Jr., of Beatrice and Gerald Gerdes of Lincoln and Don Gerdes of Wymore.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to the Black Hills. For traveling, Mrs. Darnold wore a beige and brown frock and brown accessories. They will reside in New London, Conn.

Audrey Marx Names Attendants

Among the busy brides-elect in Lincoln, is Miss Audrey Marx who will become the bride of Lt. Paul Galter of San Antonio, Tex., at 5:30 o'clock on Sunday, July 4, at a ceremony to be solemnized at Hotel Cornhusker. Miss Marx is this morning announcing the members of her bridal party. For her maid of honor she has chosen Miss Carole Marx and the bridesmatron will be Mrs. Herman Shyken of Omaha. The bridesmaids will be Miss Donna Steinberg and Miss Theonne Klotz, both of Omaha. Stuart Marx, brother of the bride-elect, and Stephen Marx and Andrew Hilvitz of Denver will light the candles.

Morris Galter of Waterloo, Ia., will serve his brother as best man and the ushers will be Herbert Deinberg of Omaha, Marty Rich of Rock Island, Ill., and Forrest Mozer.

In honor of Miss Marx and Mr. Galter, the bride-elect's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marx will be host and hostess at a dinner at the Hotel Cornhusker on Saturday evening, July 3.

THE WAY MY FAMILY LIKES IT

This morning, Mrs. Robert J. Ferguson, who is pictured with her daughters, Susie and Betsy, has been kind enough to part with a family recipe. This is a small chocolate cake that has been passed down from her husband's grandmother. The virtues of this delicious, moist cake are that, although it keeps well and improves with age, it seldom lasts longer than a day or so, and it is easily made without involving many utensils. With the cake, the Fergusons like a Seven Minute Icing or none at all.

Chocolate Cake

Beat 1 egg with 2 sq. unsweetened chocolate, grated, and ½c. milk in a saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in 1c. sugar, butter the size of an egg, slightly less than ⅛ lb., and an additional ½c. milk. Sift in 1¼c. flour, 1t. soda, and a dash of salt. Add 1t. vanila.

Bake in a greased 8x8x2" pan, which is ABSOLUTELY the only size you can use for this particular receipt, for 40 min. at 350 degrees.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hoffman returned to Lincoln this week after a two week's vacation in New York City and Glen Cove, Long Island, where they were the guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Wright. Mrs. Wright is the former Susanne Hoffman.

Attend Chi Omega Convention

The convention, which convened Thursday, June 24, ran through Monday, June 28.

Has Church Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD PETTY

At a 2 o'clock ceremony Sunday afternoon, June 27, solemnized at Grace Methodist Church, Miss Cleone Marie Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alwin V. Everett, became the bride of Richard Lee Petty, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Denham.

Mrs. Ronald Juenning, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marlice Deines and Miss Alice O'Connell wore alike frocks of pastel blue, yellow and pink. The fitted bodices were accented by very full, gathered skirts in the danseuse length.

Miss Diane Denham and Miss Georgia Hartman lighted the tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a gown of white imported Swiss organdy over rayon taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a deep V neckline filled in by a sheer yoke of illusion outlined with natural scallops of the embroidery on the organdy. The three-tiered skirt was gathered at the waist, and featured scallops at the hemline. A halo-brimmed hat of organdy held her circular veil of bridal illusion and she carried a white Bible marked with red and white roses.

Donald Petty was the best man and the ushers were Ronald Kuenning and Robert Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. Petty will make their home in Lincoln.

This is to be the first visit by any one from the organization, in the mid-west. Also attending the meeting will be Mary L. Hemmy, Executive Director of the American Association of Medical Social Workers in Washington, D. C., and Opal Gooden, Consultant of Recruitment for the American Association of Medical Social Workers. Giants Drop Brooks 5-2; Lead Now Three Games

Oquendo Loses Three-Hitter

Bruins Win 3-1 In Battle Of Pitchers

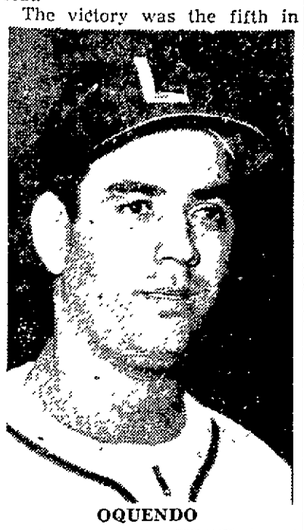

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP) — Des Moines went hitless until the seventh inning Thursday when Vern Morgan's home run after a walk to Ed Winceniak pulled the Bruins to a 3-1 victory over Lincoln.

Winceniak was only the second Des Moines baserunner against Noel Oquendo, who had also walked Bob Speake in the third inning.

Two more hits and two Lincoln errors gave the Bruins an unearned run in the eighth.

Lincoln also was scoreless until the seventh when Red McQuillen and John Jones hit successive doubles for a one-run lead. The Chiefs totalled five hits off Hy Cohen, who earned his fifth victory against one defeat.

The victory was the fifth in

the last six games for the second place Bruins.

Cohen received spectacular support in center field from John Magliolo, who had seven putouts, most of then difficult.

Lincoln and Des Moines close their three-game series here tonight with Ed Wright (0-0) going for Lincoln against the Bruins' Don Elston (8-4).

Sarazen Has 4-Hole Lead In Seniors

By TOM OCHILTREE

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Gene Sarazen fashioned a fancy four-hole lead over Percy Alliss of Britain Wednesday in the first International Senior professional championship golf match and did it so quickly the gallery gasped for breath.

The two veterans took only 2 hours, 2 minutes to play the dipping fairways and tight greens of the 6,625-yard Southport and Ainsdale golf course.

This is believed to be record time for international competition over a championship layout. With all their speed, they made their shots with precision. Sarazen had a medal 74, two-over-par, and Alliss 78 against a strong crosswind sweeping in from the Irish Sea.

Alliss played fast, but his popular American opponent from Germantown, N. Y., played faster.

"We won't have to take all day at this," Sarazen said at one of the early holes. As they finished, Gene commented:

"For a minute I thought we would beat Roger Bannister's time."

During the round, the 52-year-old golfing farmer, who won the British Open championship in 1932, showed the gallery of 1,000 sizzling wood shots from the fairways and curling putts that had the Master's touch.

Sarazen and Alliss play another 18 holes tomorrow to decide the Senior title. Sarazen won the American Senior PGA championship last January and Alliss was picked by the British golf writers to oppose him in the international match.

Today's round was played in a spirit of good humor with Alliss, who is five years older than Sarazen, seeming to get as much fun out of it as the American.

Sarazen was much steadier than Alliss on the incoming nine. The wind bothered the English player just enough to make him send some approach shots short.

Sarazen holed a 10-footer for a par-4 to win the tenth and just missed a 15-footer at the eleventh but won the hole. Alliss took the 12th and Sarazen won the short 14th to go three up. At the 17th Sarazen sank a 10-footer for a birdie three to go four-up. They halved the last hole.

Bobby Brown Bids Baseball Sad Good-Bye

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Bobby Brown, New York Yankees infielder, said good-bye to baseball here and headed for San Francisco where he will begin work as a resident physician at the City Hospital.

The 29-year-old Brown received a big ovation in his final game at Fenway Park. He lashed out two singles although the Boston Red Sox whipped the Yankees, 6-1.

Brown caught an 8 p.m. (EDT) plane for LaGuardia Field in New York from where he left later for San Francisco.

"It's tough leaving baseball," Brown said. "But I have a long-range decision to make. I have studied medicine as a career, and I have to make my move some time."

Queried about reports he may try to play Pacific Coast League baseball on the side, Brown replied:

"I don't know anything about that. It will all depend on what my hospital schedule is."

Brown joined the Yankees in 1946 from the Newark Club of the International League. He was a standout in the 1949 World Series when he got six hits in 12 times at bat for a .500 percentage.

Trabert Is Eliminated In Upset

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny and Ken Rosewall startled staid Wimbledon in the semifinals when they turned the men's championship of this world's greatest tennis tournament into a match without an American.

Drobny upset Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 on the center court where, less than two hours before, Rosewall had eliminated the favorite, Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Thus when they meet in the final Friday, it will be the second time since 1946 that there hasn't been an American finalist in the Wimbledon men's singles. It also will be the 32-year-old Drobny's third trip out there for such an occasion.

Drobny, who refused to return to Czechoslovakia in 1949 and became a citizen of Egypt, lost to Ted Schroeder in the final that year. He was runner-up to Australia's Frank Sedgman two years ago. He played in the first of his 11 Wimbledon tournaments 16 years ago—when Rosewall was only three years old.

For three sets, the Rosewall-Trabert match was a classic of cut, thrust, parry and placement tennis. Then the match fell apart as Trabert suddenly lost his mobility when a mass of blisters on his hand and the bottom of his left foot began paining him.

By contrast, the Drobny-Patty match was dull. Drobny won almost with ease.

Trabert refused to say how the defeat would affect whatever plans he has of turning professional and joining Jack Kramer's traveling troupe next winter.

Although he had a fairly easy time against Patty, Drobny confessed afterward he's beginning to feel his 32 years a bit.

"The final Friday probably will be the last time I shall play all out to win," he said. "I shall be back here next year, but I'll be playing for fun. If I win—that's fine. If I lose, I shan't worry."

The women's singles semifinals will be played Thursday with defending champion Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., opposing Mrs. Betty Pratt of South Orange, N.J., and Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., playing Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Mims, Dykes Fight To Draw

WASHINGTON (AP) — Holly Mims, Washington, and Bobby Dykes, Miami, Fla., fought to a 10-round draw Wednesday in a bout at Uline Arena. Mims weighed 155, Dykes 159½.

There were no knockdowns.

Mims, second ranked contender for the world middleweight title, hustled after Dykes with a heavy barrage. But the crafty Dykes, using all his ringmanship, stayed off the efforts by tying up Mims constantly.

Both fighters were bearing down hard because victory could mean a shot at Bobo Olson's crown.

One of the judges voted for Dykes 97-94. Another judge scored it 97-95 in favor of Mims. The referee called it 95-95, thus making the bout a draw under District of Columbia Boxing Assn. rules.

The Associated Press score card had it 94-94.

Dykes built up a lead in the early round by pecking Mims with a fast left and a sharp right. Dykes fighting from a side stance would then tie up the dangerous countering Mims.

Mims came on strong in the middle rounds by moving in and tagging Dykes with jarring overhand rights.

Patty Berg Tabbed Win 'Fem' Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PEABODY, Mass., (AP) — The Women's National Open golf tournament gets under way today at the Salem Country Club and that means another battle between Patty Berg and her private jinx.

The red-haired Patty is one of the leading favorites for the championship although this is the tournament which has caused her the same sort of miseries suffered by Sam Snead over the years in the men's U. S. Open.

The stolid Minneapolis Miss won the first Women's Open in 1946 when it was a match-play event. The next year, 1947, the tournament was converted into a 72-hole medal play affair and since then Patty hasn't figured.

Last year at Rochester, N. Y., Miss Berg seized a huge eight-stroke lead at the halfway point with a score of 144. She apparently had the title wrapped up.

But on the last day she lost four strokes by shooting an 80 in the morning round. Then in the afternoon round she bogeyed three straight holes and finished behind Betsy Rawls and Jackqueline Pung, who tied for first place. Miss Rawls won the playoff.

Miss Rawls will defend her title in the three-day tournament, seeking her third Open crown. She also won in 1951. Two other two-time winners will compete. They are Babe Didrickson Zaharias (1948-1950) and Louise Suggs (1949-1952).

Miss Suggs, the par-cracking cracker from Georgia, is the year's leading money winner and the top favorite. Mrs. Zaharias is fighting back to the top after conquering cancer last year.

Fifty-nine players, 38 amateurs and 21 pros, will begin play at 10:30 a.m. (EDT) over the 6,393-yard, par 72 course.

Wilhelm Turns In Top Relief Job To Save Win

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Knuckleball specialist Hoyt Wilhelm turned in a superb relief performance here to preserve a fine pitching effort by southpaw Johnny Antonelli and enable the New York Giants to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-2 for their sixth straight victory. The victory hiked the Giants' first place lead over the Dodgers to three games.

Wilhelm entered the scene in the eighth inning with the Giants leading 2-1 but with Brooklyn runners on first and third and nobody out. A fumble by Whitey Lockman on Junior Gilliam's easy roller and Don Hoak's hit-and-run single to rightfield had put the potential tying and winning runs on base and caused Antonelli's exit.

Furthermore, Wilhelm had to cope with the "heart" of the Dodgers' batting order, as represented by Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Roy Campanella. Wilhelm made certain Campanella, who tied the score in last night's game with his ninth inning homer, never got to bat. He calmly retired Robinson on a short fly to left and made Hodges hit into an inning ending double play.

The Giants, who had scored their first two runs on a sacrifice fly and a wild pitch by Carl Erskine, iced the game in their half of the eighth, tallying thrice on four bases on balls and Lockman's two-run single. Clem Labine, who had replaced loser Erskine in the seventh, issued the first three walks. Jim Hughes replaced Labine with the bases loaded and walked Alvin Dark to force in a run before Lockman delivered his two-run blow.

Tuttle Homer Beats Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Tuttle's homer with none aboard in the ninth after Chicago tied the score at 3-3 with two in the eighth gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 triumph over the second-spot White Sox Wednesday.

Chicago's Bob Keegan, winningest American League pitcher, failed in a try for his 12th decision, but the defeat was registered against Morrie Martin, who started the ninth.

Despite the loss, the Sox failed to lose ground to the third-place New York Yankees, who remained a game behind by losing at Boston 6-1.

Tuttle's decisive clout, his fifth homer of the season, gave the triumph to Billy Hoeft, who replaced starter George Zuverink in the eighth.

Cubs Rack Up 9-7 Win Over Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Chicago Cubs went wild in the seventh and eighth innings, scoring nine runs off an assortment of pitchers to snap an 11-game losing streak and beat the Milwaukee Braves, 9-7, before a ladies day crowd of 34,226.

A five-run Milwaukee rally in the ninth fell short when Danny O'Connell grounded out weakly and Del Crandall flied to left with the bases full.

Lew Burdette, who started for the Braves, had a one-hit shutout going for the

Bruins Win 3-1 In Battle Of Pitchers

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP) — Des Moines went hitless until the seventh inning Thursday when Vern Morgan's home run after a walk to Ed Winceniak pulled the Bruins to a 3-1 victory over Lincoln.

Winceniak was only the second Des Moines baserunner against Noel Oqunedo, who had also walked Bob Speake in the third inning.

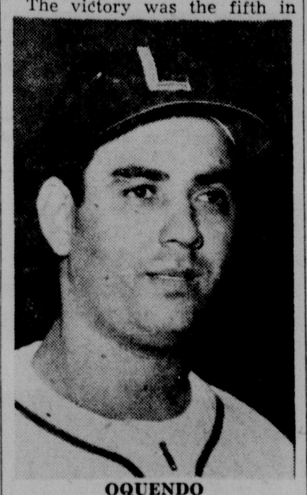

Two more hits and two Lincoln errors gave the Bruins an unearned run in the eighth.

Lincoln also was scoreless until the seventh when Red McQuillen and John Jones hit successive doubles for a one-run lead. The Chiefs totalled five hits off Hy Cohen, who earned his fifth victory against one defeat.

The victory was the fifth in the last six games for the second place Bruins.

Cohen received spectacular support in center field from John Magliolo, who had seven putouts, most of then difficult.

Lincoln and Des Moines close their three-game series here tonight with Ed Wright (0-0) going for Lincoln against the Bruins' Don Elston (8-4).

Sarazen Has 4-Hole Lead In Seniors

By TOM OCHILTREE

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Gene Sarazen fashioned a fancy four-hole lead over Percy Alliss of Britain Wednesday in the first International Senior professional championship golf match and did it so quickly the gallery gasped for breath.

The two veterans took only 2 hours, 2 minutes to play the dipping fairways and tight greens of the 6,625-yard Southport and Ainsdale golf course.

This is believed to be record time for international competition over a championship layout. With all their speed, they made their shots with precision. Sarazen had a medal 74, two-over-par, and Alliss 78 against a strong crosswind sweeping in from the Irish Sea.

Alliss played fast, but his popular American opponent from Germantown, N. Y., played faster.

"We won't have to take all day at this," Sarazen said at one of the early holes. As they finished, Gene commented:

"For a minute I thought we would beat Roger Bannister's time."

During the round, the 52-year-old golfing farmer, who won the British Open championship in 1932, showed the gallery of 1,000 sizzling wood shots from the fairways and curling putts that had the Master's touch.

Sarazen and Alliss play another 18 holes tomorrow to decide the Senior title. Sarazen won the American Senior PGA championship last January and Alliss was picked by the British golf writers to oppose him in the international match.

Today's round was played in a spirit of good humor with Alliss, who is five years older than Sarazen, seeming to get as much fun out of it as the American.

Sarazen was much steadier than Alliss on the incoming nine. The wind bothered the English player just enough to make him send some approach shots short.

Sarazen holed a 10-footer for a par-4 to win the tenth and just missed a 15-footer at the eleventh but won the hole. Alliss took the 12th and Sarazen won the short 14th to go three up. At the 17th Sarazen sank a 10-footer for a birdie three to go four-up. They halved the last hole.

Bobby Brown Bids Baseball Sad Good-Bye

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Bobby Brown, New York Yankees infielder, said good-bye to baseball here and headed for San Francisco where he will begin work as a resident physician at the City Hospital.

The 29-year-old Brown received a big ovation in his final game at Fenway Park. He lashed out two singles although the Boston Red Sox whipped the Yankees, 6-1.

Brown caught an 8 p.m. (EDT) plane for LaGuardia Field in New York from where he left later for San Francisco.

"It's tough leaving baseball," Brown said. "But I have a long-range decision to make. I have studied medicine as a career, and I have to make my move some time."

Queried about reports he may try to play Pacific Coast League baseball on the side, Brown replied:

"I don't know anything about that. It will all depend on what my hospital schedule is."

Brown joined the Yankees in 1946 from the Newark Club of the International League. He was a standout in the 1949 World Series when he got six hits in 12 times at bat for a .500 percentage.

Mims, Dykes Fight To Draw

WASHINGTON (AP) — Holly Mims, Washington, and Bobby Dykes, Miami, Fla., fought to a 10-round draw Wednesday in a bout at Uline Arena. Mims weighed 155, Dykes 159½.

There were no knockdowns.

Mims, second ranked contender for the world middleweight title, hustled after Dykes with a heavy barrage. But the crafty Dykes, using all his ringmanship, staved off the efforts by tying up Mims constantly.

Both fighters were bearing down hard because victory could mean a shot at Bobo Olson's crown.

One of the judges voted for Dykes 97-94. Another judge scored it 97-95 in favor of Mims. The referee called it 95-95, thus making the bout a draw under District of Columbia Boxing Assn. rules.

The Associated Press score card had it 94-94.

Dykes built up a lead in the early round by pecking Mims with a fast left and a sharp right. Dykes fighting from a side stance would then tie up the dangerous countering Mims.

Mims came on strong in the middle rounds by moving in and tagging Dykes with jarring overhand rights.

Trabert Is Eliminated In Upset

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny and Ken Rosewall startled staid Wimbledon in the semifinals when they turned the men's championship of this world's greatest tennis tournament into a match without an American.

Drobny upset Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7 on the center court where, less than two hours before, Rosewall had eliminated the favorite, Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Thus when they meet in the final Friday, it will be the second time since 1946 that there hasn't been an American finalist in the Wimbledon men's singles. It also will be the 32-year-old Drobny's third trip out there for such an occasion.

Drobny, who refused to return to Czechoslovakia in 1949 and became a citizen of Egypt, lost to Ted Schroeder in the final that year. He was runner-up to Australia's Frank Sedgman two years ago. He played in the first of his 11 Wimbledon tournaments 16 years ago—when Rosewall was only three years old.

For three sets, the Rosewall-Trabert match was a classic of cut, thrust, parry and placement tennis. Then the match fell apart as Trabert suddenly lost his mobility when a mass of blisters on his hand and the bottom of his left foot began paining him.

By contrast, the Drobny-Patty match was dull. Drobny won almost with ease.

Trabert refused to say how the defeat would affect whatever plans he has of turning professional and joining Jack Kramer's traveling troupe next winter.

Although he had a fairly easy time against Patty, Drobny confessed afterward he's beginning to feel his 32 years a bit.

"The final Friday probably will be the last time I shall play all out to win," he said. "I shall be back here next year, but I'll be playing for fun. If I win—that's fine. If I lose, I shan't worry."

The women's singles semifinals will be played Thursday with defending champion Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., opposing Mrs. Betty Pratt of South Orange, N.J., and Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., playing Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Patty Berg Tabbed Win 'Fem' Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PEABODY, Mass., (AP) — The Women's National Open golf tournament gets under way today at the Salem Country Club and that means another battle between Patty Berg and her private jinx.

The red-haired Patty is one of the leading favorites for the championship although this is the tournament which has caused her the same sort of miseries suffered by Sam Snead over the years in the men's U. S. Open.

The stolid Minneapolis Miss won the first Women's Open in 1946 when it was a match-play event. The next year, 1947, the tournament was converted into a 72-hole medal play affair and since then Patty hasn't figured.

Last year at Rochester, N. Y., Miss Berg seized a huge eight-stroke lead at the halfway point with a score of 144. She apparently had the title wrapped up.

But on the last day she lost four strokes by shooting an 80 in the morning round. Then in the afternoon round she bogeyed three straight holes and finished behind Betsy Rawls and Jackqueline Pung, who tied for first place. Miss Rawls won the playoff.

Miss Rawls will defend her title in the three-day tournament, seeking her third Open crown. She also won in 1951. Two other two-time winners will compete. They are Babe Didrickson Zaharias (1948-1950) and Louise Suggs (1949-1952).

Miss Suggs, the par-cracking cracker from Georgia, is the year's leading money winner and the top favorite. Mrs. Zaharias is fighting back to the top after conquering cancer last year.

Fifty-nine players, 38 amateurs and 21 pros, will begin play at 10:30 a.m. (EDT) over the 6,393-yard, par 72 course.

Wilhelm Turns In Top Relief Job To Save Win

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Knuckleball specialist Hoyt Wilhelm turned in a superb relief performance here to preserve a fine pitching effort by southpaw Johnny Antonelli and enable the New York Giants to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-2 for their sixth straight victory. The victory hiked the Giants' first place lead over the Dodgers to three games.

Wilhelm entered the scene in the eighth inning with the Giants leading 2-1 but with Brooklyn runners on first and third and nobody out. A fumble by Whitey Lockman on Junior Gilliam's easy roller and Don Hoak's hit-and-run single to rightfield had put the potential tying and winning runs on base and caused Antonelli's exit.

Furthermore, Wilhelm had to cope with the "heart" of the Dodgers' batting order, as represented by Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Roy Campanella. Wilhelm made certain Campanella, who tied the score in last night's game with his ninth inning homer, never got to bat. He calmly retired Robinson on a short fly to left and made Hodges hit into an inning ending double play.

The Giants, who had scored their first two runs on a sacrifice fly and a wild pitch by Carl Erskine, iced the game in their half of the eighth, tallying thrice on four bases on balls and Lockman's two-run single. Clem Labine, who had replaced loser Erskine in the seventh, issued the first three walks. Jim Hughes replaced Labine with the bases loaded and walked Alvin Dark to force in a run before Lockman delivered his two-run blow.

YanksDropped By Bosox 6-1

BOSTON (AP) — Willard Nixon held New York to six hits in beating the Yankees for the third time this year as the Boston Red Sox scored a bizarre 6-1 triumph at Fenway Park.

Boston, mired in the American League cellar, momentarily derailed New York's drive to catch the leading Cleveland Indians, dropping the Yanks three-and-a-half games off the pace.

Nixon, who had topped the Yanks 2-1 and 3-1 earlier this year, walked his way into several jams but escaped all but Mickey Mantle's fifth-inning home run which tied him with the Tribe's Al Rosen for the league lead with 14.

Mantle's blow, sliced into the leftfield screen by Mickey hitting from the left side of the plate, was his eighth homer off Sox hurlers this year.

Sammy White's two-run single was the big blow of Boston's strange three-run third inning in which the team batted around.

In that frame New York's starter and loser, Tom Morgan, tied a major league record by hitting three batters with pitches. Last of the previous six hurlers to attain that dubious distinction was Ray Boggs of the old Boston Braves in 1928.

Tuttle Homer Beats Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Tuttle's homer with none aboard in the ninth after Chicago tied the score at 3-3 with two in the eighth gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 triumph over the second-spot White Sox Wednesday.

Chicago's Bob Keegan, winningest American League pitcher, failed in a try for his 12th decision, but the defeat was registered against Morrie Martin, who started the ninth.

Despite the loss, the Sox failed to lose ground to the third-place New York Yankees, who remained a game behind by losing at Boston 6-1.

Tuttle's decisive clout, his fifth homer of the season, gave the triumph to Billy Hoeft, who replaced starter George Zuverink in the eighth.

Cleveland Fattens Lead

Big Mike Garcia Humbles Orioles, 2-0

BALTIMORE (AP)—Cleveland pitcher Mike Garcia tamed the Baltimore Orioles on four singles here as the Indians extended their American League lead to three games with a 2-0 shutout.

Baltimore's first sacker Dick Kryhoski failed to get on base in four at bats, breaking his consecutive game hitting streak at 19.

Garcia allowed only two Orioles to get as far as second base as he recorded his fourth shutout of the season and his 10th victory against five defeats. The swarthy Mexican struck out three and failed to walk an Oriole.

Larry Doby treated the crowd of 17,262 spectators to the longest home run hit in the new Memorial Stadium in the third to put the Indians out front, 1-0. His blast off Duane Pillette landed in the right-centerfield seats 400-feet from home plate. It was Doby's eleventh of the campaign.

Pillette was not around at the finish. He was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, and former Indian Bob Chakales set the Tribe down in order in the ninth.

The triumph put the Indians three games in front in first place since both the White Sox and Yankees lost.

Cards Score 11-3 Win Over Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rookie Joe Cunningham, playing his first major league game after being brought up from Rochester of the International League, drove in five runs with a home run and a single as the St.Louis Cardinals drubbed the Cincinnati Redlegs, 11-3.

Another Cardinal rookie—pitcher Brooks Lawrence—throttled the Reds in all but two innings as he posted his second straight major league victory.

Rip Repulski hit two home runs for the Cards but Cunningham's blows already had built a fat Cardinal lead by this time.

The defeat prevented the Reds from moving into a tie with Milwaukee for fourth place in the National League.

Cunningham's first major league hit was a home run. It came in the fifth when the Cards were nursing a slim 2-1 lead. Red Schoendienst and Ray Jablonski were on base after Jablonski had scored Wally Moon with a single.

Then in the seventh the Cards clubbed relief pitcher Harry Perkowski for five runs and it was Cunningham and then Rip Repulski who delivered the telling blows.

Russians Sweep Gymnastics Meet

ROME (AP) — Soviet Russia completed a sweep of the world's gymnastic championships here by winning the men's team title, five individual crowns and sharing in a sixth. Japan finished second in the team race.

The Russians won the women's team title earlier to give the Soviet both championships, a feat they also accomplished in the 1952 Olympic games.

A Japanese entry tied a Russian for one of the individual titles. The only other championship was won by a Czech.

After the completion of the two days of compulsory and free style exercises, Russia had an unofficial score of 689.50 points. Japan was next with 673.30 followed by Switzerland, 671.50; Germany, 670.25, and Czechoslovakia, 661.90.

Takemoto Masao made the best showing among the Japanese competitors tying Valentine Mouratov of Russia for first place in the free style exercises. Each had 19.25 points.

Ex-Lincoln Hurler Going Great

Portocarrero Brightest Star For A's

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

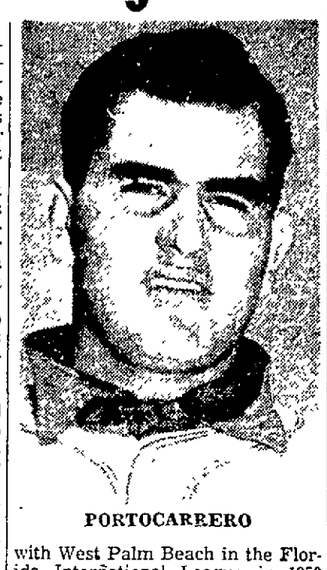

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Young Arnold Portocarrero appears to be another in the "Pitcher a Year" club founded by the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's only hope the big righthander doesn't meet the fate of recent members of the "club."

Almost every season for the past six or seven years the Athletics have come up with a solid pitching rookie. If it hadn't been for an epidemic of sore arms, the A's today might have one of the finest hurling corps in the majors.

Just take a look at the fine crop of pitching talent the team has had and lost in recent years because of bad arms—Bill McCahan, Joe Coleman, Dick Fowler, Phil Marchildon, Bobby Schantz, and lately lefty Alex Kellner has been plagued with arm miseries. That list would make up a pretty fair country pitching staff.

Portocarrero, a 23-year-old native of Bethpage, N.Y., with only two seasons of professional ball under his belt, is almost a sure bet to have his name entered in the "club" book. He's won 6 and lost 6 this year and currently has a four-game winning streak going. A number of baseball managers, including Cleveland's Al Lopez, Washington's Bucky Harris and New York's Casey Stengel have made complimentary remarks and cast admiring glances at the husky 200-pounder.

The 6 feet 3 Portocarrero played with West Palm Beach in the Florida International League in 1950 after the A's signed him for a sizable bonus. The kid had won 29 straight games for George Washington High School without a defeat. He won 10 and lost 11 with West Palm Beach and moved to the Class A Western League with Lincoln in 1951. He won 12 and dropped 14 before Uncle Sam called him into service.

Portocarrero returned to baseball this spring and has gradually worked himself up to the rank of number-one pitcher on the A's staff. Of his six defeats, at least four were one or two-run margins in which his mates failed to score or made but one run. He's clicked with the use of a "live" fast ball, good curve and an excellent change of pace. He has good control and plenty of confidence, a combination tough to beat.

There have been quite a few rumors surrounding the Athletics this year—sale of the club, sale of star players, firing of the manager—but one thing you can be sure is no rumor, Portocarrero has joined the "Pitcher a Year" club. All he has to do is keep his good right arm out of trouble.

Jim Tobin, former major pitcher, is now an automobile salesman in Alameda, Calif.

Tigers' Backstop House Is Injured

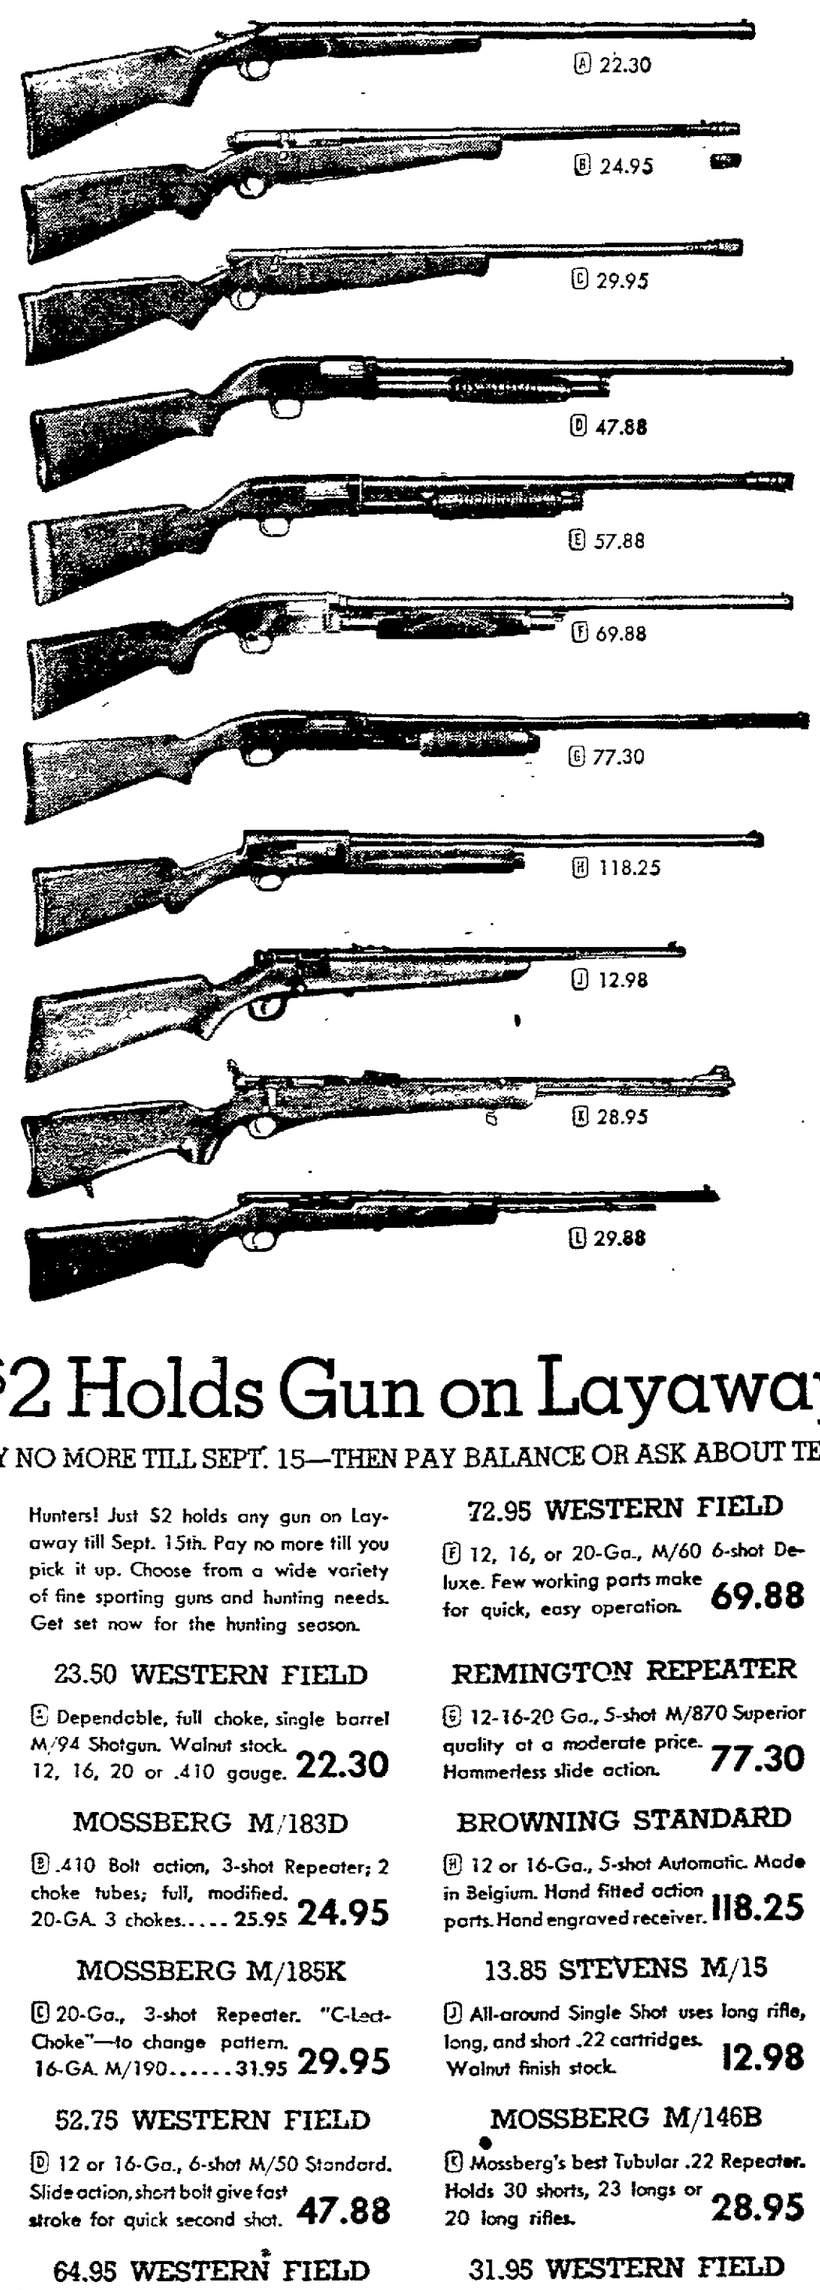

CHICAGO (AP) — Catcher Frank House of the Detroit Tigers suffered a gash over the left eye here when he collided with teammate Wayne Belardi on a try for a pop-up in the game with the Chicago White Sox. He was taken to Mercy Hospital where it was reported six stitches were needed to close the wound.

Belardi's left elbow rammed House's eye as both were closing in on a tall fly by Chicago's Nellie Fox in the third inning. Belardi caught the ball as House fell to the ground. The Tiger catcher had to leave the game after treatment and was replaced by Bob Wilson.

The Tigers also lost second baseman Fred Hatfield in the fifth inning when he injured a finger in an attempted theft of second base. Hatfield walked and was out trying to steal. In his slide, he jammed his left little finger and left the game in favor of Frank Bolling.

Cleveland Fattens Lead

Big Mike Garcia Humbles Orioles, 2-0

BALTIMORE (AP)—Cleveland pitcher Mike Garcia tamed the Baltimore Orioles on four singles here as the Indians extended their American League lead to three games with a 2-0 shutout.

Baltimore's first sacker Dick Kryhoski failed to get on base in four at bats, breaking his consecutive game hitting streak at 19.

Garcia allowed only two Orioles to get as far as second base as he recorded his fourth shutout of the season and his 10th victory against five defeats. The swarthy Mexican struck out three and failed to walk an Oriole.

Larry Doby treated the crowd of 17,262 spectators to the longest home run hit in the new Memorial Stadium in the third to put the Indians out front, 1-0. His blast off Duane Pillette landed in the right-centerfield seats 400-feet from home plate. It was Doby's eleventh of the campaign.

Pillette was not around at the finish. He was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, and former Indian Bob Chakales set the Tribe down in order in the ninth.

The triumph put the Indians three games in front in first place since both the White Sox and Yankees lost.

Cards Score 11-3 Win Over Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rookie Joe Cunningham, playing his first major league game after being brought up from Rochester of the International League, drove in five runs with a home run and a single as the St.Louis Cardinals drubbed the Cincinnati Redlegs, 11-3.

Another Cardinal rookie—pitcher Brooks Lawrence—throttled the Reds in all but two innings as he posted his second straight major league victory.

Rip Repulski hit two home runs for the Cards but Cunningham's blows already had built a fat Cardinal lead by this time.

The defeat prevented the Reds from moving into a tie with Milwaukee for fourth place in the National League.

Cunningham's first major league hit was a home run. It came in the fifth when the Cards were nursing a slim 2-1 lead. Red Schoendienst and Ray Jablonski were on base after Jablonski had scored Wally Moon with a single.

Then in the seventh the Cards clubbed relief pitcher Harry Perkowski for five runs and it was Cunningham and then Rip Repulski who delivered the telling blows.

Russians Sweep Gymnastics Meet

ROME (AP) — Soviet Russia completed a sweep of the world's gymnastic championships here by winning the men's team title, five individual crowns and sharing in a sixth. Japan finished second in the team race.

The Russians won the women's team title earlier to give the Soviet both championships, a feat they also accomplished in the 1952 Olympic games.

A Japanese entry tied a Russian for one of the individual titles. The only other championship was won by a Czech.

After the completion of the two days of compulsory and free style exercises, Russia had an unofficial score of 689.50 points. Japan was next with 673.30 followed by Switzerland, 671.50; Germany, 670.25, and Czechoslovakia, 661.90.

Takemoto Masao made the best showing among the Japanese competitors tying Valentine Mouratov of Russia for first place in the free style exercises. Each had 19.25 points.

Dr. Dworak Scores Low Gross In Stag

Dr. Tom Dworak, Hillcrest's capable golfer, was the best man on that Country Club course Wednesday as members competed in stag play.

Dworak broke par with a 70 to take low gross honors.

Art Boyer and Jerry Caplan tied with 69's for the low net award.

The 285 of John Herrod, Paul White, Fred Patz and Howard Linch won the low net foursome event in which three groups tied for second.

In the tie were Howard Burnett, Carl Hudson, Dr. Fred Davies and E. R. Jorgenson; Ray Ptak and Don Shaver of Omaha, Ed Smith and Dr. Tom Dworak; Bob Mallory, Lyle Welch, George Towne and Fred Bowers.

Dr. J. A. Green shot the most consistent nine while Bert Ehrmann, Dean Swanson and Otto Hanson tied for second.

Harry Hirsch and Hal Thorson tied for the most inconsistent nine.

Ex-Lincoln Hurler Going Great

Portocarrero Brightest Star For A's

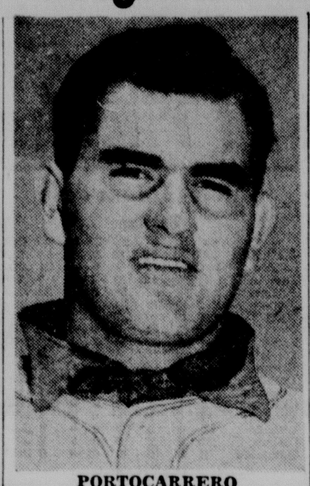

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Young Arnold Portocarrero appears to be another in the "Pitcher a Year" club founded by the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's only hope the big righthander doesn't meet the fate of recent members of the "club."

Almost every season for the past six or seven years the Athletics have come up with a solid pitching rookie. If it hadn't been for an epidemic of sore arms, the A's today might have one of the finest hurling corps in the majors.

Just take a look at the fine crop of pitching talent the team has had and lost in recent years because of bad arms—Bill McCahan, Joe Coleman, Dick Fowler, Phil Marchildon, Bobby Schantz, and lately lefty Alex Kellner has been plagued with arm miseries. That list would make up a pretty fair country pitching staff.

Portocarrero, a 23-year-old native of Bethpage, N.Y., with only two seasons of professional ball under his belt, is almost a sure bet to have his name entered in the "club" book. He's won 6 and lost 6 this year and currently has a four-game winning streak going. A number of baseball managers, including Cleveland's Al Lopez, Washington's Bucky Harris and New York's Casey Stengel have made complimentary remarks and cast admiring glances at the husky 200-pounder.

PORTOCARRERO

The 6 feet 3 Portocarrero played with West Palm Beach in the Florida International League in 1950 after the A's signed him for a sizable bonus. The kid had won 29 straight games for George Washington High School without a defeat. He won 10 and lost 11 with West Palm Beach and moved to the Class A Western League with Lincoln in 1951. He won 12 and dropped 14 before Uncle Sam called him into service.

Portocarrero returned to baseball this spring and has gradually worked himself up to the rank of number-one pitcher on the A's staff. Of his six defeats, at least four were one or two-run margins in which his mates failed to score or made but one run. He's clicked with the use of a "live" fast ball, good curve and an excellent change of pace. He has good control and plenty of confidence, a combination tough to beat.

There have been quite a few rumors surrounding the Athletics this year—sale of the club, sale of star players, firing of the manager—but one thing you can be sure is no rumor, Portocarrero has joined the "Pitcher a Year" club. All he has to do is keep his good right arm out of trouble.

Jim Tobin, former major pitcher, is now an automobile salesman in Alameda, Calif.

Tigers' Backstop House Is Injured

CHICAGO (AP) — Catcher Frank House of the Detroit Tigers suffered a gash over the left eye here when he collided with teammate Wayne Belardi on a try for a pop-up in the game with the Chicago White Sox. He was taken to Mercy Hospital where it was reported six stitches were needed to close the wound.

Belardi's left elbow rammed House's eye as both were closing in on a tall fly by Chicago's Nellie Fox in the third inning. Belardi caught the ball as House fell to the ground. The Tiger catcher had to leave the game after treatment and was replaced by Bob Wilson.

The Tigers also lost second baseman Fred Hatfield in the fifth inning when he injured a finger in an attempted theft of second base. Hatfield walked and was out trying to steal. In his slide, he jammed his left little finger and left the game in favor of Frank Bolling.

Motor City Open Golf Set Today

DETROIT (AP) — The Motor City Open — boasting a dramatic history of playoffs — begins a four-day run Thursday with Tommy Bolt, the reformed club-thrower from Houston, Tex., and Dr. Cary Middlecoff sharing the favorite's role.

Bolt is fresh from a playoff victory in the Insurance City Open at Wethersfield, Conn., while Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist, usually plays his best golf in this tournament, now in its fifth year.

The 72-hole event will be held Thursday through Sunday at the Meadowbrook Country Club, a 35-36—71 layout measuring 6,701 yards. The winner will receive $3,060 of the $17,500 in prize monies.

Three of the previous four Motor City Opens resulted in playoffs. Ben Hogan, who is not competing this year, won the first event in 1948, when he defeated E. J. (Dutch) Harrison by one stroke in an 18-hole playoff. Harrison, in semi-retirement, is a last-minute entry this year.

The Motor City reached a peak for thrills in 1949, when Middlecoff and Lloyd Mangrum finished in a 273 tie, then battled through 11 holes of "sudden death" play before darkness fell, forcing a tie.

Mangrum, who also is passing up this year's event, became the first—and only—player to win in regulation rounds in 1950. He shaded Sam Snead by one stroke.

Middlecoff won the title in 1952, defeating Ted Kroll on the first extra hole after they had finished with 274's.

In addition to Hogan, Snead and Mangrum, Julius Boros, Jimmy Demaret and Ed Furgol are not competing. But listed in the field, which will be cut to the 60 low pros and 10 low amateurs after the first two days, are:

Jack Burke, Gene Littler, Wally Burkemo, Dave Douglas, Dick Metz, Ted Kroll, Lawson Little, Porky Oliver, Jim Turnesa and Marty Furgol.

There is exceptional interest in Littler and Burkemo. The 23-year-old Littler, called golf's most promising newcomer, is the National Amateur champion who finished one stroke behind Ed Furgol in the National Open.

Burkemo, a hometown favorite from nearby Franklin Hills, Mich. won the PGA title last year—but hasn't come close to winning a tournament since then.

Of the pros who are competing, Middlecoff has extracted the most money from the Motor City Open —$6,020, or $376 for each day of competition.

Dr. Jack Wiedman Wins First Flight

Dr Jack Wiedman scored two victories Wednesday to cop the championship in the first flight of the Lincoln Country Club's club tourney.

In a semifinal match Dr. Wiedman won over John Dudgeon, 1-up, and then came back to defeat H. E. Van Burg, 3 and 2, in the flight finals.

Lincoln golfers were reminded Wednesday that the deadline is Saturday for entry in the Trans-Miss tourney slated for the Cherry Hills Country Club course at Denver.

Entry blanks for either the Trans-Miss or the USGA Junior are available at either the Lincoln Country Club or Hillcrest Country Club.

Fain Hurt, Out

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox will miss the services of regular first baseman Ferris Fain for four or five days because of a badly bruised right knee. That means Phil Cavarretta will be at first for the Pale Hose in their weekend stand against the first-place Indians at Cleveland this weekend. Fain was injured in a collision with catcher Sam White of the Boston Red Sox in the second game of Sunday's twin bill here. Fain will not make the trip to Cleveland.

A Streaking New York Giant

Drobny 'British'

LONDON (AP) — Jaroslav Drobny, who defeated Budge Patty in the Wimbledon semi-finals, has applied for British citizenship. The one-time Czech Davis Cup player left his native land five years ago because of the Communist regime and became an Egyptian national. Last year, he married an English girl.

Motor City Open Golf Set Today

DETROIT (AP) — The Motor City Open — boasting a dramatic history of playoffs — begins a four-day run Thursday with Tommy Bolt, the reformed club-thrower from Houston, Tex., and Dr. Cary Middlecoff sharing the favorite's role.

Bolt is fresh from a playoff victory in the Insurance City Open at Wethersfield, Conn., while Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist, usually plays his best golf in this tournament, now in its fifth year.

The 72-hole event will be held Thursday through Sunday at the Meadowbrook Country Club, a 35-36—71 layout measuring 6,701 yards. The winner will receive $3,000 of the $17,500 in prize monies.

Three of the previous four Motor City Opens resulted in playoffs. Ben Hogan, who is not competing this year, won the first event in 1948, when he defeated E. J. (Dutch) Harrison by one stroke in an 18-hole playoff. Harrison, in semi-retirement, is a last-minute entry this year.

The Motor City reached a peak for thrills in 1949, when Middlecoff and Lloyd Mangrum finished in a 273 tie, then battled through 11 holes of "sudden death" play before darkness fell, forcing a tie.

Mangrum, who also is passing up this year's event, became the first—and only—player to win in regulation rounds in 1950. He shaded Sam Snead by one stroke.

Middlecoff won the title in 1952, defeating Ted Kroll on the first extra hole after they had finished with 274's.

In addition to Hogan, Snead and Mangrum, Julius Boros, Jimmy Demaret and Ed Furgol are not competing. But listed in the field, which will be cut to the 60 low pros and 10 low amateurs after the first two days, are:

Jack Burke, Gene Littler, Wally Burkemo, Dave Douglas, Dick Metz, Ted Kroll, Lawson Little, Porky Oliver, Jim Turnesa and Marty Furgol.

There is exceptional interest in Littler and Burkemo. The 23-year-old Littler, called golf's most promising newcomer, is the National Amateur champion who finished one stroke behind Ed Furgol in the National Open.

Burkemo, a hometown favorite from nearby Franklin Hills, Mich. won the PGA title last year—but hasn't come close to winning a tournament since then.

Of the pros who are competing, Middlecoff has extracted the most money from the Motor City Open —$6,020, or $376 for each day of competition.

Dr. Jack Wiedman Wins First Flight

Dr Jack Wiedman scored two victories Wednesday to cop the championship in the first flight of the Lincoln Country Club's club tourney.

In a semifinal match Dr. Wiedman won over John Dudgeon, 1-up, and then came back to defeat H. E. Van Burg, 3 and 2, in the flight finals.

Lincoln golfers were reminded Wednesday that the deadline is Saturday for entry in the Trans-Miss tourney slated for the Cherry Hills Country Club course at Denver.

Entry blanks for either the Trans-Miss or the USGA Junior are available at either the Lincoln Country Club or Hillcrest Country Club.

Fain Hurt, Out

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox will miss the services of regular first baseman Ferris Fain for four or five days because of a badly bruised right knee. That means Phil Cavarretta will be at first for the Pale Hose in their weekend stand against the first-place Indians at Cleveland this weekend. Fain was injured in a collision with catcher Sam White of the Boston Red Sox in the second game of Sunday's twin bill here. Fain will not make the trip to Cleveland.

A Streaking New York Giant

Drobny 'British'

LONDON (AP) — Jaroslav Drobny, who defeated Budge Patty in the Wimbledon semi-finals, has applied for British citizenship. The one-time Czech Davis Cup player left his native land five years ago because of the Communist regime and became an Egyptian national. Last year, he married an English girl.

Churchill Says Outlook For Peace Has Improved

. . . U.S.-British Split Minimized

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill minimized British-American differences Wednesday and said the outlook for world peace has improved as a result of the recent conferences in Washington with President Eisenhower.

He set forth generally optimistic views on world problems in a news conference here.

Churchill flew to Canada from Washington Tuesday. He met with the Canadian Cabinet Wednesday after private talks earlier with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The British Prime Minister was a picture of optimism and bubbling good humor as he answered reporters' questions. The first asked was whether the Washington talks had enhanced the prospects of peace.

Rambling Answer

Churchill rapped out an emphatic "Yes!"

This came after he had made a long and often rambling answer to a question during which he mentioned the differences over policies, especially in Asia, between Britain and the United States. He indicated he thought the disagreements may have been overemphasized during the Washington talks.

"A difference, of course, is news," he said. "But I see no reason why you shouldn't argue things out."

The overriding importance of the talks, Churchill said, was that they demonstrated "the foundation" of British-American solidarity. He asserted that "nothing will deter an aggressor more than if he knows he will have to face the combined strength of the Commonwealth and the United States."

He spoke affectionately of President Eisenhower—"A grand man"—called the conferences "most fruitful," and added, "Thank God he is where he is."

'Appeasement'

Then he roved over a wide horizon of world problems.

To the charge that Britain has adopted a policy of "appeasement" with Russia as she did with Hitler at Munich—"I would say that we have a two-fold policy, of peace through strength or, as the New York Times recently put it, 'armed to parley.'

"I am trying to have it both ways. In fact, you won't get it any otherway. I have been trying to explain to our American friends that I believe these two policies can be combined.

"But as for the claims that this means we are shirking our duties, I treat that with the contempt it deserves."

Churchill planned to fly back to New York Wednesday night to go directly to the British liner Queen Elizabeth for return to Britain.

'54 Building Costs $400,000 Greater Than Jan.-June '51

Total construction costs for the first six months of 1954 are nearly $400,000 ahead of the same date in the record high building year of 1951, despite the fact that June construction fell nearly $1 million behind total costs for that same month in 1951.

The year 1954 has been pushed ahead with the first five months going over corresponding months in 1951. Total costs for this year to date stand at $6,973,303 with $1,524,880 recorded during June.

Total costs at the same time in 1951 were $6,568,270 with June of that year hitting a record high of $2,423,800.

A record number of 175 new residence permits for this year were issued during June calling for a total of 207 living units at a cost of $1,147,250. This brings the number of new home permits for this year to date to 660 for a total cost of $4,488,355.

June was the high month for 1954 to date in both total costs and new homes. There were 115 new home permits issued during May with a total estimated construction cost of $803,590.

The building record for the year to date:

Month	Total Costs	New Homes	New Home Costs
January	$ 651,585	30	$ 218,235
February	617,884	57	382,100
March	1,196,425	146	917,260
April	1,628,890	147	1,019,920
May	1,016,670	115	803,590

Kuchera Files For Clerk

Frank Kuchera, 645 Marshall, employee of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., has completed his filing for nomination as county clerk on the Democratic ticket.

Kuchera

"I am an organized labor man," Kuchera stated, "and as such will try to represent labor. I believe also that there are changes that can be made for the better in the county clerk's office."

A Lincoln resident for the past 15 years, Kuchera is married and has two children. This is Kuchera's first attempt at election to public office but he has served in past years as a Democratic precinct committeeman and been a delegate to county conventions.

Youths Plan Trip South —On Foot

A little walk of 1,000 miles will start Thursday for two University of Tennessee students, who have been spending their vacation working on construction at the Lincoln Air Base. They will carry a letter from Gov. Robert Crosby to the Governor of Tennessee.

Bill Seaton, Atlanta, Ga., and Tim Higdon, Knoxville, Tenn., rode as far as Nebraska with friends for a summer vacation in the west. They expressed enthusiasm over the midwest but longed for their native pine-clad mountains.

Both have followed most of the foot trails in the Great Smoky National Park and expressed confidence they can easily walk home. They admitted a wager with a friend was the inspiration.

Churchill Says Outlook For Peace Has Improved

. . . U.S.-British Split Minimized

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill minimized British-American differences Wednesday and said the outlook for world peace has improved as a result of the recent conferences in Washington with President Eisenhower.

He set forth generally optimistic views on world problems in a news conference here.

Churchill flew to Canada from Washington Tuesday. He met with the Canadian Cabinet Wednesday after private talks earlier with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The British Prime Minister was a picture of optimism and bubbling good humor as he answered reporters' questions. The first asked was whether the Washington talks had enhanced the prospects of peace.

Rambling Answer

Churchill rapped out an emphatic "Yes!"

This came after he had made a long and often rambling answer to a question during which he mentioned the differences over policies, especially in Asia, between Britain and the United States. He indicated he thought the disagreements may have been overemphasized during the Washington talks.

"A difference, of course, is news," he said. "But I see no reason why you shouldn't argue things out."

The overriding importance of the talks, Churchill said, was that they demonstrated "the foundation" of British-American solidarity. He asserted that "nothing will deter an aggressor more than if he knows he will have to face the combined strength of the Commonwealtn and the United States."

He spoke affectionately of President Eisenhower—"A grand man"—called the conferences "most fruitful," and added, "Thank God he is where he is."

'Appeasement'

Then he roved over a wide horizon of world problems.

To the charge that Britain has adopted a policy of "appeasement" with Russia as she did with Hitler at Munich—"I would say that we have a two-fold policy, of peace through strength or, as the New York Times recently put it, 'armed to parley.'

"I am trying to have it both ways. In fact, you won't get it any otherway. I have been trying to explain to our American friends that I believe these two policies can be combined.

"But as for the claims that this means we are shirking our duties, I treat that with the contempt it deserves."

Churchill planned to fly back to New York Wednesday night to go directly to the British liner Queen Elizabeth for return to Britain.

Worker Breaks Both Heels Making Jump

Robert McGraw, 40, of 3608 St. Marys is reported in fairly good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital after the iron worker foreman broke both heels in a fall.

Working on a school construction job at Southeast High School, McGraw suffered the broken heels when he landed on his feet after a jump.

35th & Vine Stop Signs Are Switched

Traffic "stop signs" at 35th and Vine have been reversed to favor Vine as a through street and halt traffic on 35th.

Police Capt. C. C. Hurd explained the change was made Wednesday at the intersection in view of the recent designation of Vine as an arterial.

'54 Building Costs $400,000 Greater Than Jan.-June '51

Total construction costs for the first six months of 1954 are nearly $400,000 ahead of the same date in the record high building year of 1951, despite the fact that June construction fell nearly $1 million behind total costs for that same month in 1951.

The year 1954 has been pushed ahead with the first five months going over corresponding months in 1951. Total costs for this year to date stand at $6,973,303 with $1,524,880 recorded during June.

Total costs at the same time in 1951 were $6,568,270 with June of that year hitting a record high of $2,423,800.

A record number of 175 new residence permits for this year were issued during June calling for a total of 207 living units at a cost of $1,147,250. This brings the number of new home permits for this year to date to 660 for a total cost of $4,488,355.

June was the high month for 1954 to date in both total costs and new homes. There were 115 new home permits issued during May with a total estimated construction cost of $803,590.

The building record for the year to date:

Month	Total Costs	New Homes	New Home Costs
January	$ 651,585	30	$ 218,235
February	617,883	57	382,100
March	1,196,425	136	917,260
April	1,628,890	147	1,019,920
May	1,016,670	115	803,590
June	1,524,880	175	1,147 250
Totals	$6,937,303	660	$4,488,355

Kuchera Files For Clerk

Frank Kuchera, 645 Marshall, employee of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., has completed his filing for nomination as county clerk on the Democratic ticket.

Kuchera

"I am an organized labor man," Kuchera stated, "and as such will try to represent labor. I believe also that there are changes that can be made for the better in the county clerk's office."

A Lincoln resident for the past 15 years, Kuchera is married and has two children. This is Kuchera's first attempt at election to public office but he has served in past years as a Democratic precinct committeeman and been a delegate to county conventions.

Youths Plan Trip South —On Foot

A little walk of 1,000 miles will start Thursday for two University of Tennessee students, who have been spending their vacation working on construction at the Lincoln Air Base. They will carry a letter from Gov. Robert Crosby to the Governor of Tennessee.

Bill Seaton, Atlanta, Ga., and Tim Higdon, Knoxville, Tenn., rode as far as Nebraska with friends for a summer vacation in the west. They expressed enthusiasm over the midwest but longed for their native pine-clad mountains.

Both have followed most of the foot trails in the Great Smoky National Park and expressed confidence they can easily walk home. They admitted a wager with a friend was the inspiration.

Names are headlines if they're Roosevelts.

Roosevelts figure two headlines are better than one.

James the young pretender cross-filed himself into the November play-offs in California. Back in New York Franklin the Twice has registered the Hyde Park silks in the Gubernatorial Futurity.

☆ ☆ ☆

California cross-filing is a political caper started around 1914. You stencil your name on both the Democratic and Republican slates. No matter which way the cat jumps you get a kitten.

☆ ☆ ☆

Cross-filing is not new in politics or agriculture. The wizard of Burbank did the same thing with a plum and a rutabaga.

☆ ☆ ☆

By maintaining an average humidity of 60 per cent California prevents James from bursting into spontaneous combustion. But the kid is hotter than popping corn.

☆ ☆ ☆

California runs off its primaries in early June so nobody can blame it on the tourists.

James the young pretender cross-filed himself into the November play-offs in California. Back in New York Franklin the Twice has registered the Hyde Park silks in the Gubernatorial Futurity.

☆ ☆ ☆

California cross-filing is a political caper started around 1914. You stencil your name on both the Democratic and Republican slates. No matter which way the cat jumps you get a kitten.

☆ ☆ ☆

Cross-filing is not new in politics or agriculture. The wizard of Burbank did the same thing with a plum and a rutabaga.

☆ ☆ ☆

By maintaining an average humidity of 60 per cent California prevents James from bursting into spontaneous combustion. But the kid is hotter than popping corn.

☆ ☆ ☆

California runs off its primaries in early June so nobody can blame it on the tourists.

Trading In Wheat Active, Price Up

CHICAGO (AP) — An advance in cash wheat prices and a better inquiry for flour from bakers sent wheat futures higher on the Board of Trade Wednesday. Gains were not as large as in the previous session but dealings were active.

Wheat was alone in its strength. Corn and oats held close to previous closing levels, corn being a little firmer and oats a little easier. Soybeans fell several cents in early dealings and spent the rest of the session reducing the loss.

Wheat closed 1¼-1½ higher corn ¾ lower to ⅝ higher, oats unchanged to ¼ lower, rye 1 2/4 2¾ lower, soybeans ⅝ to 1 cents lower and lard 12 cents lower to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Stock Mart Hit By Profit Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit-taking hit some of the recent stock market favorites Wednesday, sending them down one to two points or more.

It was an orderly retreat, however, and the high speed ticker had no trouble keeping up with transactions. As a result, volume declined to 1,950,000 shares from the 2,580,000 traded in Tuesday's turbulent session, when stocks survived a selling wave and moved up to a new high since 1929.

And despite the rather sharp setbacks suffered by some of the market leaders, gains of a point or so were posted by selected issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $1.10 to close at $127.20. The industrial component was down $1.90 and the rails 50 cents.

Brokers expressed no surprise at the decline. They have been predicting one for some time. Notably, the biggest losses were in issues which have had big rises lately.

Cuts again sold off because of mounting inventories and some price trimming. Steels dipped fractionally despite the agreement on a new labor contract.

Mostly lower prices ruled on the American Stock Exchange. Volume declined to 170,000 shares from 330,000 Tuesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S government obligations inched upward Wednesday while the corporate bond market tended a drift lower.

"Big Board" volume slumped to $4,090,000 par value from $5,020,000 Tuesday. A narrow majority of railroads, industrials and utilities tilted downward. But price changes were generally small.

Stock Mart Hit By Profit Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit-taking hit some of the recent stock market favorites Wednesday, sending them down one to two points or more.

It was an orderly retreat, however, and the high speed ticker had no trouble keeping up with transactions. As a result, volume declined to 1,950,000 shares from the 2,580,000 traded in Tuesday's turbulent session, when stocks survived a selling wave and moved up to a new high since 1929.

And despite the rather sharp setbacks suffered by some of the market leaders, gains of a point or so were posted by selected issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $1.10 to close at $127.20. The industrial component was down $1.90 and the rails 80 cents.

Brokers expressed no surprise at the decline. They have been predicting one for some time. Notably, the biggest losses were in issues which have had big rises lately.

Oils again sold off because of mounting inventories and some price trimming. Steels dipped fractionally despite the agreement on a new labor contract.

Mostly lower prices ruled on the American Stock Exchange. Volume declined to 470,000 shares from 530.000 Tuesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. government obligations inched upward Wednesday while the corporate bond market tended a drift lower.

"Big Board" volume slumped to $4,090,000 par value from $5,020,000 Tuesday. A narrow majority of railroads, industrials and utilities tilted downward. But price changes were generally small.

Help In Administration A Pressing City Need

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Clark Jeary pulled off the lid on what could be a major change in the administration of city government when he asked his City Council colleagues to consider the "need for additional administrative help."

"With a look at all the things ahead for the 1954-55 fiscal year," Jeary said, "it is apparent that we need help. Right now, the people of Lincoln are really getting a bargain but I don't believe they really want that much of a bargain."

Jeary explained this by noting that the city administration is headed up by three directors and the City Council, costing a total in salaries of $31,470. He pointed then to an outline of some $16,-515,000 in projects and general operation to be administered by this group during the next year.

Too Much for Money

"No other city in the country," he asserted, "is getting as much for its money. It is doubtful how long the situation can continue here."

Jeary stated he has not yet made up his own mind on what definite action should be taken. But whether it is called a coordinator, assistant to the mayor, board chairman or what have you, he said, additional help is needed.

Jeary asked to meet individually with each Council member between now and Tuesday to discuss the matter and scheduled a full Council meeting on the subject to preceed the regular Council meeting July 8. The possibility of change in departmental responsibilities left unsettled the vacancy that has existed for weeks in the post of purchasing agent.

In showing some of the major work ahead for the city during the next fiscal year, Jeary pointed to the current $6.5 million water expansion program to be completed, a $3.5 million storm sewer and flood relief program, the $2.5 million auditorium, a general operating budget of about $3 million, the West O St. viaduct, housing, special improvements, Air Base problems, a $3.5 million water and light department operation and possibly a sanitary sewer program approaching $1 million.

The Council had met to review the past nine months in the 1953-54 fiscal year and to get a general review of some problems coming up in the new year.

Jeary reported that in general, all departments are operating in the black and that the general operation will definitely show a balance on hand at the end of the year.

Council members expressed a desire to take a more active part in the affairs of the Lincoln City Libraries, Lincoln General Hospital and other city responsibilities in which the Council currently takes little part. Jeary expressed confidence the groups concerned would have no objections to the plan.

Brunsdale Wins

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—Republican holdover congressmen and Gov. Norman Brunsdale won the equivalent of election in North Dakota's primary. Rep. Usher L. Burdick was renominated handily but Rep. Otto Kreuger, seeking his second term, was pressed hard by state Sen. Orris Nordhougen on the GOP slate.

Brunsdale, farmer-banker after a third term, defeated Wallace Warner, an avowed Democrat, for the Republican nomination.

Help In Administration A Pressing City Need

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Clark Jeary pulled off the lid on what could be a major change in the administration of city government when he asked his City Council colleagues to consider the "need for additional administrative help."

"With a look at all the things ahead for the 1954-55 fiscal year," Jeary said, "it is apparent that we need help. Right now, the people of Lincoln are really getting a bargain but I don't believe they really want that much of a bargain."

Jeary explained this by noting that the city administration is headed up by three directors and the City Council, costing a total in salaries of $31,470. He pointed then to an outline of some $16,515,000 in projects and general operation to be administered by this group during the next year.

Too Much for Money

"No other city in the country," he asserted, "is getting as much for its money. It is doubtful how long the situation can continue here."

Jeary stated he has not yet made up his own mind on what definite action should be taken. But whether it is called a coordinator, assistant to the mayor, board chairman or what have you, he said, additional help is needed.

Jeary asked to meet individually with each Council member between now and Tuesday to discuss the matter and scheduled a full Council meeting on the subject to preceed the regular Council meeting July 8. The possibility of change in departmental responsibilities left unsettled the vacancy that has existed for weeks in the post of purchasing agent.

In showing some of the major work ahead for the city during the next fiscal year, Jeary pointed to the current $6.5 million water expansion program to be completed, a $3.5 million storm sewer and flood relief program, the $2.5 million auditorium, a general operating budget of about $3 million, the West O St. viaduct, housing, special improvements, Air Base problems, a $3.5 million water and light department operation and possibly a sanitary sewer program approaching $1 million.

The Council had met to review the past nine months in the 1953-54 fiscal year and to get a general review of some problems coming up in the new year.

Jeary reported that in general, all departments are operating in the black and that the general operation will definitely show a balance on hand at the end of the year.

Council members expressed a desire to take a more active part in the affairs of the Lincoln City Libraries, Lincoln General Hospital and other city responsibilities in which the Council currently takes little part. Jeary expressed confidence the groups concerned would have no objections to the plan.

Brunsdale Wins

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—Republican holdover congressmen and Gov. Norman Brunsdale won the equivalent of election in North Dakota's primary. Rep. Usher L. Burdick was renominated handily but Rep. Otto Kreuger, seeking his second term, was pressed hard by state Sen. Orris Nordhougen on the GOP slate.

Brunsdale, farmer-banker after a third term, defeated Wallace Warner, an avowed Democrat, for the Republican nomination.

Construction Of 113 Grain Bins At Hastings OKd

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — The Department of Agriculture Wednesday authorized the Morrison-Quirk Grain Corp. to construct 113 new grain bins here.

The bins, to hold 2,300,009 bushels, will increase Hastings' storage facilities to 4,400,000 bushels. The present bins, 94 in number, are nearing completion and should be opened for storage by July 15, Morrison-Quirk officials said.

The bins authorized Wednesday will be completed by Oct. 1, according to present plans.

30 Million Hike

The 2,300,000 - bushel addition will bring to nearly 30 million bushels the increase in Nebraska's grain storage facilities during the last year.

Most of the pressure for storage in the Hastings area should be relieved by the new elevator, officials said, since many farmers have constructed their own bins.

R. M. Scoular, president of the Omaha Grain Exchange, said in Omaha Wednesday that wheat storage will create no crisis in Nebraska this year. He said that increased construction of elevators, such as the Hastings bins, and of storage facilities on individual farms makes the 1954 outlook better than in previous years.

Omaha Filled

Reduced predictions for the new crop plus the increase in storage capacity have more than made up for the number of bins already filled with the 1953 harvest.

Scoular said that Omaha elevators will be able to receive very little of the new harvest. Only 10 million bushels of the 28,885,000 Omaha-Council Bluffs storage capacity is not filled right now, he said. And most of that unfilled portion is needed for turning space and merchandising, he added.

James Lemley of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Lincoln said Tuesday that Nebraska will soon have 77,000,000 bushels of storage, outside of Omaha.

Storage Space Greater

Although new construction during the last year totals less than 30,000,000 bushels, Lemley said that storage space is actually 100 per cent greater now than a year ago. Some of the 51,000,000 figure last year was not open to public let, he said.

The state ASC office estimated in March that Nebraska would be short about 22 million bushels of grain storage space before the 1954 harvest even began.

But Scoular said that all 1953 grain was eventually put under storage.

The June 1 estimate for the new wheat harvest was slightly more than 70 million bushels. Last year's crop amounted to 80 million bushels.
